Integrated Annual Report 2025-26

Downloaded from SustainabilityReports.com | 2026-11-04 11:14:10 UTC

From possibilities to enterprise AI impact

There's a particular moment, in every technology shift, when the conversation changes. The question stops being whether the technology is real, or whether it matters, or whether the enterprise should pay attention. Those questions get answered. What replaces them is harder, and more honest. Where is the value? Who is realizing it? And what does it take to claim it at scale? That moment, for AI, is now.

Across boardrooms and operating reviews, the conversation has turned from possibilities to outcomes. Enterprises that began with curiosity and pilots are asking sharper questions. How does AI move the needle on revenue, on cost, on customer experience, on the speed at which the business can respond to change? How does it stop being an experiment run by an enthusiastic team and become the operating substrate of the enterprise: the way decisions get made, the way work gets done, the way trust gets built with customers and regulators alike?

Getting there asks more from an enterprise than merely tools. Data, both structured and unstructured, has to be prepared for an AI world and turned into a trusted strategic asset that fuels predictive intelligence and real-time decisions. Core processes, designed for a pre-AI era, have to be reimagined around domain-aware agents working alongside people, redesigning workflows for step-change improvements in efficiency and experience. Legacy estates, long treated as immovable, can now be reverse-engineered by AI agents that understand their intent and modernized progressively; it is an unprecedented opportunity to address technical debt. Intelligence is moving past screens into physical devices, sensors, robotics, and autonomous systems, where digital twins and edge intelligence let products capture signals and act in real time. And running through all of it is the question of trust: building AI systems that are responsible, secure, ethical, and aligned with the regulations taking shape across jurisdictions.

These are not separate conversations. They are facets of a single shift, and they need to be orchestrated together. That is the thinking behind the Infosys AI First Value Framework, a set of tightly coupled value pools, powered by Infosys Topaz™, our generative and agentic AI suite, and Infosys Topaz Fabric™, our purpose-built agentic services suite. Together, they give enterprises a coherent way to harness AI at scale rather than chase it in fragments.

We have spent four decades helping clients navigate technology shifts, and we are on this road again with them. Infosys is collaborating with 90 percent of its top 200 clients on their AI journeys, with more than 4,600 AI projects underway, and has developed over 30 new service offerings across the six value pools. Some of these client stories appear later in this Integrated Annual Report and make for compelling reading. Each one reflects a deeper conviction: in the AI era, the role of a services partner is not only to deploy technology, but also to help enterprises unlock value from it: measurably, responsibly, and at scale.

We are ready to navigate your next.

"AI at Liberty Global is no longer an experiment—it's becoming foundational to how we run our business and serve our customers across Europe. With Infosys, we're delivering real, measurable outcomes, from improved customer experience through Super Search to significantly fewer outages. The trust at the heart of this partnership enables us to innovate and deliver at scale."

Mike Fries, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, Liberty Global

Liberty Global

Supporting 1000+ Platform Deliveries

Liberty Global, one of Europe's leading connectivity and entertainment providers, partnered with Infosys as AI shifted from being an experiment to becoming foundational to how the company runs its business and serves customers across Europe.

Together, Liberty Global and Infosys operate and continuously evolve the connectivity and entertainment platforms that support tens of millions of customers across Liberty Global's footprint. The partnership has helped Liberty Global increase its pace of innovation by strengthening engineering capacity and enabling ideas to move into production quickly and reliably.

Over the past year alone, Infosys supported more than 1,000 platform deliveries, helping Liberty Global introduce new capabilities at scale while maintaining stability across its platforms.

This included deploying AI enabled solutions such as:

• Super Search, which serves around 8 million TV customers and uses advanced large language models to make content discovery conversational and intuitive across linear TV, on demand, and streaming services.

• Agent Assist and Customer Assist programs, deployed across multiple markets, transforming customer care by enabling more self service journeys, improving customer satisfaction, and reducing pressure on care teams.

These initiatives delivered real, measurable outcomes, including 50% fewer outages year on year and 60% fewer customers impacted, reflecting meaningful improvements in both customer experience and operational performance.
The partnership between Liberty Global and Infosys spans more than two decades, including over a decade as a formal strategic partnership. At its core is trust, mutual respect, and the confidence to raise issues openly and receive direct, honest answers—an essential foundation for delivering impact at scale.

With strong platforms, talent, and a proven delivery approach in place, Liberty Global continues to strengthen how it uses AI to improve customer experience and operational performance across its European footprint.

"Our modernization journey required not just cutting-edge technology, but a partner who understood COBOL and helped us transition with confidence. Infosys brought exactly that. Their vast experience in legacy modernization, AI-powered engineering, and cloud expertise allowed us to accelerate delivery, reduce technical debt, and strengthen system resiliency. This partnership and shared commitment were critical in helping us achieve modernization outcomes far more efficiently and quickly."

Dhriti Saha, EVP and Chief Information and Technology Officer, Hertz

Hertz

Hertz modernized critical workflows 60% faster with AI-first code engineering.

AI First Approach

Hertz, a global leader in car rentals, had long relied on complex COBOL systems running on the legacy platform. These systems have grown rigid, costly, and increasingly difficult to scale for modern business needs. To modernize, Hertz worked with Infosys to adopt an AI first approach, placing artificial intelligence at the core of the transformation. Infosys leveraged its mainframe to cloud expertise and a robust AI stack, including OpenAI, Claude Sonnet, and AWS Bedrock to build an AI first foundation for transformation. Infosys experts analyzed nearly three million lines of legacy COBOL code and used multimodal LLMs to craft a modernization blueprint suited for the cloud. Infosys applied AI powered reverse engineering to extract core business logic and reimagined it as domain centric Java microservices built using Infosys iLEAD and GitHub Copilot. With AI enabled testing, reusable components, and enterprise governance, Infosys scaled modernization efforts rapidly and consistently.

This AI driven, domain centric approach enabled accelerated modernization while significantly de risking transformation at scale. The resulting microservices based digital core will materially improve platform agility, scalability, and system resilience, enabling the enterprise to support high transaction volumes and respond rapidly to evolving business and customer demands on AWS Cloud.

The transformation will deliver measurable outcomes, including 60% faster modernization timelines, increased reuse of cross channel business capabilities, reduced hosting costs, and a scalable foundation for continued modernization and automation across additional business domains. This engagement demonstrates how an AI driven, domain aligned modernization strategy can establish a resilient digital core, accelerate delivery, and position enterprises for sustained innovation and long term growth.

Mondelēz

Enterprise Wide Traceability at Scale

Mondelēz International operates one of the world's largest snack supply chains, spanning thousands of suppliers, hundreds of manufacturing plants, and a global distribution network.

Managing food safety and regulatory compliance had become increasingly challenging due to fragmented legacy systems and siloed data. Blind spots emerged across suppliers, plants, and distribution centers, slowing compliance processes and increasing the risk of costly recalls under evolving regulations such as the FDA Food Safety Modernization Act (FSMA).

Infosys collaborated with Mondelēz International teams across quality, manufacturing, distribution, customer service, and IT to map critical vulnerabilities across production batch and quality management, product bill of material, conversion of raw materials to finished goods, finished goods product receival, palletizing and labeling, and shipping and downstream data management activities that impact traceability and compliance. These were further refined to arrive at Mondelēz International fit-to-standard Traceability Platform requirements.

Infosys deployed EdgeVerve AI Next Product Traceability, a cloud based, scalable platform that integrates near real time and batch data through AI Next Fabric. A graph data store provides visibility into the product origin to delivery trail, while a centralized traceability portal streamlines top-down and bottom-up workflows for tracking and tracing. A regulatory control tower further enables rapid incident response.

The platform has been implemented in the North America region, with Europe planned to begin rollout in second half of 2026. The platform delivers enterprise wide traceability at scale and connects more than 50 suppliers, captures over 0.5 million events per day, integrates more than 220 plants and distribution centers, and maps more than 150 raw to finished goods processes.

Regulatory audits that once required extensive effort can now be accelerated with prebuilt FSMA compliance reports and one-touch batch and handling unit traceability via top-down and bottom-up tracking, strengthening food safety readiness, compliance reliability, and customer trust.
With its new end to end traceability ecosystem, Mondelēz International is now positioned to execute efficient and compliant food traceability, setting a new benchmark for transparency, agility, and consumer protection.

"By partnering with Infosys, we now have a single, enterprise wide traceability platform that will enable full transparency across our supply chain. The platform is powered by EdgeVerve AI Next Traceability and accelerates our regulatory reporting and positions us to operate with greater agility and assurance in food traceability."

Sanjay Gurbuxani, Global Vice President, Digital Supply Chain and Shared Services, Mondelez

Microsoft

Microsoft cut root cause analysis turnaround by 40% through Infosys' AI-led mission-critical support

Faster resolutions with agentic AI

Microsoft's Support for Mission critical (SfMC) provides high-reliability support for enterprise customers, focusing on minimal downtime and rapid incident resolution. Any delay or inefficiency in critical support can posed high risk to customer's critical infrastructure availability/operations and trust.

To address this, Microsoft partnered with Infosys to infuse AI capabilities into SfMC's support architecture and deliver mission critical services that safeguard uptime and customer confidence. Leveraging the entire Microsoft AI technology stack, Infosys deployed AI and Agentic AI solutions – Routing and Entitlement Validation Agent that intelligently triage and route critical cases to the most technically aligned engineers and accelerate root cause analysis with automated recommendations through Azure Resiliency Co-relation Engine. The Notes Observation and Validation Agent conducts continuous quality audits, ensuring consistently high service standards across global operations.

The transformation delivered measurable results: critical incident response times improved by 33%, reducing engagement from 15 to under 10 minutes. The time required to create a root cause analysis (RCA) decreased by 40%, accelerating turnaround from five days to just one day and significantly improving overall resolution timelines. Proactive AI-driven insights further enhanced the resiliency of customers' critical workloads. Most notably, service quality reached new heights, virtually eliminating low case handling scores and ensuring over 90% of critical cases now receive top boxed ratings.

"Infosys has been great partner in implementing AI solutions bringing in the best of both Microsoft and Infosys to enhance Customer support experience for Mission Critical Support Customers. These AI solutions on Microsoft technology stack have lead to significant synergies decreasing the time required to create a root cause analysis (RCA) by 40% and ultimately supporting our customer satisfaction improvement program. The impact we're seeing today is tremendous and energizing. We are well positioned to increase AI adoption at scale across our Customer Success Org, with our continued partnership with Infosys."

Thomas Steiner, Director – Head of Mission Critical Support, Microsoft

"Infosys has helped us envision our new goal of enterprise wide IDP at scale using GenAI. We are implementing this vision with the help of Infosys Data Scientists, Machine Learning Engineers, AI Engineers and Architects.

While bringing this vision to production Infosys plays a pivotal role in bringing the right resources to the table, help steer the process and bring outside expertise in. A deep understanding of how our bank works, which stems from a long-standing partnership, really helps for enterprise-wide adoption of the solution we are building."

Michael PJ Van Den Berg, IT Lead ECM DRIM, ABN AMRO

ABN AMRO

ABN AMRO collaborates with Infosys to modernize its enterprise content operations

Unlocking €64 Million in Annual Efficiency savings

ABN AMRO is a Netherlands-based bank serving around 5 million retail customers and 365,000 business clients. With billions of documents within its enterprise content management (ECM) ecosystem, efficiency and compliance are critical to its operations.

The bank's document landscape spans scanned inputs, emails, and archived records. While partial automation worked well for simple cases, complex document retrieval depended on manual processes that could take several minutes per file. Documents needed to be downloaded from ECM archive, making compliance enforcement difficult. Rising regulatory pressure and increasing data volumes further limited the ability to scale.

ABN AMRO partnered with Infosys to modernize its enterprise content operations through a structured transformation. The engagement began with an assessment of the ECM landscape, followed by a proof of concept referring to the Infosys Document Intelligence platform. Building on this, ABN AMRO with Infosys implemented a generative AI-powered ECM AI layer using retrieval-augmented generation, integrated with Microsoft Azure AI and data services. This enabled automated classification, contextual information extraction, and faster retrieval of complex documents - without the need for downloads.

Delivered on a scalable, cloud-native platform with agile, cross-functional teams, the solution helped ABN AMRO unlock an estimated €64 million in annual efficiency savings. The transformation improved employee productivity, reduced manual effort, and strengthened compliance, while creating a foundation to expand intelligent document processing across additional workflows.

The age of orchestration

Whenever there is a major technology transition, questions are asked of Infosys. Whether we will master the transition, continue to be relevant, establish a defensible position, and maintain growth and margins. Given that AI is a much larger and disruptive technology transition than ever before, the questions, and even doubts, are louder and more insistent. Moreover, the existential question asked of us: If coding becomes automated, then why are we needed at all? More than 3 years after the launch of Generative AI, we can unequivocally say that Infosys is more relevant than ever, and we have a bright future in front of us. The shift from predictable machines to probabilistic ones is as consequential as the speed of adoption, and it is reshaping what the work now requires.

While we will embrace the best coding tools and improve our productivity, there is much more to do in the software development life cycle. Solutions need to be tested and validated, and architectures designed for speed, scale and resilience. Cybersecurity must be prioritized, and data protected per company rules and other governance policies. There is plenty to be done as we address the deployment gap in our large enterprise customers.

Continuous learning and talent transformation have been core to Infosys for several decades. The new era of AI requires fresh learning and new mental models. We are well prepared for this challenge. We will completely prepare our talent for this new age and redistribute those released by productivity to grow new accounts and offerings.

The AI revolution has also created an extreme sense of urgency in our customers for legacy modernization, eliminating data silos, addressing AI-identified cyber vulnerabilities, and in general reducing and eliminating the technical debt accumulated over decades. The preference will be to build versus buy for software. All this creates significant opportunities.

The biggest prize will be how we meld the world of models and agents with the traditional deterministic systems that currently dominate the enterprise. While the new capabilities bring intelligence, simplified user experience and extreme automation, the highly scalable and reliable transaction systems of yore are still highly relevant. This will also create a large set of opportunities.

The environment has not become any simpler. Supply chains have continued to redraw themselves, and AI regulation is being written in real time across many jurisdictions. This is not a detour from the work of building durable enterprises. It is the terrain on which that work is now done.

Moving from pilot to scale is where most enterprises stall, tangled in legacy architecture, organizational inertia, and jurisdictions whose rules are still being written. This is not an opportunity gap. It is a deployment gap, and closing it requires what we have come to call a root-and-branch surgery: not layering AI onto existing structures, but redesigning the business processes, customer journeys, and operating models those structures were built to serve.

Today, trillions of dollars of enterprise capability sit inside technology built for a different era, designed before online attacks were a daily reality. That technical debt is no longer a background cost. It has become a strategic liability: systems that grow more expensive to maintain each year and constrain the very agility AI demands.

What separates enterprises that unlock AI value from those that do not is rarely the technology they choose. It is the quality of the decisions made around it: organizational readiness, data integrity, governance, and pace.

What still matters is first-principles thinking: learning the underlying concept before reaching for the tool. The demand for human capability grows, not shrinks. The World Economic Forum projects that by 2030, 92 million jobs will be displaced and 170 million created, a net gain of 78 million. Capturing that gain requires empathy for the people affected, clarity about the outcomes sought, and the intellectual honesty to course correct when technology and human judgment diverge.

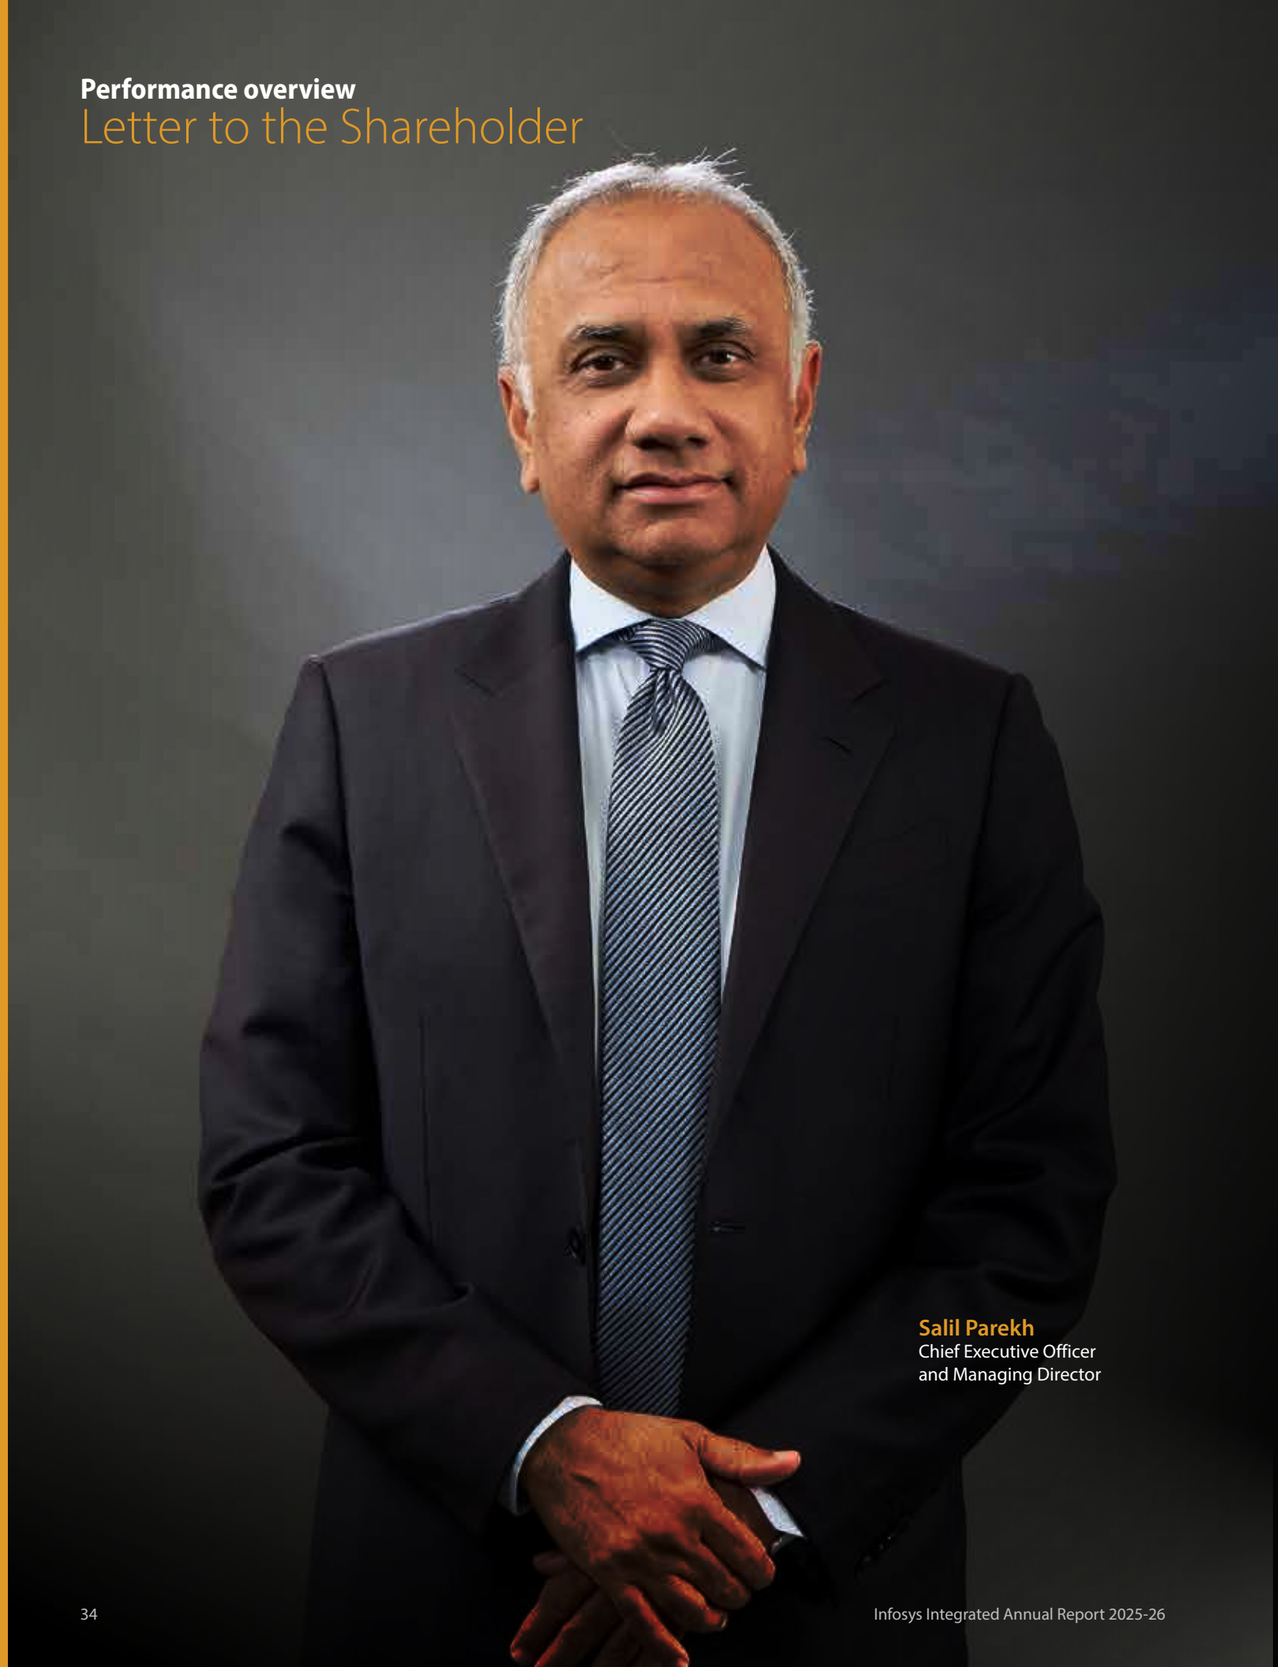

Yet the hardest variable in enterprise AI is not the technology. It is the context. Every company has a different legacy, different data, and different undocumented dependencies. Modernizing brownfield systems is far harder than greenfield development. Enterprise AI faces the same truth.

The future enterprise will be enabled by those firms that have built long and trusted client relationships, have a successful track record of execution, and can blend the old with the new. A trusted partner will ensure that the client enterprise retains strategic autonomy by providing optionality of AI tools and assist in the orchestration of the complex landscape. Trusted partners will also ensure clients retain control over their context and assure success by committing to business outcomes. This is what Infosys will do best. It is said that to anticipate the future, we should skate to where the puck is going. In this case, the puck is coming to where we have already positioned ourselves.

Letter to the Shareholder

Salil Parekh
Chief Executive Officer and Managing Director

Dear shareholder,

Last year marked an inflection point as AI began evolving from experimentation to enterprise-scale adoption. At Infosys, we acted early and decisively to lead this transition – shifting our portfolio, investing in talent, and scaling partnerships to help clients unlock value from AI at speed and scale. Infosys is emerging as a leader in AI services, with AI-led programs now deployed across 90% of our top 200 clients and rapidly scaling across industries.

Infosys is well-positioned as the leading company for AI services.

Our AI strategy is built on six core pillars of our AI-First value framework – strategy & engineering, data, process, legacy modernization, physical AI, and trust – together addressing a US$300 billion opportunity, based on market estimates. These capabilities enable clients to accelerate growth programs and reimagine their legacy systems landscape, support data and process readiness, and deploy AI responsibly.

For Q3, we shared that our revenue from these six areas was 5.5% of our total revenue and growing at a significantly faster pace than the company. We are executing on our strategy of pivoting to AI services at speed. We have built strong partnerships with leading AI native companies and have a large base of employees trained on their foundation models. This is resulting in accelerated enterprise deployment helping our clients to unlock AI value at scale. Our focus is to continuously re-skill our over 3,25,000 employees on AI.

We are advising clients across a wide range of AI powered transformation programs. Some of the key areas of interest from our clients include rapid AI adoption for coding and code modernization as well as for building agents across business functions.

We are harnessing the power of our industry-leading AI Suite, Infosys Topaz to help enterprises accelerate growth and productivity from AI. Our purpose-built composable stack of services and agents in Topaz Fabric enables our clients to leverage the full benefit of different foundation models in a token-efficient manner maximizing value while minimizing cost and risk.

Our clients' trust in Infosys, our deep knowledge of their technology landscape, our market leading offerings, our innovation track record, and our comprehensive understanding of AI, make us an ideal partner and a navigator for our clients' AI programs.

Our disciplined execution delivered over US$20 billion in revenue, a strong adjusted operating margin of 21%, and US$3.7 billion in free cash flow – enabling us to return over US$4 billion to shareholders through dividends (US$2.1 billion) and share buybacks (US$2 billion). We announced a total dividend of ₹ 48 per share. Last year we recruited over 20,000 college graduates.

Infosys continues to be the leading partner for some of the largest business transformation programs worldwide. Last year we had large deals of US$14.9 billion enabling us to set-up a growth foundation for the coming year.

We also launched a focused growth program on working with large global companies where Infosys has a smaller share of the client spend. This program has delivered remarkable results already and is rapidly developing into a key growth driver for the company.

Cloud and Data expertise continue to be the key foundation for AI powered transformation. Our early investments in Cobalt and our Data and Analytics portfolio have positioned us well to capture the rapidly expanding market opportunity.

In the past year we were recognized as the fastest-growing IT services brand in the world by Brand Finance, for the sixth year. We were recognized as one of the most ethical companies in the world by Ethisphere. LinkedIn named us the number one employer in India.

Our commitment to society remains integral to our strategy. Our focus remains on skilling and livelihoods, healthcare, and sustainability. In the past year the Infosys Foundation impacted over seven million people in India. Springboard, our education platform, provided free digital learning programs for 10 million people across the world.

Our over 3,25,000 employees are the foundation of our success. My thanks to them for their absolute commitment in making our clients successful.

As I look ahead, I firmly believe that AI will create massive impact – and confident that Infosys is uniquely positioned to help our clients lead this transformation. With a clear strategy, strong execution, and deep client trust, we are well placed to unlock value for our clients.

With my warmest regards,

Sd/-

Our business context

Technology continues to fundamentally reshape businesses across industries worldwide. AI is increasingly being applied to fine tune domain specific capabilities and industry focused use cases. Clients are navigating the challenge of rapidly reinventing their processes and systems in the AI era, which requires a strong understanding of emerging technologies, new ways of working, and a deep appreciation of AI ecosystems, business processes, and operational practices.

We are supporting clients in transforming every aspect of their businesses through technology – ranging from building a robust digital core to reimagining business operations – to enhance agility, efficiency, and resilience, while accelerating growth initiatives. Responsible business practices, including the adoption of ESG principles, continue to gain momentum. During the year, organizations increasingly focused on reconfiguring cost structures, improving resilience and agility, delivering personalized experiences for customers and employees, and launching innovative and disruptive products and services.

These include enhancing and personalizing customer interactions, improving efficiency across marketing and sales functions, strengthening code quality, and boosting workforce and organizational productivity. The emergence of AI, with its potential for broader automation, is expected to significantly accelerate workforce transformation.

Our Strategy

Our strategic objective is to build a sustainable and resilient organization that remains relevant to the agenda of our clients, while creating growth opportunities for our employees, generating profitable returns for our investors and contributing to the communities that we operate in.

Our clients and prospective clients are faced with transformative business opportunities powered by advances in software and computing technology, especially in AI. These organizations are dealing with the challenge of having to reimagine their core offerings, processes and systems rapidly and position themselves as leaders in their industry. Our strategy is to be a navigator for our clients on their AI journey and help them unlock business value. We help our clients ideate, plan and scale their AI future by building strong data foundations with robust cloud capabilities. At the same time, we are also conscious of the need to build adequate safeguards around privacy, ethics, and controls through Responsible AI practices, which we are evangelizing not only within the company, but also across the industry.

In 2018, we embraced a four-pronged strategy to strengthen our relevance with clients and drive accelerated value creation:

1. Scale Agile Digital
2. Energize the Core
3. Reskill our People
4. Expand Localization

The technology services industry has experienced several major shifts. The current AI transition, however, is different – not merely incremental, but transformational.

Unlike prior waves centered on deterministic software and application-led modernization, AI compels a foundational redesign of enterprise systems, architectures, and operating models. AI-native systems are built on probabilistic inference, continuous learning, and agent-based execution.

AI's impact unfolds across multiple, interdependent dimensions across technology, business, and talent.

Technology – enterprises are shifting from application-centric stacks to platforms that incorporate intelligent agents, orchestration layers, and adaptive learning components.

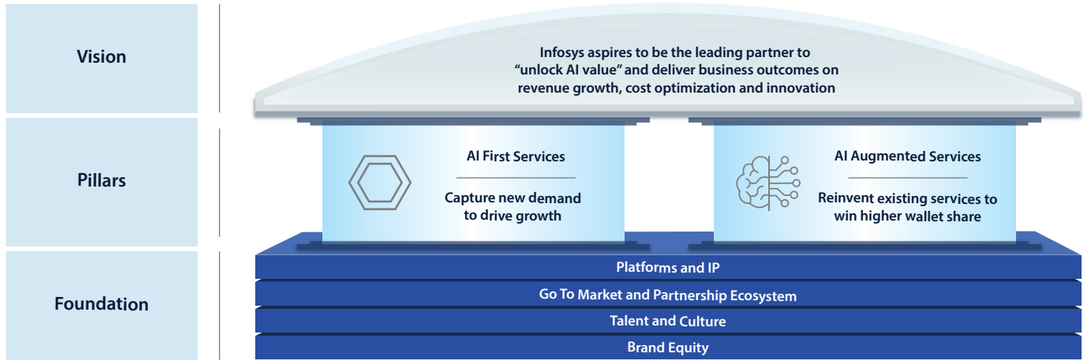

Business – operating models are evolving as workflows move away from linear, role-based execution toward AI-driven operating loops that continuously sense, decide, and act.

Talent and organization – the nature of work is changing materially; emphasis moves from code creation toward orchestration, system supervision, domain interpretation, and outcome validation. This necessitates new roles, large-scale reskilling, and a recalibration of workforce composition.

Infosys AI vision

We aspire to be the leading partner to "unlock AI value" and deliver business outcomes on revenue growth, cost optimization and innovation.

We have a two-pronged strategy for AI: AI first services – To capture new demand to drive growth and AI augmented services – To reinvent existing services to win higher wallet share. These are built on a strong foundation of platforms and intellectual property, ecosystem partnerships, talent base, and a strong brand.

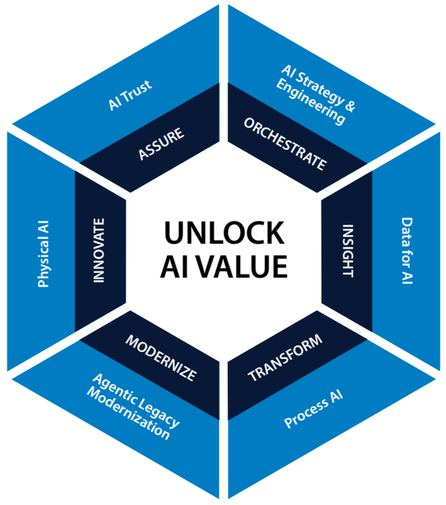

Our AI first services are inherently designed with AI as the core execution layer, enabling new business models, products, and revenue streams for our clients by embedding intelligence directly into enterprise operations and decision making.

Our AI augmented services enhance our existing offerings by integrating AI into established systems and workflows, improving efficiency, personalization, and outcomes for our clients while preserving and extending the value of current investments.

We have developed over 25 industry focused AI playbooks that codify repeatable use cases, domain context, and execution patterns. This enables enterprises to systematically scale AI adoption, accelerate outcomes across growth, efficiency, and innovation, and progress confidently from experimentation to enterprise-wide impact.

AI First Value Framework

We unveiled our AI first value framework to help global enterprises unlock AI value at scale, harnessing the power of our industry-leading generative and agentic AI suite, Infosys Topaz™. This move opens a new frontier in IT services and will enable the company to tap into an incremental AI first services opportunity of USD 300-400 billion by 2030 as per market estimates.

Our AI-first value framework is designed to support this journey, helping clients move beyond experimentation and responsibly scale AI as an integral component of their enterprise systems. The framework defines six value pools through which AI can deliver meaningful, sustainable business impact. These value pools are deeply interconnected, reflecting the complexity of real-world enterprises and legacy environments. Together, they provide a structured and disciplined path to orchestrate data, technology, and operations at scale.

- AI Strategy & Engineering: Design and implement AI strategies, platforms, and architectures tailored to business needs. By orchestrating AI agents, proprietary platforms, and third-party tools on purpose-built infrastructure, enterprises can move beyond experimentation to establish a unified, enterprise-wide AI operating model.
- Data for AI: Prepare enterprise data, both structured and unstructured, for AI model readiness. By building AI-ready data platforms and applying AI-grade data engineering (including finger printing and synthetic data services), organizations can convert raw data into a trusted strategic asset that fuels advanced analytics, predictive intelligence, and more informed, real-time decision-making.
- Process AI: Transform core business processes by integrating AI agents and human expertise, with a focus on redesigning end-to-end workflows. It enables domain-aware agents to work alongside humans to drive step-change improvements in efficiency, experience and deliver business outcomes across functions and industries.
- Agentic Legacy Modernization: Leverage AI agents to reverse-engineer existing estates, understand their intent and progressively modernize them without disruption. This helps enterprises reduce technical debt while gaining the agility to respond to changing business demands.
- Physical AI: Design intelligent products and embed AI into physical devices so they can capture sensor data, interpret signals, and take real-time action. By combining digital twins, robotics, autonomous systems, and edge intelligence, organizations can reimagine products, operations, and experiences where digital and physical converge.
- AI Trust: Ensure AI systems and agents embrace responsible, secure, and ethical AI practices across their entire lifecycle. From embedding risk assessments and policy design to security testing and governance enterprises can scale AI with confidence while meeting regulatory, ethical, and risk expectations.

We are already collaborating with 90 percent of our top 200 clients on their AI journeys. Clients see Infosys as their preferred partner to unlock AI value and deliver business outcomes on revenue growth, cost optimization, and innovation.

Managing financial capital

Infosys has a high cash-generating business with access to capital markets across the world. Our strong credit rating allows us to raise debt at competitive rates in the future, if needed. The primary source of funds is cash from operations and income from short and long-term investments, among others.

Our primary sources of liquidity are cash and cash equivalents, and the cash flow generated from our operations. We continue to remain debt-free, and we maintain adequate cash to meet our operational and strategic requirements, and unforeseen events, while also earning sufficient returns.

Our consolidated cash and investments include deposits in banks, investments in debt mutual funds, Commercial Paper (CP), quoted bonds and securities issued by government and quasi-government organizations, non-convertible debentures and Certificates of Deposits (CDs) – all such instruments issued by eligible financial institutions with high credit ratings guided by our treasury policy.

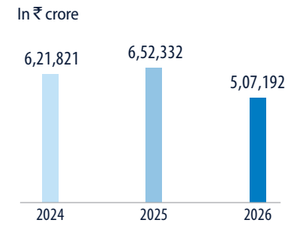

We also build financial assets and create financial value by investing in the startup ecosystem. These investments enable us to access innovation, which together with our services and solutions, deliver benefits to our clients. Most often, our investments comprise minority equity positions in startup organizations and / or venture capital funds.

Shareholder value creation

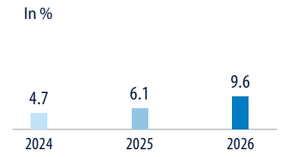

We constantly endeavor to fulfill the expectations of our investors through responsible business decisions and governance. Integrity and transparency are top priorities in our relationship with our investors.

We are privileged to share a strong relationship with investors, based on a deep understanding of their expectations and our commitment to creating value for them. Infosys aims to deliver superior revenue growth and operating margins through prudent financial management and sound corporate governance – resulting in share value appreciation, leading to sustained value creation for investors. We maintain transparency in our disclosures and frequent communication with investors through channels such as quarterly post-result calls, analyst meets, the Annual General Meeting, and regular one-to-one and group interactions.

As part of this strategy, we have set up offices in Ahmedabad, Guwahati, Kolkata, Visakhapatnam, Noida, Hubballi, Indore, Navi Mumbai, Nagpur and Coimbatore in India over the last few years.

We follow a distributed-hybrid model that supports self-development, collaboration, and business outcomes. The vast majority of our workforce operates in a hybrid manner. We proactively monitor work-hour patterns to identify risks of excessive or unsustainable workloads and nudge employees to pause, recharge, and restore balance. Managers play a critical role in making flexibility fair and effective. They are regularly reminded and supported with insights to help identify workload imbalances, staffing challenges, or individuals who may need additional support. By ensuring equitable distribution of work, we actively mitigate the risks of stress and burnout and foster healthier, more resilient teams.

Long before climate change emerged as a global boardroom priority, Infosys recognized that natural capital is integral to long-term value creation. Our approach to environmental stewardship is holistic, science-driven, and anchored in responsible growth.

We are advancing decisively towards climate positivity through our Reduce and Restore strategy.

Advancing climate positivity

In FY26, Infosys continued to advance its journey from carbon neutrality to climate positivity. By integrating efficiency, clean energy, and carbon sequestration with regenerative, nature-based solutions, we are moving beyond emissions reduction to creating net positive environmental outcomes. The initiatives that follow reflect our commitment to Reduce and Restore – strengthening resilience across operations, value chains, and ecosystems.

1. Energy efficiency and low-carbon approach

Infosys continues to lead in energy efficient, low-carbon infrastructure, embedding efficiency across the full life cycle of our buildings. Our campuses leverage advanced technologies such as radiant cooling, radiant heating, innovative climate-adaptive cooling, intelligent controls, and climate-responsive design, enabling sustained reductions in operational energy demand.

Today, 84% of our office space is certified to the highest green building standards.

2. Renewable energy

Infosys continued to accelerate its clean energy journey, strengthening resilience while navigating an evolving regulatory and policy landscape. We have installed 62.42 MWp of solar photovoltaic capacity through a mix of rooftop- and ground-mounted systems, reducing dependence on conventional energy sources and enhancing onsite generation.

Complementing this, we increasingly procure renewable power through third-party power purchase agreements and green tariff mechanisms, adapting our sourcing strategy to align with changing regulations across geographies.

3. Decarbonizing the supply chain

We are working closely with our supplier ecosystem to decarbonize the value chain. We have prioritized engagement with high-emission IT hardware suppliers through onsite assessments and senior-level dialogues to strengthen alignment on decarbonization roadmaps. We supported suppliers in improving Scope 1, 2, and 3 emissions measurement, establishing robust baselines, and adopting verified Environmental Product Declarations. Ongoing handholding and performance tracking continue to help embed climate action into supplier operations, reinforcing a resilient, future-ready, and responsible supply chain.

4. Carbon offsets and regeneration

We address unavoidable emissions through community-centric, high-quality carbon offset programs, including clean cookstove initiatives in Rajasthan and biogas projects in Maharashtra and Karnataka. Complementing offsets, Infosys has built one of India's largest corporate agroforestry programs, with around 14 million saplings planted across multiple states. These long-term plantations enhance carbon sequestration, improve soil and water resilience, and strengthen rural livelihoods – marking a decisive shift from compensation to ecological restoration at scale.

To date, these initiatives have benefited over 3,00,000 rural families and created more than 4,800 local jobs, delivering climate action with strong social benefits.

Water stewardship

Water stewardship continues to be a core pillar of our environmental strategy, with sustained progress in reducing freshwater withdrawal and strengthening local water ecosystems. As a UN CEO Water Mandate signatory, we remain focused on minimizing consumption, maximizing reuse, and enhancing water availability in the communities where we operate.

100% of wastewater across our campuses is recycled, supported by large-scale rainwater harvesting systems and demand-side efficiency measures. Together, these interventions have further reduced our reliance on external water sources and strengthened resilience to increasing water stress. Our Bangalore campus is certified as water positive. In continuation of our efforts on achieving water positive / neutral status based on NITI AAYOG guidelines in our campuses, we achieved Scope 1 certification at nine of our campuses in India this year reflecting consistent performance over time.

Lake rejuvenation

Extending our water stewardship beyond campus boundaries, we continue to implement lake rejuvenation projects in partnership with local stakeholders. Till date, our lake rejuvenation efforts increased cumulative storage capacity from 6 bn liters to 10.3 bn liters, adding 4.3 bn liters of freshwater capacity contributing to urban resilience, biodiversity revival, and community water security. This effort remains central to our goal of climate positivity, restoring more water than we consume.

Waste management

At Infosys, our waste management strategy continues to be anchored in the principles of reduce, reuse, refurbish, repurpose, and recycle with steady progress toward our ambition of zero waste to landfill. We continue to strengthen segregation, onsite processing, and material recovery across our campuses, further embedding circularity into daily operations.

Organic waste continues to be treated onsite through biogas plants, composting and recycling mechanisms, minimizing offsite disposal and associated emissions, and also replacing a part of cooking gas requirements in our campuses. These sustained efforts have enabled consistent improvements in diversion rates and operational efficiency

Our e-waste includes IT equipment, mobile phones, printers, cartridges, electrical and electronic equipment such as refrigerators, microwaves, and air conditioners, lithium ion batteries, and cables, among others. We strive to extend asset life through hardware upgrades, component replacements, and re-imaging. Our progress is aligned with the TRUE Zero Waste certification framework, reinforcing transparency and best-in-class waste management practices. 11 campuses across Infosys India have achieved TRUE Zero Waste certification, reflecting the scale and consistency of our circular economy approach across geographies.

Biodiversity

We are strengthening biodiversity stewardship across campuses through native plantation, habitat enrichment, and knowledge sharing through our annual event BioConserve. In FY26, we launched the BioConserve platform – a digital, open repository designed to share resources, best practices, and research on biodiversity conservation.

ASSURE

Launched in partnership with the Indian Institute for Human Settlements (IIHS) in April 2024, Accelerating Sustainable Super Efficient Real Estate (ASSURE) is a multi-stakeholder platform that enables the replication of climate resilient, energy-efficient buildings across India, with a target of 100 million sq.ft. by 2030.

This year, ASSURE progressed from concept to on-ground impact, with over 15 million sq.ft. of commercial buildings across India onboarded as lighthouse projects, demonstrating scalable pathways for super-efficient real estate in high-energy-intensity sectors. In addition, over 1,250 students and practitioners were upskilled on high performance buildings through webinars, in-person workshops and site visits. The initiative brings together policymakers, developers, experts, and industry leaders to advance performance measurement, skills, policy, and financing mechanisms. Read more in the ESG report.

ASSURE

Our Manufactured Capital includes our energy-efficient offices, data centers, innovation hubs, digital studios, and our technology infrastructure across the globe. Our infrastructure is modeled taking into consideration stakeholder expectations of our commitments towards climate change mitigation, judicious use of natural resources and preserving our environment.

With a growing portfolio of highest-rated green buildings and accelerated investments in intelligent, collaborative workplace technologies, we are elevating the quality of our hybrid work environments. We continue to lead from the front, redefining benchmarks in environmental sustainability and future-ready infrastructure.

Advancing the frontiers of energy performance

Through progressive design strategies, enhanced building envelopes, intelligent HVAC systems, and seamless integration of renewable energy, we continue to expand what high-performance buildings can achieve. The use of high-performance materials with recycled content, passive design principles, and real-time monitoring enables reduced energy intensity while improving occupant well-being.

Guided by our six core principles – health and wellness, social connect, sustainability, inclusivity, and technology enablement – our campuses are transforming into dynamic ecosystems that cater to varied work patterns, emerging capabilities, and an enhanced employee journey. Environmental stewardship is integrated through efficient interior solutions, sustainable materials, enhanced lighting and air quality, along with intelligent digital systems that minimize ecological footprint while improving usability and comfort, ensuring accessibility for all.

Infosys campuses, known for their world-class infrastructure and green spaces, offer a distinctive workplace experience for employees. With 84% of our office spaces certified as green buildings, we strive to redefine benchmarks in sustainable infrastructure, while delivering world-class, sustainable workplaces.

Embedding circularity and innovation in design

As a key participant in the built environment, we recognize the importance of addressing embodied carbon, which remains a significant contributor to the life cycle emissions of buildings. We continue to integrate Life Cycle Assessment (LCA) into early-stage decision-making to support responsible material selection and design optimization.

Steel and cement, which account for nearly 70% of embodied carbon in office buildings, have been primary focus areas. We have prioritized the procurement of secondary steel produced from recycled scrap, which has a significantly lower emission intensity (1–1.5 tCO_2e/t compared to 2.5–3.5 tCO_2e/t for primary steel). Further, we have optimized cement use through blending with industrial by-products such as fly ash and ground granulated blast furnace slag.

While advancing thermal management in our office buildings through innovative technologies such as radiant heating and free cooling under favorable climatic conditions, we have standardized the procurement of air-conditioning equipment using refrigerants with very low global warming potential as a regular practice.

We strengthened our circularity efforts by eliminating plastic and thermocol-based packaging for IT equipment and embedding sustainable packaging criteria into our procurement processes. Partnering closely with suppliers, we transitioned to paper-based, recycled, and biodegradable fibre alternatives, including materials derived from agricultural waste – demonstrating a shift from operational waste management to design-led circularity.

Resource circularity in operations

Our Circular Economy initiatives focus on responsible utilization of IT assets, ensuring maximum value extraction across the asset lifecycle while minimizing environmental impact. We adopt a structured approach to extend asset life through reuse, redeployment, and refurbishment, thereby reducing e-waste generation and the demand for new resources.

A strong emphasis is placed on repurposing and reuse of IT assets across functions and delivery centers, enabling optimal utilization and avoiding premature disposals. Assets that reach the end of their usable life are handled through responsible end-of-life management.

Green IT

InfosysIT has embedded sustainable practices across the life cycles of service design, operations, and disposal of IT assets.

Data center efficiency

InfosysIT has positioned data center modernization as one of the key pillars of its sustainability and responsible growth strategy. Recognizing the environmental impact of traditional infrastructure models, the organization has architected its data center ecosystem to prioritize efficiency, scalability, and long-term resource optimization.

This transformation is enabled through the adoption of density-optimized hyperscale platforms that enable cloud-scale agility and high-density server virtualization. This approach has significantly reduced infrastructure sprawl while maximizing utilization of compute resources, embedding sustainability principles directly into core IT operations.

Building on this modernized platform, InfosysIT rationalized and consolidated data centers and server rooms across development centers. This consolidation effort reduced redundancy, optimized space usage, and enabled a more sustainable operating footprint.

To ensure sustainability gains are continuously improved, InfosysIT has made focused investments in Data Center Infrastructure Management (DCIM) capabilities. These tools provide integrated, real-time visibility across both IT and facilities infrastructure, enabling data-driven decisions, proactive optimization, and informed consolidation planning. By embedding observability and governance into the operating model, InfosysIT ensures that sustainability outcomes are measurable, repeatable, and scalable over time.

Infrastructure as code

Infrastructure as a code is a transformational initiative towards enabling continuous deployment, integration, and touch-less life cycle management of infrastructure components. This methodology enabled us to overcome common challenges associated with traditional infrastructure management, demand at scale, speed and consistency of deployment with interdependence between teams. As a result of this transformational initiative, a substantial number of playbooks are developed to automate platform-related processes.

AIOps-powered digital operations

InfosysIT leverages a modern AIOps platform with intelligent noise suppression and context driven notifications. The solution delivers unified observability across infrastructure landscape, while enabling visibility into capacity usage and cost efficiency. It processes high volume data from diverse IT sources to support proactive and informed operations.

Public cloud adoption

The organization has largely transitioned its internal IT applications to the public cloud, enabling scalable, on-demand infrastructure and reducing reliance on on premises data centers. Employees are empowered with cloud based collaboration and secure access solutions that enhance hybrid work experiences.

The IT Service Management (ITSM) landscape adopts a standardized, AI enabled service-desk on a SaaS hosted platform. This advancement has delivered standardization in operational processes, enhanced automation, and improved overall user experience across all support services, enabled the use of AI-assisted agents to further strengthen the employee experience, effeciency and effectiveness.

Capital Allocation Policy

Effective from financial year 2025, the Company expects to continue its policy of returning approximately 85% of the free cash flow cumulatively over a five-year period through a combination of semi-annual dividends and / or share buyback / special dividends, subject to applicable laws and requisite approvals, if any. Under this policy, the Company expects to progressively increase its annual dividend per share (excluding special dividend, if any). Free cash flow is defined as net cash provided by operating activities less capital expenditure as per the Consolidated Statement of Cash Flows prepared under IFRS. Dividend and buyback include applicable taxes.

In line with the Capital Allocation Policy, the Board, at its meeting held on September 11, 2025, approved a proposal to buy back fully paid-up equity shares of face value ₹5 each, aggregating up to ₹18,000 crore, which was subsequently approved by shareholders via postal ballot on November 4, 2025.

The Buyback involved the purchase of 10,00,00,000 equity shares, representing approximately 2.41% of the Company's paid-up equity share capital (standalone) as of June 30, 2025, at a price of ₹1,800 per share. The offer was made to all eligible shareholders as on the record date (November 14, 2025) on a proportionate basis through the tender offer route, including shareholders who became eligible via ADS cancellation. The tender period was open from November 20 to November 26, 2025. The buyback was completed on December 4, 2025, with all shares extinguished, resulting in a cash outflow of ₹18,000 crore (excluding transaction costs), funded from free reserves including securities premium, in accordance with Section 68 of the Companies Act, 2013.

Further, as required under Section 69, the Company created a Capital Redemption Reserve of ₹50 crore as at March 31, 2026, equivalent to the nominal value of shares bought back, by appropriating from general reserves.

During the year ended March 31, 2026, the Company paid an interim dividend of ₹23 per equity share and announced a final dividend of ₹25 per share, subject to shareholders' approval in the ensuing Annual General Meeting (AGM), including the final dividend declared above, the Company has returned approximately ₹55,523 crore, which is 82.1% of the free cash flow for fiscal 2025 and 2026 through dividends and buybacks, in line with the Capital Allocation Policy.

The Capital Allocation Policy is available on our website, at https://www.infosys.com/investors/corporate-governance/documents/capital-allocation-policy.pdf.

Liquidity

Our principal sources of liquidity are cash and cash equivalents, investments and the cash flow that we generate from our operations. We continue to be debt-free and maintain sufficient cash to meet our strategic and operational requirements. We understand that liquidity in the Balance Sheet has to balance between earning adequate returns and the need to cover financial and business requirements. Liquidity enables us to be agile and ready to meet unforeseen strategic and business needs and opportunities.

As of March 31, 2026, we had ₹40,794 crore in working capital on a standalone basis, and ₹51,167 crore on a consolidated basis.

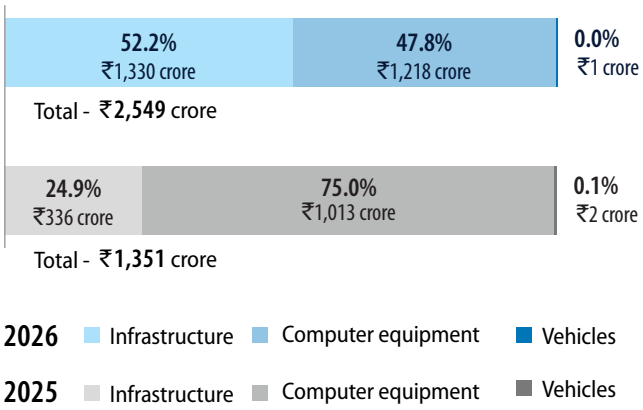

Consolidated cash and investments stand at ₹28,662 crore on a standalone basis and ₹43,075 crore on a consolidated basis as on March 31, 2026, as against ₹35,916 crore on a standalone basis, and ₹47,549 crore on a consolidated basis as on March 31, 2025.

Consolidated cash and investments, on both standalone and consolidated basis, include deposits with banks with high credit ratings assigned by international and domestic credit rating agencies. As a result, liquidity risk of cash and cash equivalents is limited. Ratings are monitored periodically. Liquid assets also include investments in debt mutual fund units, tax-free bonds, Certificates of Deposit (CDs), Commercial Paper (CP), quoted bonds and securities issued by government and quasi-government organizations, and non-convertible debentures. CDs and CPs represent marketable securities of banks, Non-Banking Financial Companies (NBFCs) and eligible financial institutions for a specified time period with high credit rating given by domestic credit rating agencies. Government securities are highly liquid and marketable instruments issued across tenure, backed by the Government and carrying a sovereign credit. Investments made in non-convertible debentures are issued by government-aided institutions and financial institutions with high credit rating. We invest after considering counterparty risks based on multiple criteria including Tier-I capital, capital adequacy ratio, credit rating, profitability, Non Performing Asset (NPA) levels and deposit base of banks and financial institutions.

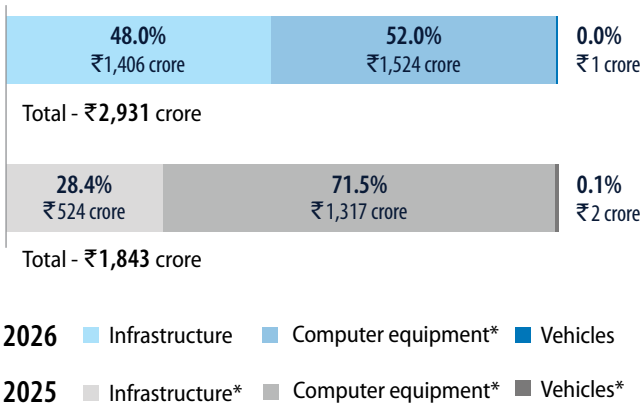

The details of these investments are disclosed under the 'non-current and current investments' section in the Standalone and Consolidated financial statements in this Integrated Annual Report.

Annexure 7 – Conservation of energy, research and development, technology absorption, foreign exchange earnings and outgo.

[Particulars pursuant to the Companies (Accounts) Rules, 2014]

Our consistent focus on energy efficiency, increasing use of renewable energy, and credible carbon offset projects have enabled Infosys to sustain carbon neutrality for the seventh consecutive year since fiscal 2020. In fiscal 2026, we once again maintained carbon neutral operations, reinforcing the consistency and discipline of our climate strategy.

Building on this momentum, we are advancing towards climate positivity – seeking to restore more natural capital than we consume and to generate meaningful environmental and social benefits for the ecosystems and communities we engage with. Looking ahead, Infosys will continue to scale systemic interventions, accelerate low-carbon innovation, and deepen partnerships to drive long-term climate resilience and contribute to a net-zero future.

Resource conservation initiatives

Resource conservation initiatives at Infosys are focused, continuing and embedded into our operations and new infrastructure development. The introduction of highly efficient new buildings, retrofits in existing buildings, automation and continuous optimization, water management strategies, and waste treatment and management projects have significantly reduced our environmental impact.

The increased adoption of renewable energy in our operations has helped avoid emissions significantly, and our high-impact carbon offset projects have enabled us to offset unavoidable emissions.

Energy: In fiscal 2026, Infosys continued to demonstrate a strong commitment to energy conservation through a set of initiatives focused on enhancing operational efficiency and reducing overall energy consumption. These efforts span advanced, energy-efficient building design for new infrastructure, including embodied carbon analysis, continuous operational optimization, and active employee engagement. In Fiscal 2026, about ₹1.27 crore was spent on retrofits in some of our infrastructure to improve operational efficiency. By integrating innovative technologies with strong operational discipline, Infosys has consistently reinforced the importance of systematic, technology-driven approaches to conservation in achieving long-term sustainability outcomes.

To scale the impact of high-performance building design and operations beyond our campuses, Infosys continues to advance ASSURE (Accelerating Sustainable and Super efficient Real Estate), a multi-stakeholder initiative launched in partnership with the Indian Institute for Human Settlements. ASSURE aims to accelerate decarbonization of India's building sector through the development of lighthouse projects, capacity-building for students and practitioners, policy advocacy, and deeper ecosystem collaboration. During fiscal 2026, the program achieved significant progress with over 15 million square feet of built-up area onboarded as lighthouse projects, translating sustainable design and operational excellence into demonstrable, replicable outcomes at scale.

Through ASSURE and its broader real estate sustainability strategy, Infosys continues to provide thought leadership in advancing climate-resilient, low-carbon buildings. These efforts support India's national commitments under the Paris Agreement and contribute meaningfully to a more sustainable and energy-efficient built environment.

Renewable energy: Infosys has a total installed solar capacity of 62.4 MWp across campuses, including a 42.5 MWp captive solar plant in Karnataka. Additionally, the Company leverages Power Purchase Agreements (PPAs) and green tariff from DISCOMs to expand its clean energy portfolio. Infosys is steadily reducing its dependence on fossil fuels and accelerating the shift to a low-carbon future. In fiscal 2026, 81.8% of our electricity in India operations was met through renewables.

Green buildings: All new developments are designed to achieve the highest level of green building certification. Currently, about 84% of office space across Infosys has been certified to the highest level of green building standards.

Smarter spaces: Infosys continues to reimagine workplace design to support inclusive, flexible, and sustainable ways of working in an evolving environment. Our next-generation offices combine digital connectivity, ergonomic design, and intelligent energy systems that respond to real-time usage.

Advanced Building Management Systems optimize lighting, ventilation, and thermal comfort – reducing energy consumption while creating safe, healthy, and people-centric workspaces. By enabling hybrid work models and designing environments that support diverse employee needs, Infosys is strengthening employee well-being, inclusivity, and operational efficiency, while lowering its environmental footprint.

Water management: Aligned with its climate positive aspirations, Infosys continues to strengthen its water stewardship practices across operations. Infosys maintains zero wastewater discharge, is a signatory to the UN CEO Water Mandate, and remains committed to recharging more water than it consumes by 2030. Our water management strategy focuses on reducing freshwater demand through efficiency measures, maximizing wastewater treatment and reuse, and enhancing rainwater harvesting across campuses.

Beyond operational boundaries, Infosys is committed to lake rejuvenation initiatives to create shared value for surrounding communities and ecosystems. These interventions contribute to improved groundwater recharge, biodiversity enhancement, and long-term water security.

Waste management: Infosys continues to progress towards its goal of zero waste to landfill, aligned with global sustainability frameworks. Guided by circular economy principles, the Company focuses on minimizing waste generation and maximizing recovery to reduce environmental impact across operations.

Through strengthened waste segregation practices and effective treatment and management systems, Infosys has achieved 99% waste diversion from landfill. In fiscal 2026, we significantly scaled our zero waste initiatives, with a total of 11 campuses achieving True Zero Waste Certification from the Green Business Certification Institute. This milestone reflects the consistent expansion of best-in-class waste management practices across our campuses and reinforces our commitment to responsible resource stewardship.

Carbon offset: Infosys addresses unavoidable emissions through community-based carbon offset projects. Projects in the clean cooking space implemented in five states across India have significantly improved health, livelihoods and helped generate income for rural women.

We have initiated large-scale carbon sequestration projects through agroforestry. These projects go beyond environmental benefits, positively impacting small and marginal farmers by improving their livelihoods, and enhancing soil health, food security, and climate resilience.

Carbon neutral events: Infosys continues to embed carbon neutral events into its broader climate action strategy. All emissions associated with Company-hosted events are systematically measured, reduced where feasible, and offset through certified carbon offset projects. This disciplined approach extends Infosys' sustainability practices beyond its operations to external engagements, reinforcing the Company's leadership on responsible business conduct.

In fiscal 2026, Infosys sustained its focus in organizing eight carbon neutral events, building on the momentum of previous years and strengthening the integration of climate considerations into its corporate events and stakeholder interactions.

Health, Safety and Environment

Our Health, Safety, and Environmental Management System (HSEMS) reflects our commitment to creating a safe, healthy, and sustainable workplace for employees, contractors, and visitors alike. Aligned with our broader climate and sustainability goals, Infosys is certified to ISO 14001:2015 for Environmental Management and ISO 45001:2018 for Occupational Health and Safety. The HSEMS is built on a strong framework of compliance, taking into account the needs of all stakeholders and ensuring adherence to applicable laws across all regions where we operate.

AI-first @ Infosys

Internal IT – AI-first software engineering

Our internal IT organization, which supports and manages 200 enterprise applications, has been an early and proactive adopter of AI-led transformation. To accelerate adoption at scale, we have pursued a two-pronged strategy. Firstly, AI for Engineering Excellence and Lifecycle Compression. We have embedded AI deeply into the software engineering lifecycle to drive productivity, quality, and speed. At the core of this approach is the creation of a digital twin of our enterprise landscape, a unified model that captures contextual knowledge across applications, platforms, and layers.

Leveraging this digital twin, we have built a suite of AI-powered agents that augment every phase of the lifecycle from requirements and design to development, testing, deployment, and support. These agents significantly enhance developer productivity, improve decision-making, and enable meaningful compression of the overall software delivery lifecycle.

Second is AI for Business & Operations, where we have focused on using AI Agents and Gen AI solutions for improving operational efficiency of enterprise functions like Finance, HR etc. These agents are designed to address user queries across applications, simplify interactions, and provide contextual assistance in real time by autonomously responding to helpdesk emails, improving first-contact resolution and easing service desk workload. These initiatives are transforming how employees engage with enterprise systems – making them more intuitive, responsive, and user-centric.

Infosys Topaz Fabric: We have rolled out Infosys Topaz Fabric platform across the organization to democratize innovation, crowd source quality Gen AI and Agentic solutions, enable rapid experimentation and innovation and make the AI apps available to everyone to amplify their potential.

Education, Training & Assessment (ETA): ETA has built an agentic AI-powered learning ecosystem, anchored on Lex, our internal learning platform, and extended through Infosys Springboard, our free, public learning platform, to enable continuous learning at scale. As an early adopter of generative AI, solutions like Zoiee, Knowledge Assistant and SynthAIz have evolved into an integrated ecosystem that delivers personalized learning experiences. Learners benefit from intelligent recommendations, real-time assistance, and continuous guidance through the Zoiee AI companion. At the same time, creation of learning content has been streamlined through SynthAIz and AI agents, enabling faster development of high-quality, multimodal content with automated transcription, translation, and video localization.

AI cloud: To accelerate our AI-first transformation, Infosys continues to invest in proprietary, on-premise GPU infrastructure engineered for advanced model training and inferencing. This dedicated compute capability empowers us to seamlessly integrate best-in-class open-source Large Language Models (LLMs) and deploy our own specialized Small Language Models (SLMs) while maintaining strict data sovereignty. By establishing this robust and secure internal ecosystem, we are expediting enterprise-wide AI adoption, ensuring the highest standards of data confidentiality, and optimizing operational costs by reducing external token dependencies.

Energy-efficient IT infrastructure

We have adopted a multi-pronged strategy to make our network and computer workload energy-efficient and environmentally friendly. Some of the measures implemented are:

Energy-efficient network infrastructure: InfosysIT uses network gears with power-saving features to enhance energy efficiency.

Public cloud adoption: The organization has largely transitioned its internal IT applications to the public cloud, enabling scalable, on-demand infrastructure and reducing reliance on on-premise data centers. Employees are empowered with cloud-based collaboration and secure access solutions that enhance hybrid work experiences.

The IT Service Management (ITSM) landscape has undergone significant transformation with the adoption of a standardized, AI-enabled service desk on a SaaS-hosted platform. This advancement has delivered standardization in operational processes, enhanced automation, and improved overall user experience across all support services. In addition to improvements, the introduction of AI-assisted agents has further strengthened the employee experience. These agents serve as productivity catalysts by supporting staff in daily tasks and enabling AI-driven approaches to work. As a result, our employees are able to perform more efficiently, leveraging advanced tools and technologies to optimize their effectiveness.

Data center modernization: InfosysIT has positioned data center modernization as one of the key pillars of its sustainability and responsible growth strategy. Recognizing the environmental impact of traditional infrastructure models, the organization has architected its data center ecosystem to prioritize efficiency, scalability, and long-term resource optimization.

This transformation is enabled through the adoption of density-optimized hyperscale platforms that enable cloud scale agility and high-density server virtualization. This approach has significantly reduced infrastructure sprawl while maximizing utilization of compute resources, embedding sustainability principles directly into core IT operations.

To ensure sustainability gains are continuously improved, InfosysIT has made focused investments in Data Center Infrastructure Management (DCIM) capabilities. These tools provide integrated, real-time visibility across both IT and facilities infrastructure, enabling data-driven decisions, proactive optimization, and informed consolidation planning. By embedding observability and governance into the operating model, InfosysIT ensures that sustainability outcomes are measurable, repeatable, and scalable over time.

Enterprise storage: The internal IT team delivers robust storage services to all delivery units, utilizing multi-protocol storage technology that incorporates flash storage, fabric pool, and storage grid solutions. These technologies enable flexible and efficient data management, ensuring that the various delivery units have access to high-performance storage tailored to their needs. By leveraging storage grid technology, the organization adopts a highly efficient and innovative approach to managing storage capacity. This strategy helps minimize the physical footprint required in data centers, leading to reduced power consumption and lower cooling demands.

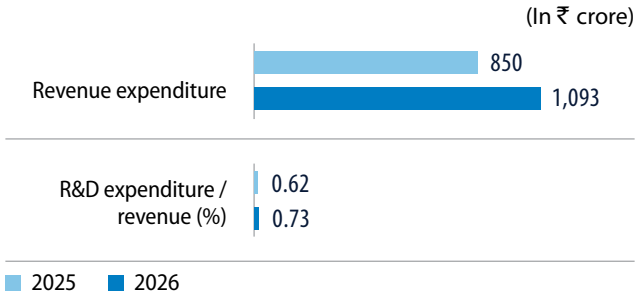

For certain workloads, hybrid cloud storage is employed to enhance flexibility and scalability. This solution features built-in data protection and seamless scaling capabilities, which eliminate the necessity for buffer investments. As a result, the organization achieves reduced on-premises data center space, power consumption, and cooling requirements.

Cloud-native development environment: The internal IT team utilizes an open-source-based cloud-native development platform that is specifically built upon Hyper Converged Infrastructure (HCI) and compute resources. This architectural approach streamlines the deployment and management of development environments, allowing teams to efficiently leverage modern cloud technologies. A significant benefit of this strategy is the reduction in physical data center footprint. By consolidating resources through HCI, the need for extensive hardware is minimized, leading to more compact infrastructure.

Our strategic objective is to build a sustainable and resilient organization that remains relevant to the agenda of our clients, while creating growth opportunities for our employees, generating profitable returns for our investors and contributing to the communities that we operate in. There are numerous risks and challenges affecting our business. These are discussed in the Risk management report of the Integrated Annual Report.

I. Industry structure and developments

Fiscal 2026 saw lower interest rates and stable economic sentiment but policy changes and geopolitical uncertainties weighed on the tech services industry.

This was a year of subdued growth with pockets of economic green shoots that have kept technology-led growth active. Radical transformation in technology led by AI is shifting the dynamics of discretionary spending and mounting pressure on traditional IT services.

Global GDP growth remained flat at 3.3% in CY 2025[(1)]. During the same period, IT services contracted by 10 bps, growing at 4.6%[(2)]. We expect client spending and investments to continue to move towards AI in the near term. These investments are expected to be crucial during this period of economic uncertainty.

We saw AI reshaping the industry in fiscal 2026. We continued to witness businesses attempting to reimagine their cost structures, increase business resilience and agility, personalize experiences for customers and employees, and launch new and disruptive products and services, aided by enterprise AI. With our early lead in AI, we believe we are well-positioned to take advantage of these market opportunities.

For more information, refer to Our business context section of the Integrated Annual Report.

We have continued to invest in Infosys Cobalt™ – a set of services, solutions and platforms for enterprises to accelerate their cloud journey, Infosys Topaz™– a set of AI-first services, solutions and platforms using generative and agentic AI technology and Infosys Aster™ – an AI-amplified marketing suite.

III. Financial condition

Refer to the Standalone and Consolidated financial statements in this Integrated Annual Report for detailed schedules and notes.

1. Equity share capital

We have one class of shares – equity shares of par value ₹5 each. During the year, the movement in share capital was on account of buyback of 10,00,00,000 shares resulting in a cash outflow of ₹18,000 crore (excluding transaction cost) and shares issued on exercise of stock options.

2. Other equity

The movement in retained earnings was on account of profit earned during the year and payment of dividends and buyback of equity shares. The Company funded the buyback from its free reserves, including securities premium, as explained in Section 68 of the Companies Act, 2013. In accordance with Section 69 of the Companies Act, 2013, as at March 31, 2026, the Company has created a Capital Redemption Reserve of ₹50 crore, equal to the nominal value of the shares bought back, as an appropriation from the general reserve. The increase in securities premium is mainly on account of the exercise of stock options. The Group has made an irrevocable election to present the subsequent changes in fair value of certain instruments in other comprehensive income.

The Special Economic Zone Re-Investment Reserve has been created out of the profit of the eligible SEZ unit in terms of the provisions of Section 10AA(1)(ii) of the Income-Tax Act, 1961. The reserve should be utilized by the Company for acquiring new plant and machinery for the purpose of its business in terms of the provisions of the Section 10AA (2) of the Income-Tax Act, 1961.

3. Property, plant and equipment

Additions to gross block were mainly on computer equipment and infrastructure.

On a consolidated basis, the carrying value of goodwill as at March 31, 2026, amounted to ₹12,117 crore, as compared to ₹10,106 crore as at March 31, 2025. The increase during the year is primarily attributable to goodwill recognized on the acquisition of MRE Consulting Ltd. and The Missing Link Security Pty. Ltd., The Missing Link Security Limited, and The Missing Link Automation Pty. Ltd. (collectively referred to as "The Missing Link"), amounting to ₹444 crore, along with a translation difference of ₹1,567 crore arising from foreign currency fluctuations.

The audited financial statements and related information of subsidiaries will be available on our website at www.infosys.com.

We invest in the startup ecosystem to gain access to innovations that, when combined with our services and solutions, can benefit our clients. These investments are typically minority equity positions in startup companies and / or venture capital funds.

Our investments comprise mutual funds units, tax-free bonds, non-convertible debentures, certificates of deposit, commercial paper and quoted bonds and securities issued by government and quasi-government organizations. Certificates of deposit and commercial papers represent marketable securities of banks, NBFCs and eligible financial institutions for a specified time period with high credit rating by domestic credit rating agencies. Government securities (G-secs) are highly liquid and marketable instruments issued across tenure, backed by the Government and carrying a sovereign credit. Investments made in non-convertible debentures represent debt instruments issued by government-aided institutions and financial institutions with high credit rating. The majority of investments of the Company are fair valued based on Level 1 or Level 2 inputs. The Company invests after considering counterparty risks based on multiple criteria, including Tier-I capital, capital adequacy ratio, credit rating, profitability, Non-Performing Assets (NPA) levels and deposit base of banks and financial institutions. These risks are monitored regularly as part of our risk management program.

B. Trade receivables

Days Sales Outstanding (DSO) in USD terms was 67 days for the year ended March 31, 2026, compared to 69 days in the previous year.

C. Cash and cash equivalents

Our cash and cash equivalents comprise deposits with banks with high credit ratings assigned by international and domestic credit rating agencies which can be withdrawn at any point of time without prior notice or penalty on principal. Ratings are monitored periodically.

D. Loans

Loans are provided to subsidiaries as per business requirements. The Company does not have any loans outstanding as at March 31, 2026.

E. Other financial assets

Deposit with corporations represent restricted deposits to settle employee-related obligations as and when they arise during the normal course of business. Unbilled revenues are classified as financial assets as right to consideration is unconditional and is due only after passage of time. Foreign currency forward and options contracts are entered into to mitigate the risk of changes in exchange rates on foreign currency exposures. The counterparty for these contracts is generally a bank.

6. Other assets

Unbilled revenues are classified as non-financial asset where the right to consideration is dependent on completion of contractual milestones. Withholding taxes and others represent credits that can be availed against local taxes payable in various countries. Deferred contract cost mainly comprises the cost of obtaining a contract and the cost of fulfilling a contract recorded in accordance with Ind AS 115, Revenue from Contracts with Customers.

7. Deferred tax assets / liabilities

Deferred tax asset is primarily on account of temporary difference in property, plant and equipment, lease liabilities, allowances for trade receivables, credits related to branch profits and compensated absences partially offset by deferred tax liability on the Special Economic Zone Re-investment Reserve, branch profit tax and intangibles from business combination.

A deferred income tax asset is recognized to the extent that it is probable that future taxable profit will be available against which the deductible temporary differences and tax losses can be utilized. Refer to Note 2.17 of the Standalone and Consolidated Financial Statements.

8. Income tax assets / liabilities

Our net profit earned from providing software development and other services outside India is subject to tax in the country where we perform the work. Most of our taxes paid in countries other than India can be claimed as credit against our tax liabilities in India. Refer to Note 2.17 of the Standalone and Consolidated Financial Statements.

9. Other financial liabilities

Liabilities for accrued compensation to employees include the provision for bonus, accrued salaries, incentives and retention bonus payable to the staff. Financial liability under option arrangements represents redemption liability towards acquisitions to purchase the corresponding minority stake.

Accrued expenses represent amounts accrued for other operational expenses. Compensated absences are both accumulating and non-accumulating in nature. The expected cost of accumulating compensated absences is determined by actuarial valuation.

10. Other liabilities

Invoicing in excess of revenues are classified as unearned revenues. Withholding and other taxes payable represent local taxes payable in various countries in which we operate. We provide for provident fund to eligible employees of Infosys, which is a defined benefit plan as the Company has an obligation to make good the shortfall, if any, between the return from the investments of the trust and the notified interest rate.
The Company operates the defined benefit pension plan in certain overseas jurisdictions, in accordance with local laws. These plans are managed by third-party fund managers. We provide for gratuity, a defined benefit retirement plan ("the Gratuity Plan"), covering eligible employees in India. The Gratuity Plan provides a lump-sum payment to vested employees at retirement, death, incapacitation, or termination of employment, of an amount based on the respective employee's salary and the tenure of employment. The plans provide for periodic payouts after retirement and / or a lump-sum payment as set out in rules of each fund and includes death and disability benefits.

11. Provisions

Provision for post-sales client support is towards likely cost for providing client support to fixed-price and fixed-timeframe contracts.

12. Leases

Additions mainly comprise lease of computers and buildings taken on lease in certain locations outside India.

IV. Results of our operations

For details about results of our operations, refer to 'Results of our operations and state of affairs' section in the Boards' report.

During fiscal 2026, the Company continued running Project Maximus, a comprehensive margin expansion program structured across five pillars – Value-based selling; Efficient pyramid; Lean, automation and gen AI; Improving key portfolios, and Optimization of indirect costs. Value-based selling is a focused strategy to identify opportunities to align pricing to the value clients received for the services. Efficient pyramid brings in efficiencies to reduce effort costs by improving utilization, reducing sub-contractors, improving role mix, location mix, etc. Lean, Automation and gen AI is a strategic initiative to combine productivity and process improvement using automation technologies, including generative AI, to enhance efficiency. Improving key portfolios is a targeted approach to improve margins on large client engagements and service lines. Savings from Project Maximus, through the optimization of indirect costs, helped us invest in strategic areas such as talent, AI, and sales and marketing.

1. Revenue

The growth in our revenues in fiscal 2026 from fiscal 2025 is as follows:

(In ₹ crore)

Particulars	Standalone			Consolidated
	2026	2025	% change	2026	2025	% change
Revenue	1,48,819	1,36,592	9.0	1,78,650	1,62,990	9.6

The increase in revenue was primarily attributable to an increase in realization (due to role mix, improved pricing and productivity), acquisitions and currency benefit.

Revenue growth in reported terms includes the impact of currency fluctuations. We, therefore, additionally report the revenue growth in constant currency terms, which represents the real growth in revenue, excluding the impact of currency fluctuations. We calculate constant currency growth by comparing current-period revenues in respective local currencies converted to USD using prior-period exchange rates and comparing the same to our prior-period reported revenues. Our consolidated revenues in reported currency terms for fiscal 2026 is ₹1,78,650 crore, a growth of 9.6%. Our consolidated revenues for fiscal 2026 in constant currency grew by 3.1%.

We added 443 new customers (gross) during fiscal 2026 as compared to 365 new customers (gross) during fiscal 2025.

On a consolidated basis, for the year ended March 31, 2026, approximately 97.1% were export revenues whereas 2.9% were domestic revenues, while for the year ended March 31, 2025, 96.9% were export revenues whereas 3.1% were domestic revenues. Refer to the 'Segmental profitability' section in this report for more details on the analysis of segment revenues.

2. Expenditure

The following table gives an overview of the standalone and consolidated operating expenses for fiscal 2026 and fiscal 2025:

(In ₹ crore)

Particulars	Standalone				Consolidated
	2026	As a % of revenue	2025	As a % of revenue	2026	As a % of revenue	2025	As a % of revenue

Cost of technical sub-contractors	22,388	15.0%	19,353	14.2%	15,421	8.6%	12,937	7.9%
Travel expenses	1,596	1.1%	1,467	1.1%	2,097	1.2%	1,894	1.2%
Cost of software packages and others	9,274	6.2%	9,617	7.0%	15,722	8.8%	15,911	9.8%
Communication expenses	419	0.3%	448	0.3%	603	0.3%	620	0.4%
Consultancy and professional charges	1,846	1.2%	1,245	0.9%	2,090	1.2%	1,655	1.0%
Depreciation and amortization expenses	2,394	1.6%	2,619	1.9%	4,902	2.7%	4,812	3.0%
Other expenses	4,044	2.7%	3,497	2.6%	5,343	3.0%	4,787	2.9%
Total	1,15,200	77.4%	1,05,712	77.4%	1,41,272	79.1%	1,28,566	78.9%

The cost of efforts (comprising of employee benefit expenses and cost of technical sub-contractors) as a percentage of revenue has increased in fiscal 2026 compared to fiscal 2025 mainly on account of a compensation increase, reduction in utilization, and higher use of sub-contractors partially offset by an improvement in offshore mix.

Cost of software packages and others includes third-party items bought for service delivery to clients and has decresed in fiscal 2026 compared to fiscal 2025. Third-party items bought for service delivery to clients include software and hardware, which are integral to our overall service delivery to clients.

The following table additionally presents the function wise classification of operating expenses for fiscal 2026 and fiscal 2025:

(In ₹ crore)

Particulars	Standalone				Consolidated
	2026	As a % of revenue	2025	As a % of revenue	2026	As a % of revenue	2025	As a % of revenue

3. Other income and finance cost

Other income primarily includes income from investments, gain / loss on investments, foreign exchange gain / loss on forward and options contracts, foreign exchange gain / loss on translation of other assets and liabilities and interest on income tax refund. Other income for fiscal 2026 includes interest (pre-tax) on income tax refund of ₹381 crore on account of orders received under Sections 250 and 254 of the Income-tax Act, 1961, from the income tax authorities in India for certain assessment years. Other income for fiscal 2025 includes interest (pre-tax) on income tax refund of ₹327 crore on account of orders received under Section 250 of the Income-tax Act, 1961, from the income tax authorities in India for certain assessment years.

The Company received dividend of ₹2,676 crore and ₹1,522 crore from subsidiaries during fiscal 2026 and fiscal 2025, respectively, which are reflected in the Standalone Financial Statements Other Income also includes profit on sale of property, plant and equipment amounting to ₹165 crore for fiscal 2026.

Interest income in fiscal 2026 has increased as compared to fiscal 2025 primarily due to increase in investible base during the year. We use foreign exchange forward and options contracts to hedge our exposure against movements in foreign exchange rates. Finance cost is on account of leases. The lease payments are discounted using the interest rate implicit in the lease or, if not readily determinable, using the incremental borrowing rates in the country of domicile of these leases.

4. Exceptional items

On November 21, 2025, the Government of India notified provisions of the Code on Wages, 2019, the Industrial Relations Code, 2020, the Code on Social Security, 2020 and the Occupational Safety, Health and Working Conditions Code, 2020, ('Labour Codes') which consolidate 29 existing labour laws into a unified framework governing employee benefits during employment and post-employment. The Labour Codes, among other things, introduces changes, including a uniform definition of wages and enhanced benefits relating to leave. The Group has assessed the financial implications of these changes, which has resulted in increase in gratuity liability, a defined benefit plan arising from past service cost and an increase in compensated absences. Accordingly, ₹1,146 crore and ₹1,289 crore has been recognized in the Standalone and Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss, respectively, for the year ended March 31, 2026. Considering that the impact arising out of the enactment of the new legislation is an event of a non-recurring nature, the Company has presented this incremental amount as "Impact of Labour Codes" under "Exceptional Item" in the Standalone and Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss for the year ended March 31, 2026.

5. Provision for tax

We have provided for our tax liability both in India and overseas.

The applicable Indian corporate statutory tax rate for both the years ended March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025, is 25.17%. The Taxation Laws (Amendment) Act, 2019 has introduced Section 115BAA wherein a domestic company can exercise option for a reduced rate of corporate tax without claim of certain deductions mentioned therein, including deduction for SEZ units under Section 10AA of the Income-tax Act, 1961. From fiscal 2025, the Income-Tax expense of the Company has been recognized by applying the provision of Section 115BAA of the Income-tax Act without claim of deduction for SEZ units under Section 10AA of the Income-tax Act.

Particulars	Standalone		Consolidated

Effective tax rate (In %)	24.6	27.9	26.3	28.9

Effective tax rate is generally influenced by various factors, including differential tax rates, non-deductible expenses, exempt non-operating income, overseas taxes, tax reversals and provisions pertaining to prior periods, changes to tax regulations and other tax deductions. Our effective tax rate in fiscal 2026 was lower primarily on account of reversal of tax provision due to receipt of order giving effects received in fiscal 2026 for prior assessment years resulting in reduction in effective tax rate by 2.2%.

During fiscal 2026, the Company received orders under Sections 250 and 254 of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, from the Income-Tax Authorities in India for the assessment years 2013-14 and 2017-18 to 2021-22. These orders confirmed the Company's position with respect to tax treatment of certain matters. As a result, interest income (pre-tax) of ₹381 crore was recognized and provision for income tax aggregating ₹869 crore was reversed with a corresponding credit to the Statement of Profit and Loss. Also, upon resolution of the disputes, an amount aggregating to ₹86 crore has been reduced from contingent liabilities.

During fiscal 2025, the Company received orders under Section 250 of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, from the Income-Tax Authorities in India for the assessment years 2016-17 and 2019-20. These orders confirmed the Company's position with respect to tax treatment of certain matters. As a result, interest income (pre-tax) of ₹327 crore was recognized and provision for income tax aggregating to ₹183 crore was reversed with a corresponding credit to the Statement of Profit and Loss. Also, upon resolution of the disputes, an amount aggregating to ₹1,068 crore has been reduced from contingent liabilities.

7. Liquidity

Our principal source of liquidity are cash and cash equivalents and cash flow that we generate from operations. We have no outstanding borrowings. We believe our working capital is sufficient for the requirements of our business operations.

Our growth has been financed largely through cash generated from operations.

Our cash flows are robust. Our operating cash flows have decreased marginally in fiscal 2026 as compared to fiscal 2025 primarily on account of higher income tax refunds received during fiscal 2025, higher outflow on working capital and partially offset by an increase in net profits adjusted for non-cash items.

Consolidated cash and investments of ₹43,075 crore comprise cash and cash equivalents, current and non-current investments, excluding investments in equity and preference shares and others.

their evaluation as of the end of the period covered by this Integrated Annual Report , our CEO and CFO have concluded that our disclosure controls and procedures were effective to provide reasonable assurance that the information required to be disclosed in filings and submissions, is recorded, processed, summarized, and reported within the time periods specified, and that material information related to us and our consolidated subsidiaries is accumulated and communicated to the Management, including themselves as appropriate to allow timely decisions about required disclosure.

5. Infosys Leadership Institute (ILI)

As artificial intelligence continues to redefine enterprise priorities, the Infosys Leadership Institute (ILI) plays a pivotal role in building leadership capability aligned to Infosys' long-term strategic objectives. ILI's integrated leadership ecosystem is anchored around four focus areas – succession planning, leadership bench strength, development of title holders, and strengthening inclusivity in leadership – ensuring sustained leadership readiness across the organization.

ILI accelerated AI-led leadership capability through its AI for Business Growth program, delivered in partnership with Kellogg. Over the last two years, more than 1,500 senior leaders across Infosys have completed this program, complemented by focused sessions with internal leaders and external subject matter experts. A day-long AI immersion program designed for senior leaders to build hands-on experience with AI tools, including Infosys Topaz Fabric to solve real industry problems further strengthened AI fluency across our leadership. In parallel, executive leadership programs designed in partnership with Harvard Business School and MIT and delivered as week-long residential cohorts in our Mysuru campus, supported senior leaders in navigating leadership imperatives in an AI-infused context.

ILI continued to strengthen enterprise-wide succession planning through a structured, data-led approach, supported by regular reviews. Detailed leadership profiles and personalized development plans were created for leaders in critical roles, supported by executive education programs with leading global institutions and targeted external coaching for identified successors. The flagship Constellation program – designed to build a robust pipeline of high potential leaders – was refreshed to align closely with enterprise priorities. As part of the Constellation journey, leaders participated in a 10-month signature program with Oxford Saïd Business School and worked in cross-functional teams on strategically critical enterprise projects. A total of 12 Constellation projects were executed during the year, providing leaders with enterprise exposure, senior leader mentorship, and hands-on experience in solving complex organizational challenges.

ILI delivered highly personalized development experiences for title holders through a combination of internal and external programs, mentoring, coaching, and career conversations. Signature offerings included the 10-month Enterprise Leadership Program for AVPs, the Executive Communication program in partnership with The Economist for VPs, and the InFusion program for new title holders. One-on-one leadership advisory discussions not only enable deep personalization of development, they also enabled leaders to translate learning into on-the-job impact. Leadership learning continued at scale, with Infosys leaders collectively investing over 10,000 leadership learning days annually for the last two years, reflecting the relevance, quality, and sustained engagement with ILI's offerings. ILI also maintained strong feedback metrics, including a Net Promoter Score of over 96% for the third consecutive year and recognition as the top unit on Internal Partner Satisfaction for three consecutive years.

Inclusion in leadership remains a strategic priority for Infosys. The #IamtheFuture program continued to strengthen the pipeline of leaders through multi-year, role-specific development journeys focused on accelerating readiness, fostering an inclusive ecosystem, and strengthening the leadership pipeline. The program has covered over 700 leaders, helping strengthen key leadership capabilities and fostering an inclusive culture. The program has been redesigned this year to further differentiate development experiences across career stages, with a strong emphasis on application, simulations, and contextual learning.

Through a combination of world-class academic partnerships, deep internal contextualization, and trusted one-on-one advisory support, ILI remains a strategic partner to business units and leaders-enabling leadership effectiveness, succession readiness, and sustained organizational performance, culminating in being recognized as the Best Business Enabling Function (small) for 2025-26 at the Infosys Awards for Excellence.

Corporate governance report

Corporate governance guides how a company is directed and its relationships with its stakeholders. With the right structure and systems in place, good corporate governance enables companies to create an environment of trust, transparency, and accountability, which promotes long-term capital and supports economic growth and financial stability.

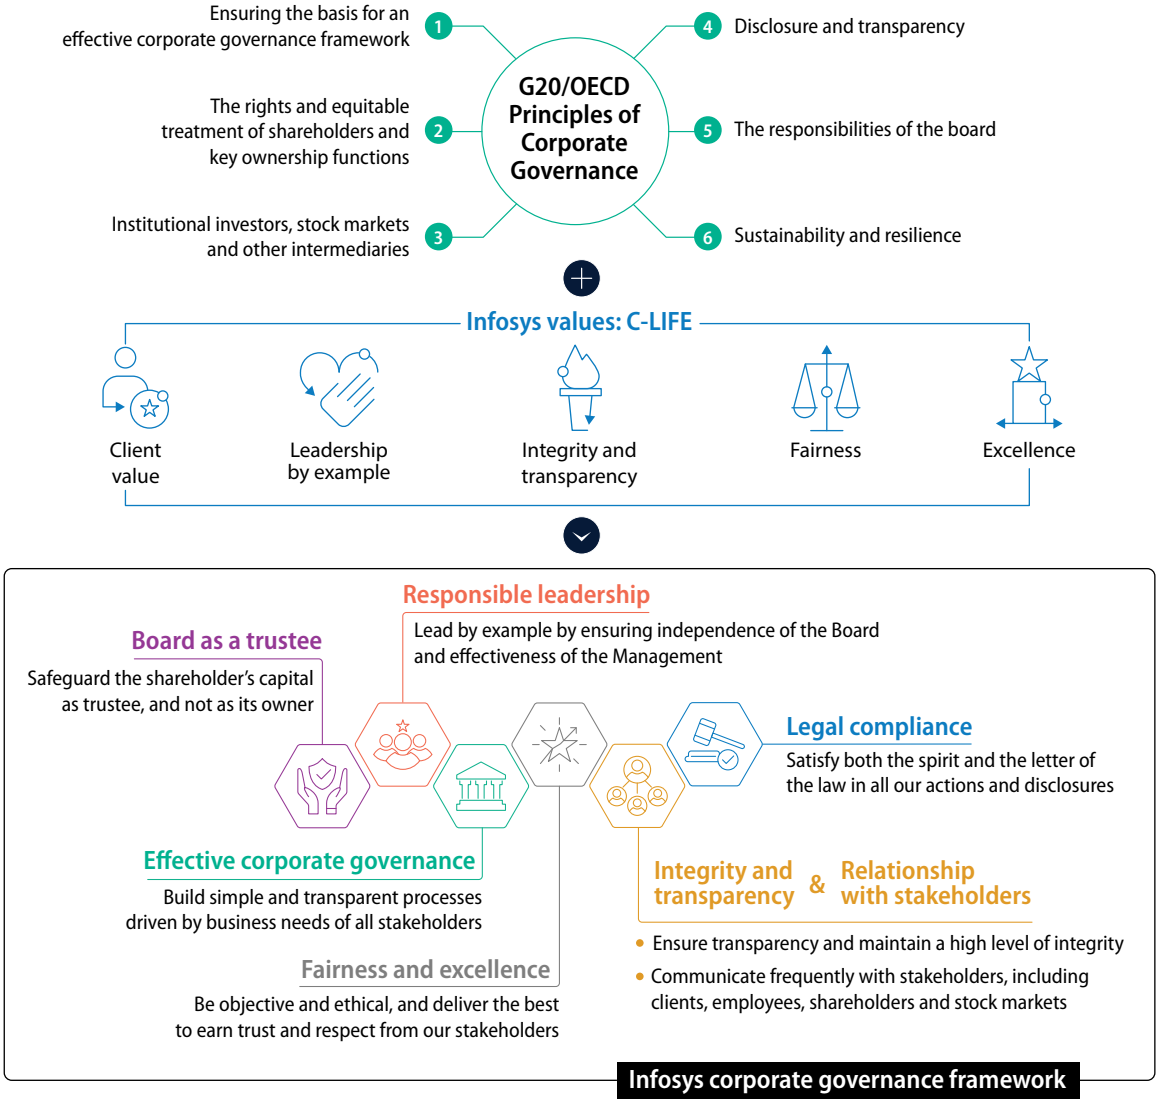

Our corporate governance philosophy

Our corporate governance reflects our value system, encompassing our culture, policies, and relationships with our stakeholders. Integrity and transparency are key to our corporate governance practices and ensure that we always gain and retain the trust of our stakeholders.

At Infosys ("the Company"), it is imperative that the Company's affairs are managed in a fair and transparent manner. This is ensured by taking ethical business decisions and conducting business with a firm commitment to values, while meeting stakeholders' expectations. We are committed to defining, following, and practicing the highest level of corporate governance across all our business functions.

Our corporate governance is a statement of the values we stand by as we conduct our business and engage with our stakeholders. The Company has been a leader in adopting internationally recognized corporate governance guidelines and has set the highest standards in abiding by them.

Our governance rests on our core value system of C-LIFE (Client value, Leadership by example, Integrity and transparency, Fairness and Excellence), and is guided by the OECD (Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development) principles. Our corporate governance framework thus encompasses:

Infosys corporate governance framework

Our corporate governance is reinforced through the Company's Code of Conduct and Ethics, corporate governance guidelines and committee charters. Our Board and Management processes, audits, and internal control systems reflect the principles of our corporate governance framework. This report provides a comprehensive overview of how our governance adheres to the seven pillars of our governance framework.

Board as a trustee

The Board recognizes its primary role of trusteeship of shareholder capital. As a trustee, it strives to ensure excellence and integrity in setting world-class corporate governance standards.

Corporate governance guidelines

Strong corporate governance is the bedrock of our sustained performance and has helped us gain the trust and respect of all our stakeholders. The enhancement of these corporate governance standards, through periodic evaluation and change, is one of the most important aspects of ensuring value creation for our stakeholders.

Our corporate governance follows the guidelines established by the Board of the Company. These guidelines provide a structure within which directors and the Management can effectively pursue the Company's objectives for the benefit of its stakeholders. These are framed in conjunction with the Company's Memorandum & Articles of Association, the charters of the committees of the Board, and applicable laws / regulations / guidelines in force in India, the US, and other jurisdictions, as applicable. The guidelines can be accessed on our website, at https://www.infosys.com/investors/corporate-governance/Documents/corporate-governance-guidelines.pdf.

Role of the Board of Directors

The primary role of the Board is that of trusteeship – to protect and enhance shareholder value. As trustees, the Board has a fiduciary responsibility to ensure that the Company has clear goals aligned to shareholder value and its growth. Further, the Board is also responsible for:

- Exercising independent judgment on corporate affairs.
- Assigning a sufficient number of non-executive members of the Board to tasks where there is a potential for conflict of interest in the exercise of independent judgment.
- Reviewing and guiding corporate strategy, major plans of action, risk policy, annual budgets, and business plans, setting performance objectives, monitoring implementation and corporate performance, and overseeing major capital expenditures, acquisitions, and divestments.

Based on the disclosures received from all independent directors and in the opinion of the Board, the independent directors fulfill the conditions specified in the Act, the Listing Regulations, the NYSE listing manual, and are independent of the Management.

Board meetings

Scheduling and selection of agenda items for Board meetings

The tentative dates of Board meetings for the next fiscal are decided in advance and published in the Integrated Annual Report. The Chairman and the Company Secretary, in consultation with the CEO & MD, and lead independent director propose the agenda for each meeting. The agenda, along with explanatory notes is circulated to the directors in advance to facilitate informed deliberation and decision-making. Every Board member can suggest the inclusion of additional items in the agenda.

The Board meets at least once a quarter to review the quarterly results and other items on the agenda. Additional meetings are held when necessary. Independent directors are expected to attend at least four quarterly Board meetings and the Annual General Meeting (AGM). However, with the Board represented by independent directors from various parts of the world, it may not be possible for all of them to be physically present at every meeting. Hence, we provide video / teleconferencing facilities to enable their participation.

The Board members are expected to rigorously prepare, attend, and participate in the Board and applicable committee meetings. Each member is expected to ensure their other commitments do not materially interfere with their responsibilities towards the Company.

Meeting of independent directors

For the Board to exercise free and fair judgment in all matters related to the functioning of the Company as well as the Board, it is important for the independent directors to have meetings without the presence of the executive management.

Schedule IV of the Act and the Rules thereunder mandate that the independent directors of the Company shall hold at least one meeting in a financial year, without the attendance of non-independent directors and members of the Management. Even before the Act came into effect, our Board's process mandated periodic meetings attended exclusively by the independent directors.

During the year, the independent directors met four times without the presence of executive directors and management. At such meetings, the independent directors discuss, among other matters, the performance of the Company and risks faced by it, the flow of information to the Board, competition, strategy, leadership strengths and weaknesses, governance, compliance, Board movements, succession planning, human resources matters, and the performance of the executive members of the Board, committees, and the Chairman.

Responsible leadership

Leading by example is a key tenet of corporate governance at Infosys. Both the Board and the Management work together to set the highest standards of responsible leadership.

Responsibilities of the Board leadership

We believe that an active, well-informed, diversified, and independent board is necessary to ensure the highest standards of corporate governance. The CEO & MD acts as a link between the Board and the Management and is also responsible for leading and evaluating the work of other executive leaders.

Lead Independent Director

The lead independent director was appointed by the Board to ensure robust independent leadership of the Board. The general authority and responsibilities of the lead independent director are decided by the group of independent directors. Selection and appointment of new directors

Training of Board members

All new non-executive directors inducted to the Board are introduced to our Company culture through orientation sessions. Executive directors and senior management provide an overview of operations and familiarize the new non-executive directors on matters related to our values and commitments. They are also introduced to the organization structure, services, Group structure and subsidiaries, constitution, Board procedures, matters reserved for the Board, major risks, and risk management strategy. The details of the familiarization program are also available on the Company's website, at https://www.infosys.com/investors/reports-filings/Documents/training-board-members2026.pdf.

Non-executive and independent directors of the Board are familiarized through engagements, such as:

Strategy retreat: We organize periodic management strategy retreat with the Board to deliberate on various topics related to strategic planning, progress of ongoing strategic initiatives, risks to strategy execution, and the need for new strategic programs to achieve the Company's long-term objectives. This provides the Board members a platform to bring their expertise to various strategic initiatives, while also giving them an opportunity to understand detailed aspects of execution and challenges relating to the specific theme.

Through this process, members of the Board can interact closely with the senior leadership of the Company and get a comprehensive and balanced perspective on the strategic issues facing the Company, the competitive differentiation being pursued by the Company, and an overview of the execution plan.

During the year, the following trainings were organized for the Board:

Geopolitical impact and preparedness:

Board members were given insights into geopolitical variables such as foreign trade policy, technical / AI competition, immigration, and international relations that may impact the business. The Management team also briefed the Board members on the Company's preparedness to deal with the evolving situations.

Evolving Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) landscape:

The Board noted the evolving global ESG landscape and its implications for the IT sector. Key trends highlighted included AI-driven emissions growth, increasing exposure to extreme weather risks, the expansion of green technology markets, and rapid shifts in workforce skill requirements. The training also covered the highlights of peer practices across sustainability solutions, inclusive hiring, employee development, and governance disclosures, emphasizing rising stakeholder expectations for transparent ESG reporting and demonstrable, verified outcomes. The training also covered updates on significant regulatory developments relevant for readiness planning, including the EU's simplified CSRD requirements, emerging climate disclosure regulations in California and New York, India's phased climate finance taxonomy, and SEBI's revised timelines for BRSR value chain reporting.

The training underscored the Board's expanding role in ESG oversight, highlighting the need to strengthen governance structures, enhance ESG competencies, improve the flow of ESG-related information, integrate sustainability into strategy and enterprise risk management, and align leadership remuneration with ESG performance metrics.

Fairness and excellence

Two of the core values of our C-LIFE, fairness and excellence, are evident in the workings of the Board, its evaluation, and the compensation paid to the directors and the executive leadership.

Board member evaluation

One of the key functions of the Board is to monitor and review the Board evaluation framework. The Board works with the Nomination and Remuneration Committee to lay down the evaluation criteria for the performance of the Chairman, the Board, Board committees, and executive / non-executive / independent directors through peer evaluation, excluding the director being evaluated.

Independent directors have three key roles – governance, control, and guidance. Some performance indicators, based on which the independent directors are evaluated, include:

- The ability to contribute to and monitor our corporate governance practices
- The ability to contribute by introducing international best practices to address business challenges and risks
- Active participation in long-term strategic planning
- Commitment to the fulfillment of a director's obligations and fiduciary responsibilities; these include participation in Board and committee meetings.
- To undertake a formal and rigorous Board review annually, in order to improve the effectiveness of the Board; its committees; and that of each individual director.

The Board had engaged Egon Zehnder, a leadership advisory firm on board matters, to conduct the Board evaluation for fiscal 2026. The evaluation process focused on Board dynamics, softer aspects, committee effectiveness, and information flow to the Board or its committees, among other matters. The methodology included various techniques, such as questionnaires, and one-on-one discussions, etc. The aspects of succession planning and committee composition were also considered. The Board evaluation process was completed during fiscal 2026. During the year, the recommendations of the previous year's Board evaluation were discussed with the Board, and individual feedback was provided. Progress on recommendations from last year and the current year's recommendations were discussed.

Further, the evaluation process was based on the affirmation received from the independent directors that they met the independence criteria as required under the Act, the Listing Regulations, and the NYSE listing manual.

Board and executive leadership compensation

Executive leadership compensation

Our executive compensation programs encourage reward for performance. A significant portion of the executives' total rewards is tied to the delivery of long-term corporate performance goals to align with the interests of the shareholders.

As required under the Listing Regulations, the Nomination and Remuneration Committee recommends to the Board the payment of remuneration to the directors, KMP, and senior management. The Nomination and Remuneration Policy of the Company is available on our website, at https://www.infosys.com/investors/corporate-governance/documents/nomination-remuneration-policy.pdf.

Non-executive and non-independent chairman's compensation

Nandan M. Nilekani, Chairman, voluntarily chose not to receive any remuneration for his services rendered to the Company.

Independent directors' compensation

The compensation payable to the independent directors is limited to a fixed amount per year as determined and approved by the Board, the sum of which does not exceed 1% of net profit for the year, calculated as per the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013. The Board reviews the performance of independent directors on an annual basis.

The Board, while deciding the basis for determining the compensation of the independent directors, takes various things into consideration. These include global board compensation benchmarking, participation of individual directors in Board and committee meetings, other responsibilities, such as membership or chairmanship of committees, time spent in carrying out other duties, roles, and functions as prescribed in Schedule IV of the Companies Act, 2013, Listing Regulations, and such other factors as the Board deems fit.

Shareholders at the 34th AGM held on June 22, 2015 approved a sum not exceeding 1% of the net profit of the Company per annum, calculated in accordance with the provisions of Section 198 of the Companies Act, 2013, to be paid and distributed among some or all of the non-executive directors of the Company in a manner decided by the Board. This payment will be made with respect to the profits of the Company for each year.

The amount payable to the independent directors for the year ended March 31, 2026 is ₹ 19.91 crore. Additionally, independent directors are also reimbursed for expenses incurred in the performance of their official duties. We confirm that none of the non-executive directors received remuneration amounting to 50% of the total remuneration paid to non-executive directors during the year ended March 31, 2026.

The aggregate amount of remuneration (commission) was arrived at using the following criteria:

Particulars	in ₹ crore	in US$
Fixed Board fee	1.42	150,000
Board / committee attendance fee[1]	0.24	25,000
Non-executive chairman fee	2.85	300,000
Chairperson – Audit Committee	0.47	50,000
Members – Audit Committee	0.28	30,000
Chairperson – other committees	0.28	30,000
Members – other committees	0.19	20,000
Travel fee (per meeting)[2]	0.09	10,000
Incidental fees (per meeting)[3]	0.01	1,000
Lead Independent Director	0.28	30,000

Notes: 1 US$ = ₹94.84 as on March 31, 2026

The payment is subject to deduction of tax at source (TDS) as required by applicable tax laws.

(1) The Company normally has five regular Board meetings in a year. Independent directors are expected to attend at least four quarterly Board meetings and the AGM.

(2) For directors based overseas, the travel fee shown is per Board meeting. This is based on the fact that additional travel time of two days will have to be accommodated for independent directors to attend Board meetings in India.

(3) For directors based overseas, incidental fees shown is per Board meeting. This fee is paid to independent directors for expenses incurred during their travel to attend Board meetings in India.

The Board believes that the above compensation structure is commensurate with global best practices in terms of remunerating non-executive / independent directors of a company of similar size, and adequately compensates for the time and contribution made by our non-executive / independent directors.

Indemnification agreements

We have also entered into agreements to indemnify our directors and officers for claims brought against them to the fullest extent permitted under applicable law. These agreements, among other things, indemnify our directors and officers for certain expenses, judgments, fines and settlement amounts incurred by any such person in any action or proceedings, including any action by or in the right of the Company, arising out of such persons' services as our director or officer, expenses in relation to public relations consultation, if required.

Agreements binding listed entities

Pursuant to Regulation 30A of the Listing Regulations, no agreement has been entered or executed by the shareholders, promoters, promoter group entities, related parties, directors, key managerial personnel and employees of the Company and its subsidiaries during fiscal 2026.

Materially significant related party transactions

Integrity and transparency & Relationship with stakeholders

Our Company upholds integrity and transparency in all transactions and communications with stakeholders. Our stakeholders are our partners in our journey to sustained value creation and therefore, our relationship with stakeholders and clear communication with them is at the center of all disclosures and reports.

Corporate

Infosys was incorporated in Pune, in 1981, as Infosys Consultants Private Limited, a private limited company under the Companies Act, 1956. In 1983, the corporate headquarters were relocated to Bengaluru. The name of the Company was changed to Infosys Technologies Private Limited in April 1992 and to Infosys Technologies Limited in June 1992, when the Company became a public limited company. We made an Initial Public Offering (IPO) in February 1993 and were listed on stock exchanges in India in June 1993. Trading opened at ₹145 per share, compared to the IPO price of ₹95 per share. In October 1994, we made a private placement of 5,50,000 shares at ₹450 each to Foreign Institutional Investors (FIIs), Financial Institutions (FIs), and body corporates.

On March 11, 1999, Infosys listed on NASDAQ, becoming the first Indian company to do so. We issued 20,70,000 American Depositary Shares (ADSs) (equivalent to 10,35,000 equity shares of par value ₹10 each) at US$34 per ADS under the ADS Program, and these ADSs were listed on the NASDAQ National Market.

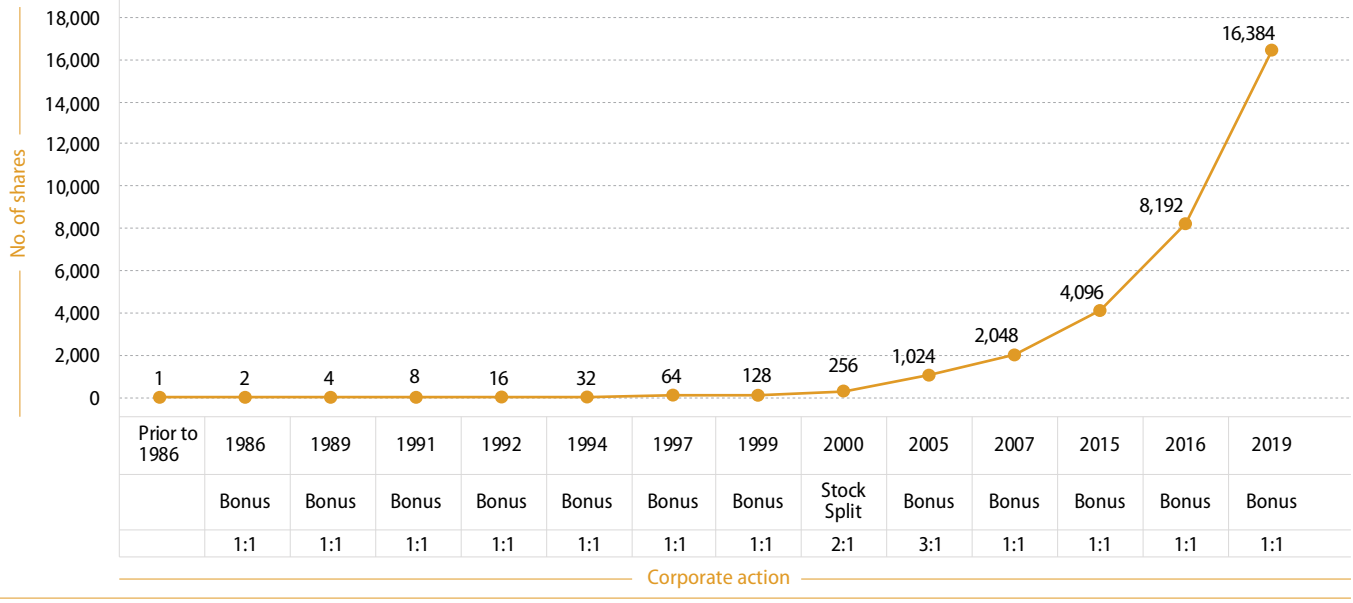

The share data mentioned before is unadjusted for stock split and bonus shares. In July 2003, June 2005. and November 2006, we issued secondary-sponsored American Depositary Receipts (ADRs) of US$294 million, US$1.1 billion, and US$1.6 billion, respectively.

During fiscal 2012, the name of the Company was changed from Infosys Technologies Limited to Infosys Limited to mark the transition from being a technology services provider to a business transformation partner to our clients.

During fiscal 2013, we delisted our ADSs from NASDAQ, and listed them on the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE), Euronext, London and Euronext Paris. During fiscal 2019, the Company voluntarily delisted from Euronext London and Paris due to low trading volume. Infosys equity shares and ADSs are listed on the NSE and BSE in India and on the NYSE, respectively, under the symbol "INFY".

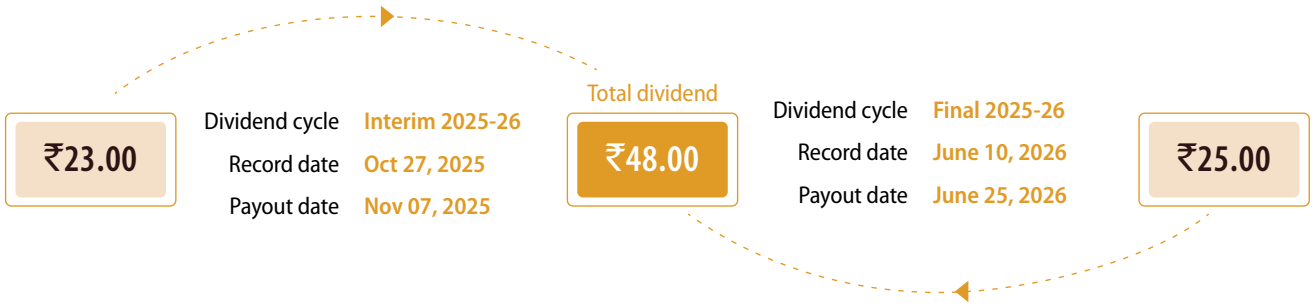

Bonus issues and stock split

Note:
The above graph depicts the increase in the number of Infosys shares as a result of the Company's bonus issues over the years and a stock split in 2000 in the ratio of 2:1. For example, if the investor / shareholder held one share in 1986 prior to the bonus issue and continued to hold it, he would have 16,384 shares today owing to the bonus share issues and stock split.

Risk management report

"Over the last fiscal year, businesses worldwide have faced significant challenges due to geopolitical shifts, economic uncertainties, supply chain disruptions, evolving regulations, advances in artificial intelligence, technology upheavals, and cybersecurity risks. These factors have collectively impacted operations and decision-making. Amidst this landscape, our enterprise risk management processes were instrumental in guiding the Company's focus and ensuring we prioritized what mattered most to our stakeholders. By proactively identifying and addressing emerging threats, we maintained resilience and adaptability, allowing us to navigate complexities and uphold our commitment to our stakeholders."

Deepak Bhalla
EVP – Chief Risk Officer

Note: The risk-related information outlined in this section may not be exhaustive. The discussion may contain statements that are forward-looking in nature. Our business is subject to uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those reflected in the forward-looking statements. If any of the risks materializes, our business, financial conditions or prospects could be materially and adversely affected. Our business, operating results, financial performance, or prospects could also be harmed by risks and uncertainties not currently known to us or that we currently do not believe are material. Readers are advised to refer to the detailed discussion of risk factors and related disclosures in our regulatory filings and exercise their own judgment in assessing risks associated with the Company.

Our Enterprise Risk Management (ERM) function enables the achievement of the Company's strategic objectives by identifying, analyzing, assessing, mitigating, monitoring, and governing any risk or potential threat to these objectives. While this is the key driver, our values, culture, and commitment to stakeholders – employees, customers, investors, regulatory bodies, partners, and the community around us – are the foundation of our ERM framework. The systematic and proactive identification of risks, and mitigation thereof, enables our organization to boost performance with effective and timely decision-making. Strategic decisions are taken after careful consideration of primary, secondary, consequential, and residual risks. The ERM function also enables effective resource allocation through structured qualitative and quantitative risk impact assessment and prioritization based on our risk appetite, which is defined through the ERM framework. During the assessment, impacts and likelihood or probability of the risks are assessed using a four-point scale, and risks are categorized into four categories based on this. Risks are mitigated in the order of criticality starting with critical risks, followed by high and medium risks. Low impact is the default risk appetite for all risks, supported by impact definitions, robust preventive, detective, and corrective controls, and strong governance mechanisms to manage risks and ensure residual risk exposures remain within acceptable limits.

Our ERM framework also enables the identification of underlying opportunities during risk assessment, which are then further evaluated and actionized by the business. Our ERM framework encompasses all of the Company's risks – strategy and strategy execution; operational; legal and compliance risks. These categories can also have internal or external dimensions. Hence, appropriate risk indicators are used to identify these risks proactively. We take cognizance of risks emanating internally or externally and their cumulative impact while framing our risk responses.

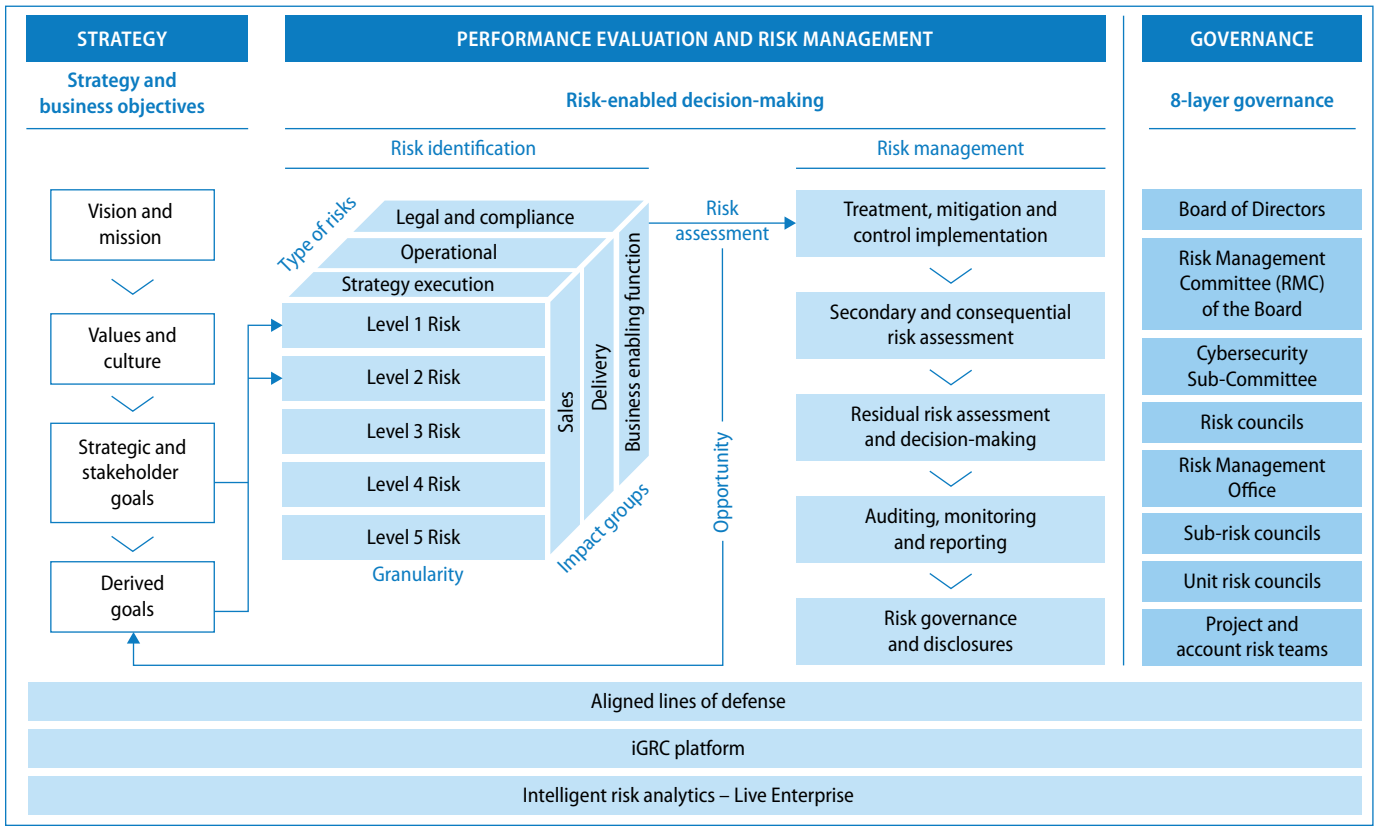

Emerging risks: Our ERM framework has defined a process to identify, assess, plan, and monitor risks emerging from internal and external environment which enables the Company to build and maintain resilience in uncertain times. The process includes horizon scanning and SWOT analysis, which cover political, economic, social, technological, legal and environmental aspects. The emerging risks are monitored constantly and discussed in the risk councils and with the Risk Management Committee (RMC) of the Board on a periodic basis.

Strategy and strategy execution	The risks arising out of the choices we have made in defining our strategy and the risks to the successful execution of our strategy are covered in this category. For example, risks inherent to our industry and our competitiveness are analyzed and mitigated through strategic choices of target markets, our market offerings, business model and talent base.
Operational	The risks affecting our policies, procedures, people and systems, thereby impacting service delivery or operations, or compromising our core values or business practices are covered in this category. For example, risks such as inefficiencies in internal processes, human rights, fraud risks, business activity disruptions due to natural calamities, climate change events, human conflicts, system failures and cybersecurity attacks.
Legal and compliance	The risks arising out of threats posed to our financial, organizational, or reputational standing resulting from litigations, non-conformance with laws, regulatory or geopolitical developments, codes of conduct and contractual compliances are covered in this category.

Integrated Enterprise Risk Management Framework

We have adopted an integrated ERM framework that is implemented across the organization by the Risk Management Office. Our ERM framework incorporates the best practices based on COSO and ISO 31000 and is tailored to suit our unique business requirements.

Integrated Enterprise Risk Management Framework

Risk management at Infosys encompasses all areas, including first, second, and third lines of defence. Risk management is embedded into the core business process and day-to-day decision-making of every function within the Company and forms an integral part of the development process and project execution. Risk management has been embedded into the job description of senior management, middle management, and employees who engage with clients. Achieving strategic goals by proactively managing the risks is the responsibility of the Company's management at all levels. Financial incentives are linked to the achievement of strategic goals. As the first line of defense, they evaluate risks and opportunities before taking key business decisions. This first line works closely with corporate ERM through risk councils and sub-risk councils created across the organization in different units.

The second line of defence consists of various risk functions such as Information Security Group (ISG), Data Privacy Office (DPO), Quality, Delivery Risk Management (DRM), Business Continuity, Legal, Compliance, etc., who work closely with the ERM function in identifying, assessing, reporting and governing the risks. While risks are largely mitigated by the first line / business, they are tracked and governed by the second line. They are reported to the executive leadership through various councils, including the Operational Risk Council (ORC) and the Legal & Compliance Risk Council (LCRC). These key risks are also presented to the Risk Management Committee (RMC) of the Board on a quarterly basis.

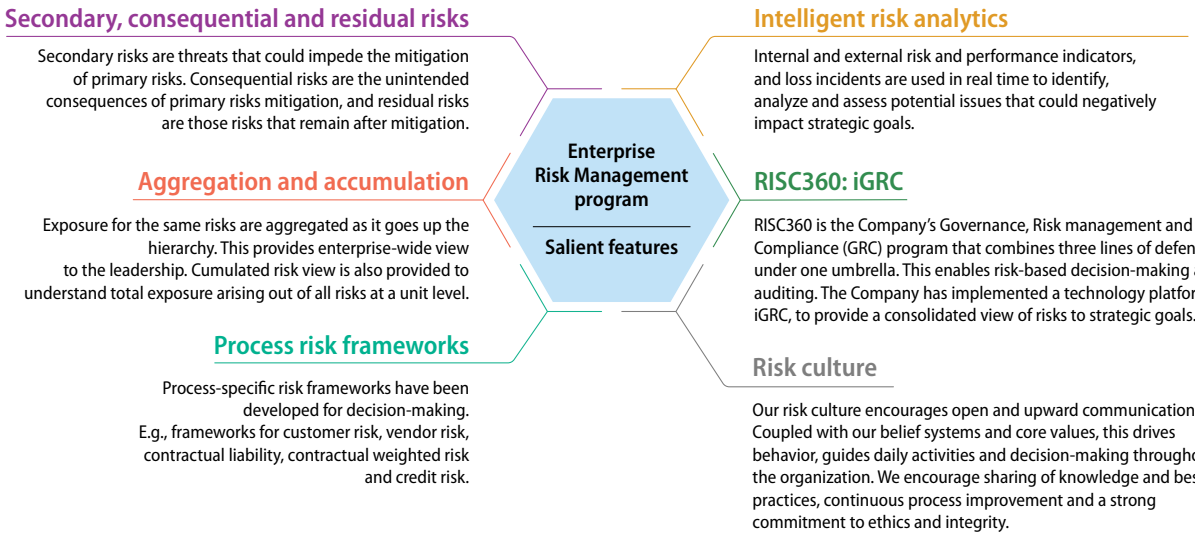

The third line of defense encompasses internal audit, which reviews various risks and controls on a periodic basis to assess the effectiveness of the risk management process and reports independently. Inputs on key risks by the ERM are considered while drafting the audit plan. The Company maintains a single hierarchical risks repository from L1 to L5, covering strategic to tactical risks. All these are governed by the integrated ERM framework of the Company. This is how all lines of defense are aligned as depicted in the ERM framework above.

The Company also conducts maturity assessment of the ERM process on a periodic basis by an independent external agency. The maturity assessment was conducted in March 2024.

Risk management is embedded throughout the organization. The environment to take risk-enabled decisions and the establishment of forums to accelerate decisions to identify and mitigate risks are the hallmarks of a good risk culture. At Infosys, this is enabled through the implementation of the integrated ERM framework. This is a decision support system for the executive leadership. A multi-layered governance structure provides open forums for risk discussions at various levels. Comprehensive awareness and training programs are conducted on a regular basis for all the employees and contractors to cover risks applicable to the business. Lex, our in-house learning platform, offers various risk management courses, which are accessible from anywhere in the world. Periodic table-top exercises are conducted in key areas to review preparedness for high-impact, low-probability risks.

Salient features of our Enterprise Risk Management program

Our ERM program adopts unique methods to identify risks, evaluate potential impact and promote risk awareness across the organization.

Highlights of fiscal 2026

During fiscal 2026, various risks management initiatives were undertaken so as to ensure the smooth delivery of services to our clients, transparent communication with all stakeholders, fulfilment of our social responsibility while ensuring employee safety and health by strengthening risk management program and enhancing the risk culture. While the Company tracks several risks to its business, the key risks and emerging risks are described below along with the Company's approach to mitigate them.

Key / Emerging risks	Impact on Company	Mitigation / Opportunity
Geopolitical, macroeconomic or health events	• Our revenues are concentrated in a few geographies and client industries, and a large part of our revenue is dependent on a limited number of clients. Unfavorable geopolitical, economic, or health events may result in currency volatility and reduced spend on technology products and services that may adversely impact demand for our offerings, which in turn may impact our growth and profitability. • Emerging risk aspect: Geopolitical, economic or health events are dynamic in nature and constantly evolving. Uncertainty and unpredictability of policy changes by governments such as tariffs, trade restrictions etc., sometimes make it difficult to predict and assess the impact. • Impacted capitals: Financial, Social & Relationship and Human	• Broad-based growth to reduce concentration in any single region, client or industry • Monitor geopolitical and macroeconomic scenarios, identify potential business impact and implement additional controls to build operational agility to respond to situations • Implement currency hedging best practices to minimize the impact due to the volatility • Implement strong business continuity protocols and proactive resilience measures in the regions affected by the geopolitical conflicts to ensure uninterrupted delivery of critical operations and minimize disruptions • Hybrid working model to address evolving geopolitical risks • Diversified supply chain to address potential disruptions due to geopolitical conflicts, tariff or trade restrictions • Acquisitions to expand our footprint in newer areas or regions • Opportunity – Clients are looking for cost takeout projects and vendor consolidation

Artificial Intelligence (AI) risks	• If we are unable to transform existing services by leveraging AI and / or scale new AI-first service offerings to meet evolving customer requirements, this could affect our win rates, reduce our market share and decrease our revenue and profits. • Impacted capitals: Financial and Intellectual	• Differentiation of services through constant innovation and developing industry solutions meeting client requirements leveraging AI • Continued investments to identify, incubate, develop and launch innovative AI-first offerings • Implement proactive measures to identify and mitigate operational issues • Implement AI talent transformation strategy to build an ambidextrous organization • Build deep AI engineering expertise
Global Capability Centers (GCCs) risks	• Customers looking inwards by insourcing or establishing or expanding GCCs for various services provided by us may result in loss of addressable market share, thus impacting overall growth and profitability. • Impacted capitals: Financial and Intellectual	• Collaboration and co-creation to address the GCC business requirements • Set up and scale GCC practice to cater to different types of engagement models like assisted GCC build, build-operate-transfer, captive carveouts etc. • AI-first model that transforms GCCs into innovation hubs
Technology disruption and innovation	• Emerging risk: Not having the right framework and approach to identify, invest in, incubate and operationalize new services and offerings that are in line with technology changes like AI, client preferences and market expectations may disrupt our value proposition and reduce our relevance to customers, impacting our revenue and profitability. The speed and nature of technological changes make it difficult to predict the trend. • Impacted capitals: Financial, Human and Intellectual	• Innovation council led by executive leadership to identify and incubate next big bets through innovation framework • Joint innovation showcases with clients, industry forums, alliances, partners, academia, etc. • Investments in research and development to develop consulting and industry-domain knowledge-led solutions • Reskilling program for employees in newer technologies and methodologies • Large deal specific investments to drive innovation, enhance productivity and enhance industry-domain expertise • Invest in / develop alliances or partnerships with emerging technology firms • Opportunity – Identify, develop and deploy new offerings to customers leveraging next-generation technologies
Talent supply constraints	• As of March 31, 2026, we have 3,28,594 employees across the globe. Our success depends on our highly skilled technology, AI and management talent. If we are unable to attract, hire, engage, motivate, reskill and retain technology, AI and management talent, manage leadership succession and transition, reshape the talent model driven by AI strategy at speed, respect and protect human rights, continuously evolve our hybrid work model in response to changing needs and expectations, it could impact our reputation, ability to staff projects or execute large and complex programs, or optimize cost structures. • Impacted capitals: Financial, Human, Intellectual and Manufactured	• Focused efforts to improve the recruitment and employee onboarding cycle time • Employee engagement and support initiatives to increase the new employee connect with the organization • Holistic employee retention and recognition efforts for key and tenured employees • Focused career and leadership development programs to develop next-gen leaders • Hybrid operational model that balances client requirements, evolving employee preferences, legal requirements and information security risks • Redesign career architecture to future-proof the organization • Develop a future-ready workforce leveraging our global learning infrastructure

Cybersecurity	• Cyber threats evolve rapidly, and there have in the past and could in the future be a scenario where we are unable to adapt our threat detection and prevention measures to detect or prevent new, modified, or evolving threats to our solutions and / or product offerings. • Cyber attacks that breach our information network or failure to protect sensitive and confidential information of our stakeholders in accordance with applicable laws and contractual obligations may adversely impact our operations and client satisfaction or result in significant regulatory penalties. • Impacted capitals: Financial, Human, Intellectual and Manufactured	• Robust cybersecurity strategy, framework, processes, policies and controls to enhance cyber resilience • Multi-layered governance process with executive and Board oversight to review the cybersecurity risks and our preparedness to mitigate and respond to such risks • Continued investment in technologies to address risks posed by evolving cyber threat landscape • Close collaboration with cyber intelligence and forensic consultants to identify and prepare for emerging cybersecurity threats, periodic table-top exercises, and maintain the cybersecurity crisis plan up to date • Regular cybersecurity awareness programs and trainings with strong consequence management process • Trainings and workshops for employees on security by design • Strong encryption, data backup and recovery mechanism to ensure business continuity during any crisis • The Cyber Risk Assessment Framework aligned to ISO 31000, ISO 27001, and ISO 27005 • Opportunity – Cybersecurity services to the customer

Cost inflation / Inability to improve margin	• If we are unable to run our operations effectively and with sustainable cost levers, our long-term profitability may be adversely affected. • Impacted capitals: Financial	• Effective operations with sustainable cost optimization and margin improvement levers • Automation and planned capex program focused on technology adoption for efficiencies
Environment, Social, Governance (ESG) ambition	• Our reputation, access to capital and longer-term financial stability could be at risk if we are unable to meet our stated goals under our ESG 2030 Vision. For example, climate change risks are increasingly manifesting in our business as strategic, physical and transitional (market and compliance) risks, which if not managed adequately, can affect our operations, reputation and profitability. For more details, visit https://www.infosys.com/about/esg/esg-vision-2030.html. • Emerging risk aspect: Expectations on ESG are changing and may change further due to evolving stakeholder expectations and regulatory requirements. • Impacted capitals: Financial, Human, Intellectual, Natural, Social & Relationship and Manufactured	• ESG 2030 ambitions and execution roadmap with dedicated owners for each of the ambitions • Board-level governance and oversight through dedicated ESG Committee of the Board • Periodic risk assessments to identify, assess, and mitigate the risks to ESG ambitions • ESG ambitions aligned with the strategy • Regular monitoring of regulatory landscape • Opportunity – Climate change-related solutions and services to the customer

Contractual liabilities	• Risk of clients demanding more favorable terms, including onerous clauses related to the liability and our inability to adhere to contractual obligations with customers may lead to litigations, fines, and may adversely impact our reputation, revenue and profitability. • Impacted capitals: Social & Relationship and Financial	• Engaging clients on contractual terms through dedicated in-house team • Contract legal playbook with risk framework to identify the high-risk clauses and plan appropriate controls to mitigate the risks • Multi-layered governance process for contract approval • Dedicated teams to adhere to, monitor and audit contractual obligations • Comprehensive Board-level monitoring, reporting and governance of contractual risks

Cybersecurity risk management

Cyber risks, being one of the key risks, is managed through multi-layered controls with a defence-in-depth approach starting from the cybersecurity strategy, supplemented by policies, processes and controls (preventive, detective, and corrective). Our strategy is focused on four areas: Transparency and experience; continual improvement and compliance; cyber resilience; and building and maintaining a positive cybersecurity culture within the organization. A high-level working group, the enterprise Information Security Council (ISC), has been established, which is responsible for governing and overseeing the Information Security Management System (ISMS) at Infosys. ISC focuses on establishing, directing, monitoring, and executing the information security program with representation from various departments and business units at Infosys and reports to the Operational Risk Council highlighting key risks to the executive leadership.

Business Responsibility and Sustainability Report

Sustainability and responsible business are foundational to Infosys' purpose and the way we create long term value.

Our purpose is to amplify human potential and create the next opportunity for people, businesses, and communities through innovative technology and effective solutions. From our inception, we have sought to earn the enduring trust and respect of all stakeholders by building a business that is ethical, transparent, and responsive to the needs of society and the planet. ESG is not an adjunct to our strategy – it is embedded in our decisions, operations, and governance, shaping how we grow, innovate, and lead responsibly.

We adopted the GRI Framework in 2008 and in fiscal 2013, we were among the first companies to publish the Business Responsibility Report (BRR). We continue to adopt the GRI standard for our ESG practices and disclosures.

The BRSR follows the National Guidelines on Responsible Business Conduct (NGRBC) principles on the social, environmental and economic responsibilities of business.

Our BRSR includes our responses to questions about our practices and performance on key principles defined by Regulation 34(2)(f) of the SEBI (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations 2015 as amended from time to time, which cover topics across all ESG dimensions.

7. Statement by director responsible for the business responsibility report, highlighting ESG-related challenges, targets and achievements

"Infosys continues to advance its commitment to building a sustainable, resilient, and purpose-driven enterprise, guided by its ESG Vision 2030. This vision anchors our overall strategy to strengthen governance, drive environmental stewardship, foster an inclusive and diverse workplace, and leverage technology to create long-term value for all stakeholders.

Our strategic priorities remain focused on accelerating our climate commitments, enabling large-scale skilling, and embedding responsible practices across our operations and value chain. These priorities are aligned to evolving stakeholder expectations and material ESG considerations. We operate in a dynamic global environment shaped by climate transition imperatives, rapid technological change, increasing regulatory requirements, and heightened expectations around transparency and accountability. In this context, we continued to enhance our ESG frameworks and disclosures during the year. In fiscal 2026, Infosys made steady progress across its ESG commitments, supported by robust governance mechanisms, defined performance metrics, and active stakeholder engagement. At the same time, we continued to navigate challenges relating to climate transition, talent transformation, and a complex macroeconomic environment. Overall, our performance reflects continued progress toward our stated ESG targets. We remain committed to strengthening our execution, improving transparency, and driving measurable outcomes across environmental, social, and governance dimensions.

Looking ahead, we expect continued evolution in regulatory landscapes, stakeholder expectations, and climate-related risks. Infosys remains confident in its strategy and will continue to enhance its ESG practices to drive sustainable, inclusive, and responsible growth.

Information on our ESG-related challenges, targets, performance, and key achievements are detailed in our ESG Report. You may also refer to 'Approaching Value Creation' and 'Delivering Value' chapters of this Integrated Annual Report."

10. Health and safety management system:

10a. Whether an occupational health and safety management system has been implemented by the entity? (Yes / No). If yes, the coverage of such system?

Yes. At Infosys, Health, Safety and Environment (HSE) is an integral part of our ESG framework. Our Health, Safety and Environmental Management System (HSEMS), known as 'Ozone', is anchored in strong management commitment, compliance with applicable legal requirements, and the expectations of our stakeholders.

Ozone has not only enabled assurance of our structured and well-established processes through globally recognized certifications, but it has also cultivated a strong culture of safety and well-being across the organization. Our robust HSEMS has enabled Infosys to achieve ISO 45001:2018 (Occupational Health & Safety) certifications at locations where the system has been in place for over three years. These certifications encompass all India locations and Australia offices, including Infosys Limited and its subsidiaries, in line with our enterprise HSE strategy. Currently, over 85% of Infosys' employees are covered by ISO 45001 certification, highlighting our commitment to employee safety. The HSEMS is globally implemented across locations based on legal requirements and internal benchmarks, and it is included in our internal audit program to ensure consistent governance and performance.

Infosys provides the highest priority to the health, safety, and well-being of its employees and key stakeholders. Our HSE Policy clearly articulates our philosophy and commitment towards proactively managing significant HSE risks and opportunities. To further strengthen occupational health outcomes, Infosys has introduced various initiatives focused on mental and emotional health, ergonomics, safety, lifestyle diseases, and preventive care. Occupational Health Centers are active across all our India campuses, supporting a comprehensive approach to employee health and well-being.

10b. What are the processes used to identify work-related hazards and assess risks on a routine and non-routine basis by the entity?

Infosys follows a structured approach to identify work-related hazards and assess risks across both routine and non-routine activities. Hazard identification and risk assessments are proactively carried out for existing, new, and modified activities, processes, and services, as well as in response to regulatory updates. Routine risk assessments include periodic workplace and ergonomic evaluations, monitoring utility operations, and reviewing employee commute risks. Non-routine tasks such as construction, infrastructure development, preventive maintenance, and facility modifications undergo specific risk assessments before and during their execution. Incidents and near misses are analyzed quarterly to identify trends and emerging risks. Hazards are prioritized and mitigated using the hierarchy of controls, followed by reassessment of residual risks and updates to the risk control matrix as required. Employee and stakeholder participation is integral to the risk assessment process, and learnings from past projects and current operations are incorporated continuously.

10c. Whether you have processes for workers to report the work-related hazards and to remove themselves from such risks. (Y / N)

Yes. Infosys has a robust incident reporting and management process to ensure that all work-related incidents - such as accidents, near misses, unsafe acts, and unsafe conditions - are properly reported, investigated, and resolved with suitable corrective actions. Employees can report health and safety concerns via the Infosys Helpdesk (IHD) or designated email addresses. Contract staff without system access inform their supervisors, who then escalate the issue to the local HSE team. All incidents are subject to root cause analysis, and corrective as well as preventive measures are implemented to avoid recurrence or potential injuries and losses. Employee awareness of incident reporting is strengthened through induction programs, online training modules (Lex), and targeted awareness campaigns and mailers. Learnings and corrective actions are actively shared across locations to promote consistent application and prevent future incidents.

10d. Do the employees/ worker of the entity have access to non-occupational medical and healthcare services?

Yes. Well-equipped Occupational Health Centers (OHCs), including physiotherapy facilities, are located across Infosys campuses in India. All statutory and applicable norms are ensured, with competent medical professionals working through accredited partner hospitals to manage the OHCs and physiotherapy centers. Periodic health risk assessments are performed to monitor health trends, facilitating timely specialist consultations and targeted interventions.

Infosys proactively addresses employee well-being by offering a broad range of initiatives, including structured workshops, awareness campaigns, regular health check-ups, online chat sessions, counseling services (like Samaritans), and targeted wellness programs. Details of employee visits to OHCs are recorded digitally, adhering to specific data protection and privacy regulations for each region.

Additionally, Infosys offers extended healthcare benefits through tie-ups with hospitals, granting employees and their dependents access to health screenings and treatments, even for non-occupational illnesses. Employees, including contractual staff, receive comprehensive insurance coverage. For contractual employees, targeted programs, such as mandatory health screenings and specific interventions are carried out, guided by identified risks, hazards, and emerging health trends.

The robust Health and Safety Management system at Infosys has earned us the certification of ISO 45001:2018 for all Indian locations and Australia offices, including Infosys Limited and its subsidiaries, in line with our HSE strategy.
The Company has implemented the following measures to ensure a safe and healthy workplace:

(1) Treatment in centralized sewage treatment plants is managed by local authorities.

(2) Includes 2 leased locations in India and all leased overseas locations; 2 owned locations in India, where wastewater was temporarily discharged to municipal sewers post intimation from Pollution Control Board and is ultimately treated.

5. Has the entity implemented a mechanism for Zero Liquid Discharge? If yes, provide details of its coverage and implementation.

Infosys has implemented in-house sewage treatment plants (STPs) at its India owned campuses to facilitate Zero Liquid Discharge (ZLD) practices. 100% of our owned campuses in India have STPs to ensure that all sewage generated is treated and the resulting recycled water is utilized for irrigation, HVAC systems, and flushing, thereby minimizing wastewater discharge into the environment. In all our owned campuses and leased locations (except 2) in India, STPs are available to treat the waste water. In rest of the locations, wastewater is discharged into municipal sewers for further treatment. This approach supports sustainable water management and aligns with the company's commitment to environmental protection. In addition to wastewater treatment, we also procure greywater (recycled water) from third parties to augment the requirement of landscaping, flushing, and other non-potable purposes. This enables avoiding sourcing fresh water to that quantum.

8. Does the entity have any project related to reducing greenhouse gas emission? If yes, provide details.

Yes. Infosys has been carbon neutral since fiscal 2020 across Scope 1, 2 and 3 emissions. Our approach to carbon neutrality is based on reducing and avoiding emissions through energy efficiency and renewable energy. Energy efficiency is achieved through super-efficient new buildings, industry-leading Energy Performance Index (EPI) <65 kWh/m2-yr, real-time monitoring and optimization of building operations through smart building systems, and retrofits in existing buildings. In fiscal 2026, we have undertaken retrofit projects to improve efficiency in lighting and air conditioning systems, which saved 2.04 lakh kWh and reduced emissions by 145 tCO2e. To achieve our goal of transitioning to clean energy, we have installed 62.42 MWp of solar PV capacity and avoided 1.24 lakh kWh in fiscal 2026. Along with captive solar capacity, power purchase agreement and use of green tariff mechanism, Infosys achieved 81.8% of electricity consumption through renewable sources in its India operations.

10. Briefly describe the waste management practices adopted in your establishments. Describe the strategy adopted by your company to reduce usage of hazardous and toxic chemicals in your products and processes and the practices adopted to manage such wastes.

At Infosys, we see waste not as something to discard, but as a resource to reclaim. The 5R principle –' Refuse, Reduce, Reuse, Refurbish / Repurpose and Recycle' – forms the foundation of Infosys' waste management strategy. Through systematic reduction and recovery, we are moving beyond waste management to resource segregation, where 99% of what we dispose stays out of landfills. This is climate positivity in practice: turning environmental burden into a regenerative solution that restores more than it consumes. We are working towards the 2030 goal of zero waste to landfills by adopting TRUE Zero Waste Certification at our India campuses. As of fiscal 2026, 46% of our owned campuses in India have achieved TRUE Zero Waste Certification from Green Business Certification Inc. (GBCI).

As an IT company, we generate e-waste. We have been persistent in our efforts to reduce, reuse, recycle, and dispose of e-waste responsibly. The Company has adopted a progressive approach to electronic waste management, transitioning towards a refurbishment-first model where feasible. This aligns with circular economic principles while maintaining partnerships with authorized recycling vendors for materials that cannot be refurbished. The authorized (Pollution Control Board) recyclers/refurbishers are periodically evaluated based on their adherence to applicable legal requirements and the extent of resource circularity in their processes.

(2) Includes 2 leased locations in India and all leased overseas locations, 1 owned location in India, Jaipur where waste water was channelized to municipal sewers for a few months post intimation to Pollution Control Board. All these pertain to sites in water stressed regions.

* We have evaluated water stress zones in line with CGWA Guidelines for India locations and WRI Aqueduct for overseas locations. Based on the classification as per CGWA we have considered Overexploited and Critical locations as per BRSR guidance. Based on classification as per WRI Aqueduct we have considered High and Extremely High under our water stressed locations. Until the previous year, water stress was assessed using country-level data for the locations of offices. Based on the current year's guidance, India-specific criteria (CGWA) have been applied for domestic operations, while site- or city-level water stress assessments are used for overseas locations. Accordingly the values are restated for fiscal 2025.

4. If the entity has undertaken any specific initiatives or used innovative technology or solutions to improve resource efficiency, or reduce impact due to emissions / effluent discharge / waste generated, please provide details of the same as well as outcome of such initiatives, as per the following format

S.No.	Initiative undertaken	Details of the initiative (Web-link, if any, may be provided along-with summary)	Outcome of the initiative
1	Energy efficiency improvement in buildings	Radiant heating – Innovative approach to utilize existing radiant panels to heat the surface which radiates heat into the room which reduces the need for conventional, high intensity heating. Free cooling – In favorable climate, the cooling tower will generate naturally cool water that supports efficient waterside free cooling. Cooled water is circulated through plate heat exchanger and supplies a dedicated free cooling coil in the Air Handling Units (AHUs), reducing the mechanical cooling.	This system is designed for one of the office locations and has the potential to reduce ~70 % energy consumption compared with traditional resistance heating. This strategy is part of the design for one of the office locations and contributed to approximately 15% reduction in the building's annual HVAC load. This is expected to decrease energy consumption, thereby helping in reduction of Scope 2 emissions, and enhancing the overall sustainability performance of the facility.
2	Supply chain decarbonization initiatives	Embedding climate action and sustainable packaging into IT hardware procurement – Infosys integrated climate action and sustainable packaging requirements in its procurement process, transforming sourcing into a measurable ESG intervention. Suppliers were required to disclose verified Product Carbon Footprint (PCF), climate commitments, and detailed packaging material details along with technical specifications.	In the procurement of laptops in fiscal 2026, the lowest-scoring supplier was excluded, while purchase volumes were allocated proportionately to higher-performing suppliers, ensuring sustainable packaging and climate performance influenced sourcing decisions alongside cost and quality. This has led to an avoided emission of 8,955 tCO_2e against a standard product specification. With this, Infosys embedded circularity and climate accountability into IT hardware sourcing, strengthening its value-chain sustainability outcomes and creating a framework for IT hardware procurement.

S.No.	Initiative undertaken	Details of the initiative (Web-link, if any, may be provided along-with summary)	Outcome of the initiative
3	Supply chain decarbonization initiatives	Institutionalizing green material standards to accelerate our Net Zero journey – These specifications emphasize low embodied carbon, energy and water efficiency, responsible material sourcing, elimination of hazardous substances, circular economy practices, and improved indoor environmental quality.	The initiative establishes standardized sustainable specifications for a wide range of materials — including steel, concrete, glazing, furniture, HVAC systems, electrical equipment, IT hardware, and landscaping elements etc.
4	Smart water metering	The meters are installed in the water pipes at the distribution and consumption points. They record the flow rate in real time.	Smart water metering systems installed on most of our campuses have helped us identify undetected leaks and reduce unaccounted water. Smart water meters have enabled us to plug leaks, identify opportunities for savings, and provide valuable insights for new designs.

5. Does the entity have a business continuity and disaster management plan? Give details in 100 words/ web link.

Yes. Infosys has a Business Continuity Management System (BCMS) called Phoenix, certified by ISO 22301:2019 Security and Resilience – Business Continuity Management Standard. This program is designed to ensure seamless continuity of business and the utmost safety of our employees and assets while continuously meeting client expectations. The BCMS program provides a robust framework for planning, establishing, implementing, operating, monitoring, reviewing, maintaining, and continually improving business continuity measures across Infosys and its subsidiaries. Apart from Phoenix plan at the corporate level, comprehensive business continuity plans are created at three operational levels covering business functions, locations, and accounts. Integrated into our Enterprise Risk Management Framework, the BCMS plans guide our typical response to events, such as catastrophes and natural or human-made disasters, which could disrupt or severely constrain our operations. This covers various crisis scenarios as part of detailed risk assessments (at functions, locations, and accounts level), which are documented with mitigation plans along with controls put in place. The management system has been continuously validated across levels through tests and exercises, and various incidents have been successfully tackled without significant business continuity or employee safety impacts. An efficient business continuity management policy has enabled us to maintain status quo during disasters.

Enabling Responsible Value Chain Disclosure and Decarbonization

In fiscal 2026, Infosys strengthened its value chain transparency efforts by initiating a structured, SEBI-aligned supplier engagement program focused on ESG disclosures under the BRSR Core framework. As part of this initiative, Infosys engaged with suppliers to collect ESG-related disclosures for fiscal 2025 data, covering the top 2% of upstream suppliers by spend focusing on the high impact supplier segment including human resource service providers and IT service vendors. These suppliers represented a combined value of approximately 13% of total spend.

The engagement enabled collection of granular ESG data, providing insights into supplier climate practices, emissions management approaches, and reporting maturity. Based on the assessment, 667 tCO_2e of Scope 1 emissions and 219 tCO_2e of Scope 2 emissions were attributed to Infosys, representing approximately 1.6% of the suppliers' combined Scope 1 and Scope 2 emissions. Emissions attributable to Infosys were calculated using a spend-based allocation methodology aligned with the GHG Protocol, for the purpose of value chain disclosure under SEBI requirements, and not as part of Infosys' reported Scope 3 inventory.

This exercise has further strengthened Infosys' supply chain decarbonization efforts by improving emissions visibility, deepening supplier engagement, and enabling informed prioritization of decarbonization opportunities. Through continued collaboration with suppliers and integration of climate considerations into procurement processes, Infosys is progressing toward a more transparent, data-driven, and low-carbon value chain.

Identification of distinct performance obligations to determine the deliverables and the ability of the customer to benefit independently from such deliverables involves significant judgement. In certain integrated services arrangements, contracts with customers include subcontractor services or third-party vendor equipment or software. In these types of arrangements, revenue from sales of third-party vendor products or services is recorded net of costs when the Company is acting as an agent between the customer and the vendor, and gross when the Company is the principal for the transaction. In doing so, the Company first evaluates whether it obtains control of the specified goods or service before it is transferred to the customer. The Company considers whether it is primarily responsible for fulfilling the promise to provide the specified goods or service, inventory risk, pricing discretion and other factors to determine whether it controls the products or service and therefore, is acting as a principal or an agent. Fixed price maintenance revenue is recognized ratably either on (1) a straight-line basis when services are performed through an indefinite number of repetitive acts over a specified period or (2) using a percentage of completion method when the pattern of benefits from the services rendered to the customer and the Company's costs to fulfil the contract is not even through the period of contract because the services are generally discrete in nature and not repetitive. The use of method to recognize the maintenance revenues requires judgment and is based on the promises in the contract and nature of the deliverables. As certain contracts with customers involve management's judgment in (1) identifying distinct performance obligations, (2) determining whether the Company is acting as a principal or an agent and (3) whether fixed price maintenance revenue is recognized on a straight-line basis or using the percentage of completion method, revenue recognition from these judgments were identified as a key audit matter and required a higher extent of audit effort. Refer Notes 1.4 and 2.18 to the Standalone Financial Statements.
	Auditor's Response
	Principal Audit Procedures Performed included the following: Our audit procedures related to the (1) identification of distinct performance obligations, (2) determination of whether the Company is acting as a principal or agent and (3) whether fixed price maintenance revenue is recognized on a straight-line basis or using the percentage of completion method included the following, among others: • We tested the effectiveness of controls relating to the (a) identification of distinct performance obligations, (b) determination of whether the Company is acting as a principal or an agent and (c) determination of whether fixed price maintenance revenue for certain contracts is recognized on a straight-line basis or using the percentage of completion method. • We selected a sample of contracts with customers and performed the following procedures: – Obtained and read contract documents for each selection, including master service agreements, and other documents that were part of the agreement. – Identified significant terms and deliverables in the contract to assess management's conclusions regarding the (i) identification of distinct performance obligations (ii) whether the Company is acting as a principal or an agent and (iii) whether fixed price maintenance revenue is recognized on a straight-line basis or using the percentage of completion method.

Sr. No.	Key Audit Matter
2	Revenue recognition - Fixed price contracts using the percentage of completion method Fixed price maintenance revenue is recognized ratably either (1) on a straight-line basis when services are performed through an indefinite number of repetitive acts over a specified period or (2) using a percentage of completion method when the pattern of benefits from services rendered to the customer and the Company's costs to fulfil the contract is not even through the period of contract because the services are generally discrete in nature and not repetitive. Revenue from other fixed-price, fixed-timeframe contracts, where the performance obligations are satisfied over time is recognized using the percentage-of-completion method. Use of the percentage-of-completion method requires the Company to determine the actual efforts or costs expended to date as a proportion of the estimated total efforts or costs to be incurred. Efforts or costs expended have been used to measure progress towards completion as there is a direct relationship between input and productivity. The estimation of total efforts or costs involves significant judgement and is assessed throughout the period of the contract to reflect any changes based on the latest available information. Provisions for estimated losses, if any, on uncompleted contracts are recorded in the period in which such losses become probable based on the estimated efforts or costs to complete the contract. We identified the estimate of total efforts or costs to complete fixed price contracts measured using the percentage of completion method as a key audit matter as the estimation of total efforts or costs involves significant judgement and is assessed throughout the period of the contract to reflect any changes based on the latest available information. This estimate has a high inherent uncertainty and requires consideration of progress of the contract, efforts or costs incurred to-date and estimates of efforts or costs required to complete the remaining contract performance obligations over the term of the contracts. This required a high degree of auditor judgment in evaluating the audit evidence and a higher extent of audit effort to evaluate the reasonableness of the total estimated amount of revenue recognized on fixed-price contracts. Refer Notes 1.4 and 2.18 to the Standalone Financial Statements.
	Auditor's Response
	Principal Audit Procedures Performed included the following: Our audit procedures related to estimates of total expected costs or efforts to complete for fixed-price contracts included the following, among others: • We tested the effectiveness of controls relating to (1) recording of efforts or costs incurred and estimation of efforts or costs required to complete the remaining contract performance obligations and (2) access and application controls pertaining to time recording, allocation and budgeting systems which prevents unauthorised changes to recording of efforts incurred. • We selected a sample of fixed price contracts with customers measured the using percentage-of-completion method and performed the following: – Evaluated management's ability to reasonably estimate the progress towards satisfying the performance obligation by comparing actual efforts or costs incurred to prior year estimates of efforts or costs budgeted for performance obligations that have been fulfilled. – Compared efforts or costs incurred with Company's estimate of efforts or costs incurred to date to identify significant variations and evaluate whether those variations have been considered appropriately in estimating the remaining costs or efforts to complete the contract. – Tested the estimate for consistency with the status of delivery of milestones and customer acceptances and sign off from customers to identify possible delays in achieving milestones, which require changes in estimated costs or efforts to complete the remaining performance obligations.

The Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the Management Discussion and Analysis, Board's Report including Annexures to Board's Report, Business Responsibility and Sustainability Report, Corporate Governance and Shareholder's Information, but does not include the Consolidated Financial Statements, Standalone Financial Statements and our auditor's report thereon.

Our opinion on the Standalone Financial Statements does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the Standalone Financial Statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the Standalone Financial Statements or our knowledge obtained during the course of our audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated.

If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

Responsibilities of Management and Board of Directors for the Standalone Financial Statements

The Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the matters stated in section 134(5) of the Act with respect to the preparation of these Standalone Financial Statements that give a true and fair view of the financial position, financial performance, including other comprehensive income, changes in equity and cash flows of the Company in accordance with the accounting principles generally accepted in India, including Ind AS specified under section 133 of the Act. This responsibility also includes maintenance of adequate accounting records in accordance with the provisions of the Act for safeguarding the assets of the Company and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; selection and application of appropriate accounting policies; making judgments and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls, that were operating effectively for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the Standalone Financial Statements that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the Standalone Financial Statements, management and Board of Directors are responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the Board of Directors either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

The Company's Board of Directors are also responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Standalone Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the Standalone Financial Statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these Standalone Financial Statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the Standalone Financial Statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal financial control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances. Under section 143(3)(i) of the Act, we are also responsible for expressing our opinion on whether the Company has adequate internal financial controls with reference to Standalone Financial Statements in place and the operating effectiveness of such controls.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the Standalone Financial Statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.

- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the Standalone Financial Statements, including the disclosures, and whether the Standalone Financial Statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

Materiality is the magnitude of misstatements in the Standalone Financial Statements that, individually or in aggregate, makes it probable that the economic decisions of a reasonably knowledgeable user of the Standalone Financial Statements may be influenced. We consider quantitative materiality and qualitative factors in (i) planning the scope of our audit work and in evaluating the results of our work; and (ii) to evaluate the effect of any identified misstatements in the Standalone Financial Statements.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal financial controls that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the Standalone Financial Statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

The Standalone financial statements are approved for issue by the Company's Board of Directors on April 23, 2026.

1.2 Basis of preparation of financial statements

These Standalone Financial Statements are prepared in accordance with the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013 (''the Act''), guidelines issued by the Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI) and Indian Accounting Standard (Ind AS) under the historical cost convention on accrual basis except for certain financial instruments which are measured at fair values, defined benefit liability / (asset) which is recognized at the present value of defined benefit obligation less fair value of plan assets. The Ind AS are prescribed under Section 133 of the Act read with Rule 3 of the Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015 and relevant amendment rules issued thereafter.

Accounting policies have been consistently applied except where a newly-issued accounting standard is initially adopted or a revision to an existing accounting standard requires a change in the accounting policy hitherto in use. The material accounting policy information used in preparation of the audited Standalone Financial Statements have been discussed in the respective notes.

As the year-end figures are taken from the source and rounded to the nearest digits, the figures reported for the previous quarters might not always add up to the year-end figures reported in this statement.

1.3 Use of estimates and judgments

The preparation of the financial statements in conformity with Ind AS requires the management to make estimates, judgments and assumptions. These estimates, judgments and assumptions affect the application of accounting policies and the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, the disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the period. The application of accounting policies that require critical accounting estimates involving complex and subjective judgments and the use of assumptions in these financial statements have been disclosed in Note no. 1.4. Critical accounting estimates and judgments could change from period to period. Actual results could differ from those estimates. Appropriate changes in estimates are made as management becomes aware of changes in circumstances surrounding the estimates. Changes in estimates and judgements are reflected in the financial statements in the period in which changes are made and, if material, their effects are disclosed in the notes to the Standalone Financial Statements.

1.4 Critical accounting estimates and judgments

a. Revenue recognition

The Company's contracts with customers include promises to transfer multiple products and services to a customer. Revenues from customer contracts are considered for recognition and measurement when the contract has been approved, in writing, by the parties to the contract, the parties to contract are committed to perform their respective obligations under the contract, and the contract is legally enforceable. The Company assesses the services promised in a contract and identifies distinct performance obligations in the contract. Identification of distinct performance obligations to determine the deliverables and the ability of the customer to benefit independently from such deliverables, and allocation of transaction price to these distinct performance obligations involves significant judgement.

Fixed-price maintenance revenue is recognized ratably on a straight-line basis when services are performed through an indefinite number of repetitive acts over a specified period. Revenue from fixed-price maintenance contract is recognized ratably using a percentage-of-completion method when the pattern of benefits from the services rendered to the customer and Company's costs to fulfil the contract is not even through the period of the contract because the services are generally discrete in nature and not repetitive. The use of method to recognize the maintenance revenues requires judgment and is based on the promises in the contract and nature of the deliverables.

The Company uses the percentage-of-completion method in accounting for other fixed-price contracts. Use of the percentage-of-completion method requires the Company to determine the actual efforts or costs expended to date as a proportion of the estimated total efforts or costs to be incurred. Efforts or costs expended have been used to measure progress towards completion as there is a direct relationship between input and productivity. The estimation of total efforts or costs involves significant judgement and is assessed throughout the period of the contract to reflect any changes based on the latest available information.

Contracts with customers includes subcontractor services or third-party vendor equipment or software in certain integrated services arrangements. In these types of arrangements, revenue from sales of third-party vendor products or services is recorded net of costs when the Company is acting as an agent between the customer and the vendor, and gross when the Company is the principal for the transaction. In doing so, the Company first evaluates whether it obtains control of the specified goods or services before they are transferred to the customer. The Company considers whether it is primarily responsible for fulfilling the promise to provide the specified goods or services, inventory risk, pricing discretion and other factors to determine whether it controls the specified goods or services and therefore, is acting as a principal or an agent.

Provisions for estimated losses, if any, on incomplete contracts are recorded in the period in which such losses become probable based on the estimated efforts or costs to complete the contract.

b. Income taxes

The Company's two major tax jurisdictions are India and the United States, though the Company also files tax returns in other overseas jurisdictions.

Significant judgments are involved in determining the provision for income taxes, including amount expected to be paid / recovered for uncertain tax positions.

In assessing the realizability of deferred income tax assets, the Management considers whether some portion or all of the deferred income tax assets will not be realized. The ultimate realization of deferred income tax assets is dependent upon the generation of future taxable income during the periods in which the temporary differences become deductible. Management considers the scheduled reversals of deferred income tax liabilities, projected future taxable income and tax planning strategies in making this assessment. Based on the level of historical taxable income and projections for future taxable income over the periods in which the deferred income tax assets are deductible, the Management believes that the Company will realize the benefits of those deductible differences. The amount of the deferred income tax assets considered realizable, however, could be reduced in the near term if estimates of future taxable income during the carry forward period are reduced. (Refer to Note 2.17).

c. Property, plant and equipment

Property, plant and equipment represent a significant proportion of the asset base of the Company. The charge in respect of periodic depreciation is derived after determining an estimate of an asset's expected useful life and the expected residual value at the end of its life. The useful lives and residual values of Company's assets are determined by the management at the time the asset is acquired and reviewed periodically, including at each financial year end. The lives are based on historical experience with similar assets as well as anticipation of future events, which may impact their life, such as changes in technology. (Refer to Note 2.1).

2. Notes to the Standalone Financial Statements

2.1 Property, plant and equipment

Accounting Policy

Property, plant and equipment are stated at cost, less accumulated depreciation and impairment, if any. Costs directly attributable to acquisition are capitalized until the property, plant and equipment are ready for use, as intended by the Management. The charge in respect of periodic depreciation is derived after determining an estimate of an asset's expected useful life and the expected residual value at the end of its life. The Company depreciates property, plant and equipment over their estimated useful lives using the straight-line method.

The estimated useful lives of assets are as follows:

Building[1]	22-25 years
Plant and machinery[1]	5 years
Office equipment	5 years
Computer equipment[1]	3-5 years
Furniture and fixtures[1]	5 years
Vehicles[1]	5 years
Leasehold improvements	Lower of useful life of the asset or lease term

[1] Based on technical evaluation, the Management believes that the useful lives as given above best represent the period over which the Management expects to use these assets. Hence, the useful lives for these assets is different from the useful lives as prescribed under Part C of Schedule II of the Companies Act 2013.

Depreciation methods, useful lives and residual values are reviewed periodically, including at each financial year end. The useful lives are based on historical experience with similar assets as well as anticipation of future events, which may impact their life, such as changes in technology.

Advances paid towards the acquisition of property, plant and equipment outstanding at each Balance Sheet date is classified as capital advances under other non-current assets and the cost of assets not ready to use before such date are disclosed under 'Capital work-in-progress'. Subsequent expenditures relating to property, plant and equipment is capitalized only when it is probable that future economic benefits associated with these will flow to the Company and the cost of the item can be measured reliably. The cost and related accumulated depreciation are eliminated from the financial statements upon sale or retirement of the asset.

Impairment

Property, plant and equipment are evaluated for recoverability whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that their carrying amounts may not be recoverable. For the purpose of impairment testing, the recoverable amount (i.e. the higher of the fair value less cost to sell and the value-in-use) is determined on an individual asset basis unless the asset does not generate cash flows that are largely independent of those from other assets. In such cases, the recoverable amount is determined for the Cash Generating Unit (CGU) to which the asset belongs.

If such assets are considered to be impaired, the impairment to be recognized in the Statement of Profit and Loss is measured by the amount by which the carrying value of the assets exceeds the estimated recoverable amount of the asset. An impairment loss is reversed in the Statement of Profit and Loss if there has been a change in the estimates used to determine the recoverable amount. The carrying amount of the asset is increased to its revised recoverable amount, provided that this amount does not exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined (net of any accumulated depreciation) had no impairment loss been recognized for the asset in prior years.

2.2.2 Other intangible assets

Accounting policy

Intangible assets are stated at cost less accumulated amortization and impairment. Intangible assets are amortized over their respective individual estimated useful lives on a straight-line basis, from the date that they are available for use. The estimated useful life of an identifiable intangible asset is based on a number of factors, including the effects of obsolescence, demand, competition, and other economic factors (such as the stability of the industry, and known technological advances), and the level of maintenance expenditures required to obtain the expected future cash flows from the asset. Amortization methods and useful lives are reviewed periodically, including at each financial year end.

Research costs are expensed as incurred. Software product development costs are expensed as incurred unless technical and commercial feasibility of the project is demonstrated, future economic benefits are probable, the Company has an intention and ability to complete and use or sell the software and the costs can be measured reliably. The costs which can be capitalized include the cost of material, direct labor and overhead costs that are directly attributable to prepare the asset for its intended use.

During the year ended March 31, 2026, the intangible assets having carrying value of zero were derecognized.

2.3 Leases

Accounting policy

The Company as a lessee

The Company's lease asset classes primarily consist of leases for land, buildings and computers. The Company assesses whether a contract contains a lease, at inception of a contract. A contract is, or contains, a lease if the contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset for a period of time in exchange for consideration. To assess whether a contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset, the Company assesses whether: (i) the contract involves the use of an identified asset (ii) the Company has substantially all of the economic benefits from use of the asset through the period of the lease and (iii) the Company has the right to direct the use of the asset.

At the date of commencement of the lease, the Company recognizes a right-of-use asset ("ROU") and a corresponding lease liability for all lease arrangements in which it is a lessee, except for leases with a term of twelve months or less (short-term leases) and low-value leases. For these short-term and low-value leases, the Company recognizes the lease payments as an operating expense on a straight-line basis over the term of the lease.

As a lessee, the Company determines the lease term as the non-cancellable period of a lease adjusted with any option to extend or terminate the lease, if the use of such option is reasonably certain. The Company makes an assessment on the expected lease term on a lease-by-lease basis and thereby assesses whether it is reasonably certain that any options to extend or terminate the contract will be exercised. In evaluating the lease term, the Company considers factors, such as any significant leasehold improvements undertaken over the lease term, costs relating to the termination of the lease and the importance of the underlying asset to Infosys' operations taking into account the location of the underlying asset and the availability of suitable alternatives. The lease term in future periods is reassessed to ensure that the lease term reflects the current economic circumstances.

Certain lease arrangements include the options to extend or terminate the lease before the end of the lease term. ROU assets and lease liabilities includes these options when it is reasonably certain that they will be exercised.

The ROU assets are initially recognized at cost, which comprises the initial amount of the lease liability adjusted for any lease payments made at or prior to the commencement date of the lease plus any initial direct costs less any lease incentives. They are subsequently measured at cost less accumulated depreciation and impairment losses.

ROU assets are depreciated from the commencement date on a straight-line basis over the shorter of the lease term and useful life of the underlying asset.

ROU assets are evaluated for recoverability whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that their carrying amounts may not be recoverable. For the purpose of impairment testing, the recoverable amount (i.e. the higher of the fair value less cost to sell and the value-in-use) is determined on an individual asset basis unless the asset does not generate cash flows that are largely independent of those from other assets. In such cases, the recoverable amount is determined for the Cash Generating Unit (CGU) to which the asset belongs.

The lease liability is initially measured at amortized cost at the present value of the future lease payments. The lease payments are discounted using the interest rate implicit in the lease or, if not readily determinable, using the incremental borrowing rates in the country of domicile of these leases. Lease liabilities are remeasured with a corresponding adjustment to the related right of use asset if the Company changes its assessment if whether it will exercise an extension or a termination option.

Lease liability and ROU asset have been separately presented in the Balance Sheet and lease payments have been classified as financing cash flows.

The Company as a lessor

Leases for which the Company is a lessor is classified as a finance or operating lease. Whenever the terms of the lease transfer substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership to the lessee, the contract is classified as a finance lease. All other leases are classified as operating leases.

When the Company is an intermediate lessor, it accounts for its interests in the head lease and the sublease separately. The sublease is classified as a finance or operating lease by reference to the right-of-use asset arising from the head lease.

For finance lease, finance income is recognised over the lease term based on a pattern reflecting a constant periodic rate of return on the lessor's net investment in the lease and for operating leases, rental income is recognized on a straight-line basis over the term of the relevant lease.

2.11 Financial instruments

Accounting policy

2.11.1 Initial recognition

The Company recognizes financial assets and financial liabilities when it becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument. All financial assets and liabilities are recognized at fair value on initial recognition, except for trade receivables which are initially measured at transaction price. Transaction costs that are directly attributable to the acquisition or issue of financial assets and financial liabilities, which are not at fair value through profit or loss, are added to the fair value on initial recognition. Regular way purchase and sale of financial assets are accounted for at trade date.

2.11.2 Subsequent measurement

a. Non-derivative financial instruments

(i) Financial assets carried at amortized cost

A financial asset is subsequently measured at amortized cost if it is held within a business model whose objective is to hold the asset in order to collect contractual cash flows and the contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

(ii) Financial assets carried at fair value through other comprehensive income (FVOCI)

A financial asset is subsequently measured at fair value through other comprehensive income if it is held within a business model whose objective is achieved by both collecting contractual cash flows and selling financial assets and the contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding. The Company has made an irrevocable election for certain investments which are classified as equity instruments to present the subsequent changes in fair value in other comprehensive income based on its business model.

(iii) Financial assets carried at fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL)

A financial asset which is not classified in any of the above categories is subsequently fair valued through profit or loss.

(iv) Financial liabilities

Financial liabilities are subsequently carried at amortized cost using the effective interest method, except for contingent consideration recognized in a business combination which is subsequently measured at fair value through profit or loss.

(v) Investment in subsidiaries

Investment in subsidiaries is carried at cost in the separate financial statements.

b. Derivative financial instruments

The Company holds derivative financial instruments, such as foreign exchange forward and option contracts to mitigate the risk of changes in exchange rates on foreign currency exposures. The counterparty for such contracts is generally a bank.

(i) Financial assets or financial liabilities, carried at fair value through profit or loss.

This category includes derivative financial assets or liabilities which are not designated as hedges.

Although the Company believes that these derivatives constitute hedges from an economic perspective, they may not qualify for hedge accounting under Ind AS 109, Financial Instruments. Any derivative that is either not designated as hedge, or is so designated but is ineffective as per Ind AS 109, is categorized as a financial asset or financial liability, at fair value through profit or loss.

Derivatives not designated as hedges are recognized initially at fair value and attributable transaction costs are recognized in net profit in the Statement of Profit and Loss when incurred. Subsequent to initial recognition, these derivatives are measured at fair value through profit or loss and the resulting exchange gains or losses are included in other income. Assets / liabilities in this category are presented as current assets / current liabilities if they are either held for trading or are expected to be realized within 12 months after the Balance Sheet date.

(ii) Cash flow hedge

Primarily the Company designates certain foreign exchange forward and options contracts as cash flow hedges to mitigate the risk of foreign exchange exposure on highly probable forecast cash transactions.

When a derivative is designated as a cash flow hedging instrument, the effective portion of changes in the fair value of the derivative is recognized in other comprehensive income and accumulated in the cash flow hedge reserve. Any ineffective portion of changes in the fair value of the derivative is recognized immediately in the net profit in the Statement of Profit and Loss. If the hedging instrument no longer meets the criteria for hedge accounting, then hedge accounting is discontinued prospectively. If the hedging instrument expires or is sold, terminated or exercised, the cumulative gain or loss on the hedging instrument recognized in cash flow hedge reserve till the period the hedge was effective remains in cash flow hedge reserve until the forecasted transaction occurs. The cumulative gain or loss previously recognized in the cash flow hedge reserve is transferred to the net profit in the Statement of Profit and Loss upon the occurrence of the related forecasted transaction. If the forecasted transaction is no longer expected to occur, then the amount accumulated in cash flow hedge reserve is reclassified to net profit in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

2.11.3 Derecognition of financial instruments

The Company derecognizes a financial asset when the contractual rights to the cash flows from the financial asset expire or it transfers the financial asset and the transfer qualifies for derecognition under Ind AS 109. A financial liability (or a part of a financial liability) is derecognized from the Company's Balance Sheet when the obligation specified in the contract is discharged or cancelled or expires.

2.11.4 Fair value of financial instruments

In determining the fair value of its financial instruments, the Company uses a variety of methods and assumptions that are based on market conditions and risks existing at each reporting date. The methods used to determine fair value include discounted cash flow analysis, option pricing model, market multiples, available quoted market prices and dealer quotes. All methods of assessing fair value result in general approximation of value, and such value may never actually be realized.

Refer to table 'Financial instruments by category' below for the disclosure on carrying value and fair value of financial assets and liabilities. For financial assets and liabilities maturing within one year from the Balance Sheet date and which are not carried at fair value, the carrying amounts approximate fair value due to the short maturity of these instruments.

2.11.5 Impairment

The Company recognizes loss allowances using the Expected Credit Loss (ECL) model for the financial assets and unbilled revenues which are not fair valued through profit or loss. Loss allowance for trade receivables and unbilled revenues with no significant financing component is measured at an amount equal to lifetime ECL. For all other financial assets, expected credit losses are measured at an amount equal to the 12-month ECL, unless there has been a significant increase in credit risk from initial recognition in which case those are measured at lifetime ECL.

The Company determines the allowance for credit losses based on historical loss experience adjusted to reflect current and estimated future economic conditions. The Company considers current and anticipated future economic conditions relating to industries the Company deals with and the countries where it operates.

The amount of ECLs (or reversal) that is required to adjust the loss allowance at the reporting date to the amount that is required to be recorded is recognized as an impairment loss or gain in Statement of Profit and Loss.

During the year ended March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025, the Company has designated certain foreign exchange forward and option contracts as cash flow hedges to mitigate the risk of foreign exchange exposure on highly probable forecast cash transactions. The related hedge transactions for balance in cash flow hedge reserve as at March 31, 2026, are expected to occur and reclassified to Statement of Profit and Loss within 3 months.

The Company determines the existence of an economic relationship between the hedging instrument and hedged item based on the currency, amount and timing of its forecasted cash flows. Hedge effectiveness is determined at the inception of the hedge relationship, and through periodic prospective effectiveness assessments to ensure that an economic relationship exists between the hedged item and hedging instrument, including whether the hedging instrument is expected to offset changes in cash flows of hedged items.

If the hedge ratio for risk management purposes is no longer optimal but the risk management objective remains unchanged and the hedge continues to qualify for hedge accounting, the hedge relationship will be rebalanced by adjusting either the volume of the hedging instrument or the volume of the hedged item so that the hedge ratio aligns with the ratio used for risk management purposes. Any hedge ineffectiveness is calculated and accounted for in the Statement of Profit or Loss at the time of the hedge relationship rebalancing.

2.16 Provisions

Accounting policy

A provision is recognized if, as a result of a past event, the Company has a present legal or constructive obligation that is reasonably estimable, and it is probable that an outflow of economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation. Provisions are determined by discounting the expected future cash flows at a pre-tax rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the liability. The Company recognizes a reimbursement asset when, and only when, it is virtually certain that the reimbursement will be received if the Company settles the obligation.

a. Post-sales client support

The Company provides its clients with a fixed-period post-sales support on its fixed-price, fixed-timeframe contracts. Costs associated with such support services are accrued at the time related revenues are recorded and included in the Statement of Profit and Loss. The Company estimates such costs based on historical experience and estimates are reviewed on a periodic basis for any material changes in assumptions and likelihood of occurrence.

b. Onerous contracts

Provisions for onerous contracts are recognized when the expected benefits to be derived by the Company from a contract are lower than the unavoidable costs of meeting the future obligations under the contract. Provisions for estimated losses, if any, on incomplete contracts are recorded in the period in which such losses become probable based on the estimated efforts or costs to complete the contract. The provision is measured at the present value of the lower of the expected cost of terminating the contract and the expected net cost of continuing with the contract. Before a provision is established, the Company recognizes any impairment loss on the assets associated with that contract.

2.17 Income taxes

Accounting policy

Income tax expense comprises current and deferred income tax. Income tax expense is recognized in net profit in the Statement of Profit and Loss except to the extent that it relates to items recognized directly in equity, in which case it is recognized in equity or other comprehensive income. Current income tax for current and prior periods is recognized at the amount expected to be paid to or recovered from the tax authorities, using the tax rates and tax laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the Balance Sheet date. Deferred income tax assets and liabilities are recognized for all temporary differences arising between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts in the financial statements. Deferred tax assets are reviewed at each reporting date and are reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that the related tax benefit will be realized.

Deferred income tax assets and liabilities are measured using tax rates and tax laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the Balance Sheet date and are expected to apply to taxable income in the years in which those temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. The effect of changes in tax rates on deferred income tax assets and liabilities is recognized as income or expense in the period that includes the enactment or the substantive enactment date. A deferred income tax asset is recognized to the extent that it is probable that future taxable profit will be available against which the deductible temporary differences and tax losses can be utilized. Deferred income taxes are not provided on the undistributed earnings of subsidiaries and branches where it is expected that the earnings of the subsidiary or branch will not be distributed in the foreseeable future.

The Company offsets current tax assets and current tax liabilities; deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities, where it has a legally enforceable right to set off the recognized amounts and where it intends either to settle on a net basis, or to realize the asset and settle the liability simultaneously. The income tax provision for the interim period is made based on the best estimate of the annual average tax rate expected to be applicable for the full financial year. Tax benefits of deductions earned on exercise of employee share options in excess of compensation charged to income are credited to equity.

Income tax expense for the year ended March 31, 2026, and March 31, 2025, includes reversal (net of provisions) of ₹779 crore and provisions (net of reversals) of ₹97 crore, respectively. These provisions and reversals pertaining to prior periods are primarily on account of adjudication of certain disputed matters, upon filing of tax return and completion of assessments, across various jurisdictions.

During the year ended March 31, 2026, the Company received orders under sections 250 and 254 of the Income Tax Act, 1961, from the Income Tax Authorities in India for the assessment years, 2013-14 and assessment years 2017-18 to 2021-22. These orders confirmed the Company's position with respect to tax treatment of certain matters. As a result interest income (pre-tax) of ₹381 crore was recognized and provision for income tax aggregating ₹869 crore was reversed with a corresponding credit to the Statement of Profit and Loss. Also, upon resolution of the disputes, an amount aggregating to ₹86 crore has been reduced from contingent liabilities.

During the quarter ended March 31, 2025, the Company received orders under section 250 of the Income Tax Act, 1961, from the Income Tax Authorities in India for the assessment years, 2016-17 and 2019-20. These orders confirmed the Company's position with respect to tax treatment of certain matters. Also, upon resolution of the disputes, an amount aggregating to ₹1,068 crore has been reduced from contingent liabilities.

The foreign tax expense is due to income taxes payable overseas, principally in the United States.

In India, the Company has benefited from certain income tax incentives that the Government of India had provided for export of software and services from the units registered under the Special Economic Zones Act (SEZs), 2005 in the prior years. SEZ units which began the provision of services on or after April 1, 2005, are eligible for a deduction of 100% of profits or gains derived from the export of services for the first five years from the financial year in which the unit commenced the provision of services and 50% of such profits or gains for further five years. Up to 50% of such profits or gains is also available for a further five years subject to creation of a Special Economic Zone Re-investment reserve out of the profit for the eligible SEZ units and utilization of such reserve by the Company for acquiring new plant and machinery for the purpose of its business as per the provisions of the Income Tax Act, 1961. (Refer to Special Economic Zone Re-investment reserve under Note 2.12 Equity).

Deferred income tax for the year ended March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025, substantially relates to origination and reversal of temporary differences.

Infosys is subject to a 15% Branch Profit Tax (BPT) in the U.S. to the extent its US branch's net profit during the year is greater than the increase in the net assets of the US branch during the year, computed in accordance with the Internal Revenue Code. As at March 31, 2026, Infosys' US branch net assets amounted to approximately ₹7,736 crore. As at March 31, 2026, the Company has a deferred tax liability for branch profit tax of ₹207 crore (net of credits), as the Company estimates that these branch profits are expected to be distributed in the foreseeable future.

Deferred income tax liabilities have not been recognized on temporary differences amounting to ₹19,270 crore and ₹16,593 crore as at March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025, respectively, associated with investments in subsidiaries and branches as the Company is able to control the timing of reversal of the temporary difference and it is probable that the temporary differences will not reverse in the foreseeable future. The Company majorly intends to repatriate earnings from subsidiaries and branches only to the extent these can be distributed in a tax-free manner.

Deferred income tax assets have not been recognized on accumulated losses of ₹1,310 crore and ₹1,466 crore as at March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025, respectively as it is probable that future taxable profit will not be available against which the unused tax losses can be utilized in the foreseeable future. Majority of the accumulated losses as at March 31, 2026, will expire between financial years 2028 to 2033.

The tax effects of significant temporary differences that resulted in deferred income tax assets and liabilities are as follows:

(In ₹ crore)

Particulars	As at March 31,

In assessing the realizability of deferred income tax assets, the management considers whether some portion or all of the deferred income tax assets will not be realized. The ultimate realization of deferred income tax assets is dependent upon the generation of future taxable income during the periods in which the temporary differences become deductible. The management considers the scheduled reversals of deferred income tax liabilities, projected future taxable income, and tax planning strategies in making this assessment. Based on the level of historical taxable income and projections for future taxable income over the periods in which the deferred income tax assets are deductible, management believes that the Company will realize the benefits of those deductible differences. The amount of the deferred income tax assets considered realizable, however, could be reduced in the near term if estimates of future taxable income during the carry forward period are reduced.

The Company's Advanced Pricing Arrangement (APA) with the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) for US branch income tax expired in March 2021. The Company has applied for renewal of APA and currently the US taxable income is based on the Company's best estimate determined based on the expected value method.

2.18 Revenue from operations

Accounting policy

The Company derives revenues primarily from IT services comprising software development and related services, cloud and infrastructure services, maintenance, consulting and package implementation, licensing of software products and platforms across the Company's core and digital offerings (together called as "software related services"). Contracts with customers are either on a time-and-material, unit of work, fixed-price or on a fixed-timeframe basis.

Revenues from customer contracts are considered for recognition and measurement when the contract has been approved in writing, by the parties, to the contract, the parties to contract are committed to perform their respective obligations under the contract, and the contract is legally enforceable. Revenue is recognized upon transfer of control of promised products or services ("performance obligations") to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration the Company has received or expects to receive in exchange for these products or services ("transaction price"). When there is uncertainty as to collectability, revenue recognition is postponed until such uncertainty is resolved.

The Company assesses the services promised in a contract and identifies distinct performance obligations in the contract. The Company allocates the transaction price to each distinct performance obligation based on the relative standalone selling price. The price that is regularly charged for an item when sold separately is the best evidence of its standalone selling price. In the absence of such evidence, the primary method used to estimate standalone selling price is the expected cost plus a margin, under which the Company estimates the cost of satisfying the performance obligation and then adds an appropriate margin based on similar services.

The Company's contracts may include variable consideration, including rebates, volume discounts and penalties. The Company includes variable consideration as part of transaction price when there is a basis to reasonably estimate the amount of the variable consideration and when it is probable that a significant reversal of cumulative revenue recognized will not occur when the uncertainty associated with the variable consideration is resolved.

Revenue on time-and-material and unit of work-based contracts, are recognized as the related services are performed. Fixed-price maintenance revenue is recognized ratably either on a straight-line basis when services are performed through an indefinite number of repetitive acts over a specified period or ratably using a percentage of completion method when the pattern of benefits from the services rendered to the customer and Company's costs to fulfil the contract is not even through the period of contract because the services are generally discrete in nature and not repetitive. Revenue from other fixed-price, fixed-timeframe contracts, where the performance obligations are satisfied over time is recognized using the percentage-of-completion method. Efforts or costs expended are used to determine progress towards completion as there is a direct relationship between input and productivity. Progress towards completion is measured as the ratio of costs or efforts incurred to date (representing work performed) to the estimated total costs or efforts. Estimates of transaction price and total costs or efforts are continuously monitored over the term of the contracts and are recognized in net profit in the period when these estimates change or when the estimates are revised. Revenues and the estimated total costs or efforts are subject to revision as the contract progresses. Provisions for estimated losses, if any, on incomplete contracts are recorded in the period in which such losses become probable based on the estimated efforts or costs to complete the contract.

The billing schedules agreed with customers include periodic performance based billing and / or milestone based progress billings. Revenues in excess of billing are classified as unbilled revenue while billing in excess of revenues are classified as contract liabilities (which we refer to as "unearned revenues").

In arrangements for software development and related services and maintenance services, by applying the revenue recognition criteria for each distinct performance obligation, the arrangements with customers generally meet the criteria for considering software development and related services as distinct performance obligations. For allocating the transaction price, the Company measures the revenue in respect of each performance obligation of a contract at its relative standalone selling price. The price that is regularly charged for an item when sold separately is the best evidence of its standalone selling price. In cases, where the Company is unable to determine the standalone selling price, the Company uses the expected cost plus margin approach in estimating the standalone selling price. For software development and related services, the performance obligations are satisfied as and when the services are rendered since the customer generally obtains control of the work as it progresses.

Certain cloud and infrastructure services contracts include multiple elements which may be subject to other specific accounting guidance, such as leasing guidance. These contracts are accounted in accordance with such specific accounting guidance. In such arrangements where the Company is able to determine that hardware and services are distinct performance obligations, it allocates the consideration to these performance obligations on a relative standalone selling price basis. In the absence of standalone selling price, the Company uses the expected cost-plus margin approach in estimating the standalone selling price. When such arrangements are considered as a single performance obligation, revenue is recognized over the period and measure of progress is determined based on promise in the contract.

Revenue from licenses where the customer obtains a "right-to-use" the licenses is recognized at the time the license is made available to the customer. Revenue from licenses where the customer obtains a "right-to-access" is recognized over the access period.

Arrangements to deliver software products generally have three elements: license, implementation and Annual Technical Services (ATS). When implementation services are provided in conjunction with the licensing arrangement and the license and implementation have been identified as two distinct separate performance obligations, the transaction price for such contracts are allocated to each performance obligation of the contract based on their relative standalone selling prices. In the absence of standalone selling price for implementation, the Company uses the expected cost plus margin approach in estimating the standalone selling price. Where the license is required to be substantially customized as part of the implementation service the entire arrangement fee for license and implementation is considered to be a single performance obligation and the revenue is recognized using the percentage-of-completion method as the implementation is performed. Revenue from client training, support and other services arising due to the sale of software products is recognized as the performance obligations are satisfied. ATS revenue is recognized ratably on a straight-line basis over the period in which the services are rendered.

Contracts with customers includes subcontractor services or third-party vendor equipment or software in certain integrated services arrangements. In these types of arrangements, revenue from sales of third-party vendor products or services is recorded net of costs when the Company is acting as an agent between the customer and the vendor, and gross when the Company is the principal for the transaction. In doing so, the Company first evaluates whether it obtains control of the specified goods or services before they are transferred to the customer. The Company considers whether it is primarily responsible for fulfilling the promise to provide the specified goods or services, inventory risk, pricing discretion and other factors to determine whether it controls the specified goods or services and therefore, is acting as a principal or an agent.

A contract modification is a change in the scope or price or both of a contract that is approved by the parties to the contract. A contract modification that results in the addition of distinct performance obligations are accounted for either as a separate contract if the additional services are priced at the standalone selling price or as a termination of the existing contract and creation of a new contract if they are not priced at the standalone selling price. If the modification does not result in a distinct performance obligation, it is accounted for as part of the existing contract on a cumulative catch-up basis.

The incremental costs of obtaining a contract (i.e., costs that would not have been incurred if the contract had not been obtained) are recognized as an asset if the Company expects to recover them.

Certain eligible, non-recurring costs (e.g. set-up or transition or transformation costs) that do not represent a separate performance obligation are recognized as an asset when such costs (a) relate directly to the contract; (b) generate or enhance resources of the Company that will be used in satisfying the performance obligation in the future; and (c) are expected to be recovered.

Capitalized contract costs relating to upfront payments to customers are amortized to revenue and other capitalized costs are amortized to expenses over the respective contract life on a systematic basis consistent with the transfer of goods or services to customer to which the asset relates. Capitalized costs are monitored regularly for impairment. Impairment losses are recorded when present value of projected remaining operating cash flows is not sufficient to recover the carrying amount of the capitalized costs.

The Company presents revenues net of indirect taxes in its Statement of Profit and Loss.

Revenue from operations for the year ended March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025 is as follows:

(In ₹ crore)

Particulars	Year ended March 31,
	2026	2025
Revenue from software services	1,47,806	1,35,525
Revenue from products and platforms	1,013	1,067
Total revenue from operations	1,48,819	1,36,592

Products & platforms

The Company derives revenues from the sale of products and platforms, including Infosys Applied AI which applies next-generation AI and machine learning.

The percentage of revenue from fixed-price contracts for each of the year ended March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025, is 58%.

Trade receivables and Contract Balances

The timing of revenue recognition, billings and cash collections results in receivables, unbilled revenue, and unearned revenue on the Company's Balance Sheet. Amounts are billed as work progresses in accordance with agreed-upon contractual terms, either at periodic intervals (e.g., monthly or quarterly) or upon achievement of contractual milestones.

The Company's receivables are rights to consideration that are unconditional. Unbilled revenues comprising revenues in excess of billings from time and material contracts and fixed-price maintenance contracts are classified as financial asset when the right to consideration is unconditional and is due only after a passage of time.

Invoicing to the clients for other fixed-price contracts is based on milestones as defined in the contract and therefore the timing of revenue recognition is different from the timing of invoicing to the customers. Therefore unbilled revenues for other fixed-price contracts (contract asset) are classified as non-financial asset because the right to consideration is dependent on completion of contractual milestones.

Invoicing in excess of earnings are classified as unearned revenue.

Trade receivables and unbilled revenues are presented net of impairment in the Balance Sheet.

During the year ended March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025, the company recognized revenue of ₹5,276 crore and ₹4,404 crore arising from opening unearned revenue as of April 1, 2025 and April 1, 2024, respectively.

During the year ended March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025, ₹4,413 crore and ₹4,448 crore of unbilled revenue pertaining to other fixed-price and fixed-timeframe contracts as of April 1, 2025 and April 1, 2024, respectively has been reclassified to Trade receivables upon billing to customers on completion of milestones.

Remaining performance obligation disclosure

The remaining performance obligation disclosure provides the aggregate amount of the transaction price yet to be recognized as at the end of the reporting period and an explanation as to when the Company expects to recognize these amounts in revenue. Applying the practical expedient as given in Ind AS 115, the Company has not disclosed the remaining performance obligation related disclosures for contracts where the revenue recognized corresponds directly with the value to the customer of the entity's performance completed to date, typically those contracts where invoicing is on time-and-material and unit of work-based contracts. Remaining performance obligation estimates are subject to change and are affected by several factors, including terminations, changes in the scope of contracts, periodic revalidations, adjustment for revenue that has not materialized and adjustments for currency fluctuations.

The aggregate value of performance obligations that are completely or partially unsatisfied as at March 31, 2026, other than those meeting the exclusion criteria mentioned above, is ₹1,13,675 crore. Out of this, the Company expects to recognize revenue of around 50.1% within the next one year and around 21.6% between one and two years and remaining thereafter. The aggregate value of performance obligations that are completely or partially unsatisfied as at March 31, 2025, is ₹90,815 crore. The contracts can generally be terminated by the customers and typically includes an enforceable termination penalty payable by them. Generally, customers have not terminated contracts without cause.

2.20.1 Impact of Labour Codes

On November 21, 2025, the Government of India notified provisions of the Code on Wages, 2019, the Industrial Relations Code, 2020, the Code on Social Security, 2020 and the Occupational Safety, Health and Working Conditions Code, 2020, ('Labour Codes') which consolidate twenty-nine existing labour laws into a unified framework governing employee benefits during employment and post-employment. The Labour Codes, amongst other things introduces changes, including a uniform definition of wages and enhanced benefits relating to leave. The Company has assessed the financial implications of these changes which has resulted in increase in gratuity liability, a defined benefit plan arising out of past service cost relating to plan amendments and increase in compensated absences by ₹1,146 crore. Considering the impact arising out of an enactment of the new legislation is an event of non-recurring nature, the Company has presented this incremental amount as "Impact of Labour Codes" under "Exceptional Item" in the Standalone Statement of Profit and Loss for the year ended March 31, 2026. The Company continues to monitor the developments pertaining to Labour Codes and will evaluate impact if any on the measurement of the employee benefits liability.

2.21 Employee benefits

Accounting policy

2.21.1 Gratuity and pensions

The Company provides for gratuity, a defined benefit retirement plan ('the Gratuity Plan') covering eligible Indian employees of Infosys. The Gratuity Plan provides a lump-sum payment to vested employees at retirement, death, incapacitation or termination of employment, of an amount based on the respective employee's salary and the tenure of employment with the Company. The Company contributes Gratuity liabilities to the Infosys Limited Employees' Gratuity Fund Trust (the Trust). Trustees administer contributions made to the Trusts and contributions are invested in a scheme with the Life Insurance Corporation of India as permitted by Indian law.

The Company operates defined benefit pension plan in certain overseas jurisdictions, in accordance with the local laws. These plans are managed by third-party fund managers. The plans provide for periodic payouts after retirement and / or a lumpsum payment as set out in rules of each fund and includes death and disability benefits. The defined benefit plans require contributions which are based on a percentage of salary that varies depending on the age of the respective employees.

Liabilities with regard to these defined benefit plans are determined by actuarial valuation, performed by an external actuary, at each Balance Sheet date using the projected unit credit method. These defined benefit plans expose the Company to actuarial risks, such as longevity risk, interest rate risk and market risk.

The Company recognizes the net obligation of a defined benefit plan in its Balance Sheet as an asset or liability. Gains and losses through re-measurements of the net defined benefit liability / (asset) are recognized in other comprehensive income and are not reclassified to profit or loss in subsequent periods. The actual return of the portfolio of plan assets, in excess of the yields computed by applying the discount rate used to measure the defined benefit obligation is recognized in other comprehensive income. The effect of any plan amendments is recognized in net profit in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

2.21.2 Provident fund

Eligible employees of Infosys receive benefits from a provident fund, which is a defined benefit plan. Both the eligible employee and the Company make monthly contributions to the provident fund plan equal to a specified percentage of the covered employee's salary. The Company contributes a portion to the Infosys Limited Employees' Provident Fund Trust. The trust invests in specific designated instruments as permitted by Indian law. The remaining portion is contributed to the government administered pension fund. The rate at which the annual interest is payable to the beneficiaries by the trust is being administered by the Government of India. The Company has an obligation to make good the shortfall, if any, between the return from the investments of the Trust and the notified interest rate.

2.21.3 Superannuation

Certain employees of Infosys are participants in a defined contribution plan. The Company has no further obligations to the Plan beyond its monthly contributions which are periodically contributed to a trust fund, the corpus of which is invested with the Life Insurance Corporation of India.

2.21.4 Compensated absences

The Company has a policy on compensated absences which are both accumulating and non-accumulating in nature. The expected cost of accumulating compensated absences is determined by actuarial valuation performed by an external actuary at each Balance Sheet date using projected unit credit method on the additional amount expected to be paid / availed as a result of the unused entitlement that has accumulated at the Balance Sheet date. Expense on non-accumulating compensated absences is recognized in the period in which the absences occur.

	2026	2025	2026	2025

Particulars	Gratuity		Pension
	Year ended March 31,		Year ended March 31,

Weighted average rate of increase in compensation levels	6%	6%	1%-3%	1%-3%

(1) For domestic defined benefit plan in India, the market for high-quality corporate bonds being not developed, the yield of government bonds is considered as the discount rate. For most of our overseas defined benefit plan, given that the market for high quality corporate bonds is not developed, the Government bond rate adjusted for corporate spreads is used.

(2) The average rate of increase in compensation levels is determined by the Company, considering factors, such as the Company's past compensation revision trends, inflation in respective markets and management's estimate of future salary increases.

(3) Attrition rate considered is the management's estimate based on the past long-term trend of employee turnover in the Company. The tenure has been considered taking into account the past long-term trend of employees' average remaining service life which reflects the average estimated term of post-employment benefit obligation.

For domestic defined benefit plan in India, assumptions regarding future mortality experience are set in accordance with the published statistics by the Life Insurance Corporation of India. For overseas defined benefit plan, the assumptions regarding future mortality experience are set with regard to the latest statistics in life expectancy, plan experience and other relevant data.

The Company assesses all the above assumptions with its projected long-term plans of growth and prevalent industry standards.

The Company contributes all ascertained liabilities towards gratuity to the Infosys Limited Employees' Gratuity Fund Trust. Trustees administer contributions made to the trust. The plan assets of the overseas defined benefit plan have been primarily invested in insurer managed funds and the asset allocation for plan assets is determined based on the investment criteria prescribed under the relevant regulations applicable to pension funds and the insurer managers. The insurers' investment are diversified and provide for guaranteed interest rates arrangements.

Actual return on assets (including remeasurement) of the gratuity plan for the year ended March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025, were ₹215 crore and ₹152 crore, respectively and for the pension plan were ₹80 crore and ₹59 crore, respectively.

The contributions for gratuity are invested in a scheme with the Life Insurance Corporation of India as permitted by Indian law. The table below sets out the details of major plan assets into various categories as at March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025:

(In %)

Particulars	Pension
	As at March 31,
	2026	2025
Equity	38	34
Bonds	22	30
Real Estate / Property	24	26
Cash and Cash Equivalents	1	1
Other	15	9

These defined benefit plans expose the Company to actuarial risk which are set out below:

- Interest rate risk: The present value of the defined benefit plan liability is generally calculated using a discount rate determined by reference to government bond yields and in certain overseas jurisdictions, it is calculated in reference to government bond yield adjusted for a corporate spread. If bond yields fall, the defined benefit obligation will tend to increase.
- Life expectancy and investment risk: The pension fund offers the choice between a lifelong pension and a cash lump sum upon retirement. The pension fund has defined rates for converting the lump sum to a pension and there is the risk that the members live longer than implied by these conversion rates and that the pension assets don't achieve the investment return implied by these conversion rates.
- Asset volatility: A proportion of the pension fund is held in equities, which is expected to outperform corporate bonds in the long term but give exposure to volatility and risk in the short term. The pension fund board of insurer is responsible for the investment strategy and equity allocation is justified given the long-term investment horizon of the pension fund and the objective to provide a reasonable long term return on members' account balances.

The sensitivity of significant assumptions used for valuation of defined benefit obligation is as follows:

(In ₹ crore)

Impact from	As at March 31, 2026
	Gratuity	Pension
	1% point increase/ decrease	0.5% point increase/ decrease
Discount Rate	185	56
Weighted average rate of increase in compensation level	199	9

Sensitivity for significant actuarial assumptions is computed by varying one actuarial assumption used for the valuation of defined benefit obligation, keeping all other actuarial assumptions constant. In practice, this is not probable, and changes in some of the assumptions may be correlated.

The Company expects to contribute ₹490 crore to gratuity and ₹48 crore to pension during the fiscal 2027.

Maturity profile of defined benefit obligation:

(In ₹ crore)

Particulars	Gratuity	Pension
Within 1 year	591	88
1-2 year	491	99
2-3 year	464	95
3-4 year	429	86
4-5 year	399	94
5-10 years	1,507	407

b. Superannuation

The Company contributed ₹541 crore and ₹493 crore to the Superannuation trust during the year ended March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025, respectively and the same has been recognized in the Statement of Profit and Loss account under the head employee benefit expense.

c. Provident fund

Infosys has an obligation to fund any shortfall on the yield of the trust's investments over the administered interest rates on an annual basis. These administered rates are determined annually predominantly considering the social and economic factors. The actuary has provided a valuation for provident fund liabilities on the basis of guidance issued by Actuarial Society of India.

The following tables set out the funded status of the defined benefit provident fund plan of Infosys limited and the amounts recognized in the Company's financial statements as at March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025:

The assumptions used in determining the present value obligation of the defined benefit plan under the Deterministic Approach are as follows:

Particulars	As at March 31,
	2026	2025
Government of India (GOI) bond yield [1]	6.50%	6.50%
Expected rate of return on plan assets	8.25%	8.00%
Remaining term to maturity of portfolio	6 years	6 years
Expected guaranteed interest rate	8.25%	8.25%

[1] In India, the market for high-quality corporate bonds being not developed, the yield of government bonds is considered as the discount rate. The tenure has been considered taking into account the past long-term trend of employees' average remaining service life which reflects the average estimated term of the post-employment benefit obligations.

The breakup of the plan assets into various categories as at March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025 is as follows:

(In %)

Particulars	As at March 31,
	2026	2025
Central and State government bonds	63	60
Public sector undertakings and Private sector bonds	26	28
Others	11	12

The asset allocation for plan assets is determined based on the investment criteria prescribed under the relevant regulations.

The actuarial valuation of Provident Fund liability exposes the Company to interest rate risk. The defined benefit obligation calculated uses a discount rate based on government bonds. If bond yields fall, the defined benefit obligation will tend to increase.

As at March 31, 2026, the defined benefit obligation would be affected by approximately ₹76 crore and ₹151 crore on account of a 0.25% increase / decrease in the expected rate of return on plan assets.

The Company contributed ₹1,321 crore and ₹1,158 crore to the provident fund during the year ended March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025, respectively. The same has been recognized in the net profit in the statement of profit and loss under the head employee benefit expense.

The provident plans are applicable only to employees drawing a salary in Indian rupees.

Employee benefits cost include:

2.22 Earnings per equity share

Accounting Policy

Basic earnings per equity share is computed by dividing the net profit attributable to the equity holders of the Company by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period. Diluted earnings per equity share is computed by dividing the net profit attributable to the equity holders of the Company by the weighted average number of equity shares considered for deriving basic earnings per equity share and also the weighted average number of equity shares that could have been issued upon conversion of all dilutive potential equity shares. The dilutive potential equity shares are adjusted for the proceeds receivable had the equity shares been actually issued at fair value (i.e. the average market value of the outstanding equity shares). Dilutive potential equity shares are deemed converted as at the beginning of the period, unless issued at a later date. Dilutive potential equity shares are determined independently for each period presented.

The number of equity shares and potentially dilutive equity shares are adjusted retrospectively for all periods presented for any share splits and bonus shares issues, including for changes effected prior to the approval of the financial statements by the Board of Directors.

The computation of basic earnings per equity share is as follows:

Particulars	Year ended March 31,
	2026	2025
Profit for the year	29,211	25,568
Basic earnings per equity share - weighted average number of equity shares outstanding	4,12,19,31,567	4,15,19,36,905
Basic earnings per equity share	70.87	61.58

Particulars	Year ended March 31,
	2026	2025
Profit for the year	29,211	25,568
Basic earnings per equity share - weighted average number of equity shares outstanding	4,12,19,31,567	4,15,19,36,905
Effect of dilutive common equivalent shares - share options outstanding	50,96,754	79,68,571
Diluted earnings per equity share - weighted average number of equity shares and common equivalent shares outstanding	4,12,70,28,321	4,15,99,05,476
Diluted earnings per equity share (₹)	70.78	61.46

For the year ended March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025, there were 8,58,370 and Nil options to purchase equity shares which had an anti-dilutive effect.

Independent Auditor's Report

To The Members of Infosys Limited

Opinion

We have audited the accompanying consolidated financial statements of INFOSYS LIMITED (the "Company") and its subsidiaries (the Company and its subsidiaries together referred to as the "Group") which comprise the Consolidated Balance Sheet as at March 31, 2026, and the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss (including Other Comprehensive Income), the Consolidated Statement of Changes in Equity and the Consolidated Statement of Cash Flows for the year ended on that date, and notes to the financial statements, including a summary of material accounting policies and other explanatory information (hereinafter referred to as the "Consolidated Financial Statements").

In our opinion and to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us, the aforesaid Consolidated Financial Statements, give the information required by the Companies Act, 2013 (the "Act") in the manner so required and give a true and fair view in conformity with the Indian Accounting Standards prescribed under section 133 of the Act, ("Ind AS") and other accounting principles generally accepted in India, of the consolidated state of affairs of the Group as at March 31, 2026 and their consolidated profit, their consolidated other comprehensive income, their consolidated changes in equity and their consolidated cash flows for the year ended on that date.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements in accordance with the Standards on Auditing ("SAs") specified under section 143(10) of the Act. Our responsibilities under those Standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Group in accordance with the Code of Ethics issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India ("ICAI") together with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements under the provisions of the Act and the Rules made thereunder, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements and the ICAI's Code of Ethics. We believe that the audit evidence obtained by us is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Consolidated Financial Statements.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements of the current period. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters. We have determined the matters described below to be the key audit matters to be communicated in our report.

Sr. No.	Key Audit Matter
1	Revenue recognition The Group's contracts with customers include contracts with multiple products and services. The group derives revenues from IT services comprising software development and related services, maintenance, consulting and package implementation, licensing of software products and platforms across the Group's core and digital offerings and business process management services. The Group assesses the services promised in a contract and identifies distinct performance obligations in the contract. Identification of distinct performance obligations to determine the deliverables and the ability of the customer to benefit independently from such deliverables involves significant judgement. In certain integrated services arrangements, contracts with customers include subcontractor services or third-party vendor equipment or software. In these types of arrangements, revenue from sales of third-party vendor products or services is recorded net of costs when the Group is acting as an agent between the customer and the vendor, and gross when the Group is the principal for the transaction. In doing so, the Group first evaluates whether it obtains control of the specified goods or services before it is transferred to the customer. The Group considers whether it is primarily responsible for fulfilling the promise to provide the specified goods or services, inventory risk, pricing discretion and other factors to determine whether it controls the products or service and therefore, is acting as a principal or an agent. Fixed-price maintenance revenue is recognized ratably either on (1) a straight-line basis when services are performed through an indefinite number of repetitive acts over a specified period or (2) using a percentage of completion method when the pattern of benefits from the services rendered to the customer and the Group's costs to fulfil the contract is not even through the period of contract because the services are generally discrete in nature and not repetitive. The use of method to recognize the maintenance revenues requires judgment and is based on the promises in the contract and nature of the deliverables. As certain contracts with customers involve management's judgment in (1) identifying distinct performance obligations, (2) determining whether the Group is acting as a principal or an agent and (3) whether fixed-price maintenance revenue is recognized on a straight-line basis or using the percentage of completion method, revenue recognition from these judgments were identified as a key audit matter and required a higher extent of audit effort. Refer Notes 1.5 and 2.18 to the Consolidated Financial Statements.
	Auditor's Response
	Principal Audit Procedures Performed included the following: Our audit procedures related to the (1) identification of distinct performance obligations, (2) determination of whether the Group is acting as a principal or agent and (3) whether fixed-price maintenance revenue is recognized on a straight-line basis or using the percentage of completion method included the following, among others: • We tested the effectiveness of controls relating to the (a) identification of distinct performance obligations, (b) determination of whether the Group is acting as a principal or an agent and (c) determination of whether fixed-price maintenance revenue for certain contracts is recognized on a straight-line basis or using the percentage of completion method. • We selected a sample of contracts with customers and performed the following procedures: – Obtained and read contract documents for each selection, including master service agreements, and other documents that were part of the agreement. – Identified significant terms and deliverables in the contract to assess management's conclusions regarding the (i) identification of distinct performance obligations (ii) whether the Group is acting as a principal or an agent and (iii) whether fixed-price maintenance revenue is recognized on a straight-line basis or using the percentage of completion method

Sr. No.	Key Audit Matter
2	Revenue recognition - Fixed-price contracts using the percentage of completion method Fixed-price maintenance revenue is recognized ratably either (1) on a straight-line basis when services are performed through an indefinite number of repetitive acts over a specified period or (2) using a percentage of completion method when the pattern of benefits from services rendered to the customer and the Group's costs to fulfil the contract is not even through the period of contract because the services are generally discrete in nature and not repetitive. Revenue from other fixed-price, fixed-timeframe contracts, where the performance obligations are satisfied over time is recognized using the percentage-of-completion method. Use of the percentage-of-completion method requires the Group to determine the actual efforts or costs expended to date as a proportion of the estimated total efforts or costs to be incurred. Efforts or costs expended have been used to measure progress towards completion as there is a direct relationship between input and productivity. The estimation of total efforts or costs involves significant judgement and is assessed throughout the period of the contract to reflect any changes based on the latest available information. Provisions for estimated losses, if any, on uncompleted contracts are recorded in the period in which such losses become probable based on the estimated efforts or costs to complete the contract. We identified the estimate of total efforts or costs to complete fixed-price contracts measured using the percentage of completion method as a key audit matter as the estimation of total efforts or costs involves significant judgement and is assessed throughout the period of the contract to reflect any changes based on the latest available information. This estimate has a high inherent uncertainty and requires consideration of progress of the contract, efforts or costs incurred to-date and estimates of efforts or costs required to complete the remaining contract performance obligations over the term of the contracts. This required a high degree of auditor judgment in evaluating the audit evidence and a higher extent of audit effort to evaluate the reasonableness of the total estimated amount of revenue recognized on fixed-price contracts. Refer Notes 1.5 and 2.18 to the Consolidated Financial Statements.
	Auditor's Response
	Principal Audit Procedures Performed included the following: Our audit procedures related to estimates of total expected costs or efforts to complete for fixed-price contracts included the following, among others: • We tested the effectiveness of controls relating to (1) recording of efforts or costs incurred and estimation of efforts or costs required to complete the remaining contract performance obligations and (2) access and application controls pertaining to time recording, allocation and budgeting systems which prevents unauthorised changes to recording of efforts incurred. • We selected a sample of fixed-price contracts with customers measured the using percentage-of-completion method and performed the following: – Evaluated management's ability to reasonably estimate the progress towards satisfying the performance obligation by comparing actual efforts or costs incurred to prior year estimates of efforts or costs budgeted for performance obligations that have been fulfilled. – Compared efforts or costs incurred with Group's estimate of efforts or costs incurred to date to identify significant variations and evaluate whether those variations have been considered appropriately in estimating the remaining costs or efforts to complete the contract. – Tested the estimate for consistency with the status of delivery of milestones and customer acceptances and sign off from customers to identify possible delays in achieving milestones, which require changes in estimated costs or efforts to complete the remaining performance obligations.

Information Other than the Financial Statements and Auditor's Report Thereon

The Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the preparation of the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the Management Discussion and Analysis, Board's Report including Annexures to Board's Report, Business Responsibility and Sustainability Report, Corporate Governance and Shareholder's Information, but does not include the Consolidated Financial Statements, standalone financial statements and our auditor's report thereon.

Our opinion on the Consolidated Financial Statements does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements, our responsibility is to read the other information, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the Consolidated Financial Statements or our knowledge obtained during the course of our audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated.

If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

Responsibilities of Management and Board of Directors for the Consolidated Financial Statements

The Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the matters stated in section 134(5) of the Act with respect to the preparation and presentation of these Consolidated Financial Statements that give a true and fair view of the consolidated financial position, consolidated financial performance including other comprehensive income, consolidated changes in equity and consolidated cash flows of the Group in accordance with the accounting principles generally accepted in India, including Ind AS specified under section 133 of the Act. The respective Boards of Directors/Trustees of the entities included in the Group are responsible for maintenance of adequate accounting records in accordance with the provisions of the Act for safeguarding the assets of the Group and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; selection and application of appropriate accounting policies; making judgments and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls, that were operating effectively for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the financial statements that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, which have been used for the purpose of preparation of the Consolidated Financial Statements by the Directors of the Company, as aforesaid.

In preparing the Consolidated Financial Statements, the respective Boards of Directors/Trustees of the entities included in the Group are responsible for assessing the ability of the respective entities to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the respective Boards of Directors either intends to liquidate their respective entities or to cease operations, or have no realistic alternative but to do so.

The respective Boards of Directors/Trustees of the entities included in the Group are also responsible for overseeing the financial reporting process of the Group.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the Consolidated Financial Statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these Consolidated Financial Statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the Consolidated Financial Statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal financial control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances. Under section 143(3)(i) of the Act, we are also responsible for expressing our opinion on whether the Company and its subsidiary companies which are companies incorporated in India, has adequate internal financial controls with reference to Consolidated Financial Statements in place and the operating effectiveness of such controls.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the ability of the Group to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the Consolidated Financial Statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Group to cease to continue as a going concern.

- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the Consolidated Financial Statements, including the disclosures, and whether the Consolidated Financial Statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- Obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities within the Group to express an opinion on the Consolidated Financial Statements.

Materiality is the magnitude of misstatements in the Consolidated Financial Statements that, individually or in aggregate, makes it probable that the economic decisions of a reasonably knowledgeable user of the Consolidated Financial Statements may be influenced. We consider quantitative materiality and qualitative factors in (i) planning the scope of our audit work and in evaluating the results of our work; and (ii) to evaluate the effect of any identified misstatements in the Consolidated Financial Statements.

We communicate with those charged with governance of the Company and such other entities included in the Consolidated Financial Statements of which we are the independent auditors regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal financial controls that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

Annexure "A" To The Independent Auditor's Report

(Referred to in paragraph 1(f) under 'Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements' section of our report to the Members of Infosys Limited of even date)

Report on the Internal Financial Controls with reference to Consolidated Financial Statements under Clause (i) of sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013 (the "Act")

In conjunction with our audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements of the Company as of and for the year ended March 31, 2026, we have audited the internal financial controls with reference to Consolidated Financial Statements of INFOSYS LIMITED (hereinafter referred to as the "Company") and its subsidiary companies, which are companies incorporated in India, as of that date.

Management's and Board of Directors' Responsibilities for Internal Financial Controls

The respective Company's management and Boards of Directors of the Company and its subsidiary companies, which are companies incorporated in India, are responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the respective Companies considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (the "ICAI"). These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to the respective company's policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Act.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the internal financial controls with reference to Consolidated Financial Statements of the Company and its subsidiary companies, which are companies incorporated in India, based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting (the "Guidance Note") issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India ("ICAI") and the Standards on Auditing, prescribed under Section 143(10) of the Act, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls with reference to Consolidated Financial Statements. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls with reference to Consolidated Financial Statements was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls with reference to Consolidated Financial Statements and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls with reference to Consolidated Financial Statements included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls with reference to Consolidated Financial Statements, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the internal financial controls with reference to Consolidated Financial Statements of the Company and its subsidiary companies, which are companies incorporated in India.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls with reference to Consolidated Financial Statements

A company's internal financial control with reference to Consolidated Financial Statements is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal financial control with reference to Consolidated Financial Statements includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorisations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls with reference to Consolidated Financial Statements

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls with reference to Consolidated Financial Statements, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls with reference to Consolidated Financial Statements to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control with reference to Consolidated Financial Statements may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

In our opinion and to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us, the Company and its subsidiary companies, which are companies incorporated in India, have, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system with reference to Consolidated Financial Statements and such internal financial controls with reference to Consolidated Financial Statements were operating effectively as at March 31, 2026, based on the criteria for internal financial control with reference to Consolidated Financial Statements established by the respective companies considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the ICAI.

Consolidated Statement of Cash Flows

Accounting policy

Cash flows are reported using the indirect method, whereby profit for the year is adjusted for the effects of transactions of a non-cash nature, any deferrals or accruals of past or future operating cash receipts or payments and item of income or expenses associated with investing or financing cash flows. The cash flows from operating, investing and financing activities of the Group are segregated. The Group considers all highly liquid investments that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash to be cash equivalents.

Overview and notes to the Consolidated Financial Statements

1. Overview

1.1 Company overview

Infosys Limited ("the Company" or Infosys) provides AI-first business consulting and technology services, to enable organizations to unlock AI value at scale. With over four decades of experience in managing the systems and workings of global enterprises, Infosys accelerates business transformation through its AI-first value framework, deep domain expertise, and unique ability to orchestrate innovations from its AI-native partner ecosystem. Infosys' strategy is to be the navigator for its clients as they ideate, plan and execute on their journey to an AI-first future.

Infosys together with its subsidiaries and controlled trusts is hereinafter referred to as "the Group".

The Company is a public limited company incorporated and domiciled in India and has its registered office at Electronics city, Hosur Road, Bengaluru 560100, Karnataka, India. The Company has its primary listings on the BSE Ltd. and National Stock Exchange of India Limited. The Company's American Depositary Shares (ADS) representing equity shares are listed on the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE).

The Group's Consolidated financial statements are approved for issue by the Company's Board of Directors on April 23, 2026.

1.2 Basis of preparation of financial statements

These Consolidated financial statements are prepared in accordance with the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013 (''the Act''), guidelines issued by the Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI) and Indian Accounting Standard (Ind AS) under the historical cost convention on accrual basis except for certain financial instruments which are measured at fair values and defined benefit liability / (asset) which is recognized at the present value of defined benefit obligation less fair value of plan assets. The Ind AS are prescribed under Section 133 of the Act read with Rule 3 of the Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015 and relevant amendment rules issued thereafter.

Accounting policies have been consistently applied except where a newly-issued accounting standard is initially adopted or a revision to an existing accounting standard requires a change in the accounting policy hitherto in use. The material accounting policy information used in preparation of the audited consolidated financial statements have been discussed in the respective notes.

As the quarter and year-to-date figures are taken from the source and rounded to the nearest digits, the quarter figures in this statement added up to the figures reported for the previous quarters might not always add up to the year-to-date figures reported in this statement.

1.3 Basis of consolidation

Infosys consolidates entities which it owns or controls. The Consolidated financial statements comprise the financial statements of the Company, its controlled trusts and its subsidiaries. Control exists when the parent has power over the entity, is exposed, or has rights to variable returns from its involvement with the entity and has the ability to affect those returns by using its power over the entity. Power is demonstrated through existing rights that give the ability to direct relevant activities, those which significantly affect the entity's returns. Subsidiaries are consolidated from the date control commences until the date control ceases.

The financial statements of the Group companies are consolidated on a line-by-line basis and intra-group balances and transactions including unrealized gain / loss from such transactions are eliminated upon consolidation. These financial statements are prepared by applying uniform accounting policies in use at the Group. Non-controlling interests which represent part of the net profit or loss and net assets of subsidiaries that are not, directly or indirectly, owned or controlled by the Company, are excluded.

Refer to Note 2.25 for the list of subsidiaries and controlled trusts of the Company.

1.4 Use of estimates and judgments

The preparation of the consolidated financial statements in conformity with Ind AS requires the Management to make estimates, judgments and assumptions. These estimates, judgments and assumptions affect the application of accounting policies and the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, the disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the consolidated financial statements and reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the period. The application of accounting policies that require critical accounting estimates involving complex and subjective judgments and the use of assumptions in these financial statements have been disclosed in Note 1.5. Critical accounting estimates and judgments could change from period to period. Actual results could differ from those estimates. Appropriate changes in estimates are made as the Management becomes aware of changes in circumstances surrounding the estimates. Changes in estimates and judgments are reflected in the Consolidated financial statements in the period in which changes are made and, if material, their effects are disclosed in the notes to the Consolidated financial statements.

1.5 Critical accounting estimates and judgments

a. Revenue recognition

The Group's contracts with customers include promises to transfer multiple products and services to a customer. Revenues from customer contracts are considered for recognition and measurement when the contract has been approved, in writing, by the parties to the contract, the parties to contract are committed to perform their respective obligations under the contract, and the contract is legally enforceable. The Group assesses the services promised in a contract and identifies distinct performance obligations in the contract. Identification of distinct performance obligations to determine the deliverables and the ability of the customer to benefit independently from such deliverables, and allocation of transaction price to these distinct performance obligations involves significant judgment.

Fixed-price maintenance revenue is recognized ratably on a straight-line basis when services are performed through an indefinite number of repetitive acts over a specified period. Revenue from fixed-price maintenance contract is recognized ratably using a percentage-of-completion method when the pattern of benefits from the services rendered to the customer and the Group's costs to fulfill the contract is not even through the period of the contract because the services are generally discrete in nature and not repetitive. The use of method to recognize the maintenance revenues requires judgment and is based on the promises in the contract and nature of the deliverables.

The Group uses the percentage-of-completion method in accounting for other fixed-price contracts. Use of the percentage-of-completion method requires the Group to determine the actual efforts or costs expended to date as a proportion of the estimated total efforts or costs to be incurred. Efforts or costs expended have been used to measure progress towards completion as there is a direct relationship between input and productivity. The estimation of total efforts or costs involves significant judgment and is assessed throughout the period of the contract to reflect any changes based on the latest available information.

Contracts with customers includes sub-contractor services or third-party vendor equipment or software in certain integrated services arrangements. In these types of arrangements, revenue from sales of third-party vendor products or services is recorded net of costs when the Group is acting as an agent between the customer and the vendor, and gross when the Group is the principal for the transaction. In doing so, the Group first evaluates whether it obtains control of the specified goods or services before they are transferred to the customer. The Group considers whether it is primarily responsible for fulfilling the promise to provide the specified goods or services, inventory risk, pricing discretion and other factors to determine whether it controls the specified goods or services and therefore, is acting as a principal or an agent.

Provisions for estimated losses, if any, on incomplete contracts are recorded in the period in which such losses become probable based on the estimated efforts or costs to complete the contract.

b. Income taxes

The Group's two major tax jurisdictions are India and the United States, though the Company also files tax returns in other overseas jurisdictions.

Significant judgments are involved in determining the provision for income taxes, including amount expected to be paid / recovered for uncertain tax positions.

In assessing the realizability of deferred income tax assets, the Management considers whether some portion or all of the deferred income tax assets will not be realized. The ultimate realization of deferred income tax assets is dependent upon the generation of future taxable income during the periods in which the temporary differences become deductible. The Management considers the scheduled reversals of deferred income tax liabilities, projected future taxable income and tax planning strategies in making this assessment. Based on the level of historical taxable income and projections for future taxable income over the periods in which the deferred income tax assets are deductible, the Management believes that the Group will realize the benefits of those deductible differences. The amount of the deferred income tax assets considered realizable, however, could be reduced in the near term if estimates of future taxable income during the carry forward period are reduced (Refer to Notes 2.17).

c. Business combinations and intangible assets

Business combinations are accounted for using Ind AS 103, Business Combinations. Ind AS 103 requires us to fair value identifiable intangible assets and contingent consideration to ascertain the net fair value of identifiable assets, liabilities and contingent liabilities of the acquiree. These valuations are conducted by external valuation experts. Estimates are required to be made in determining the value of contingent consideration, value of option arrangements and intangible assets. These measurements are based on information available at the acquisition date and are based on expectations and assumptions that have been deemed reasonable by the Management (Refer to Note 2.1 and 2.4.2).

d. Property, plant and equipment

Property, plant and equipment represent a significant proportion of the asset base of the Group. The charge in respect of periodic depreciation is derived after determining an estimate of an asset's expected useful life and the expected residual value at the end of its life. The useful lives and residual values of Group's assets are determined by the Management at the time the asset is acquired and reviewed periodically, including at each financial year end. The lives are based on historical experience with similar assets as well as anticipation of future events, which may impact their life, such as changes in technology (Refer to Note 2.2).

e. Impairment of goodwill

Goodwill is tested for impairment on an annual basis and whenever there is an indication that the recoverable amount of a Cash Generating Unit (CGUs) is less than its carrying amount. For the impairment test, goodwill is allocated to the CGU or groups of CGUs which benefit from the synergies of the acquisition and which represent the lowest level at which goodwill is monitored for internal management purposes.

The recoverable amount of CGUs is determined based on higher of value-in-use and fair value less cost to sell. Key assumptions in the cash flow projections are prepared based on current economic conditions and comprises estimated long-term growth rates, weighted average cost of capital and estimated operating margins (Refer to note 2.4.1).

2. Notes to the Consolidated financial statements

2.1 Business combinations

Accounting policy

Business combinations have been accounted for using the acquisition method under the provisions of Ind AS 103, Business Combinations.

The purchase price in an acquisition is measured at the fair value of the assets transferred, equity instruments issued and liabilities incurred or assumed at the date of acquisition, which is the date on which control is transferred to the Group. The purchase price also includes the fair value of any contingent consideration. Identifiable assets acquired and liabilities and contingent liabilities assumed in a business combination are measured initially at their fair value on the date of acquisition. Contingent consideration is remeasured at fair value at each reporting date and changes in the fair value of the contingent consideration are recognized in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

The interest of non-controlling shareholders is initially measured either at fair value or at the non-controlling interests' proportionate share of the acquiree's identifiable net assets. The choice of measurement basis is made on an acquisition-by-acquisition basis. Subsequent to acquisition, the carrying amount of non-controlling interests is the amount of those interests at initial recognition plus the non-controlling interests' share of subsequent changes in equity of subsidiaries.

Business combinations between entities under common control is accounted for at carrying value of the assets acquired and liabilities assumed in the Group's consolidated financial statements.

The payments related to options issued by the Group over the non-controlling interests in its subsidiaries are accounted as financial liabilities and initially recognized at the estimated present value of gross obligations. Such options are subsequently measured at fair value in order to reflect the amount payable under the option at the date at which it becomes exercisable. In the event that the option expires unexercised, the liability is derecognized.

Proposed acquisitions

1. On August 13, 2025, Infosys Singapore Pte. Ltd., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Infosys Limited, entered into a definitive agreement to acquire 75% of the equity share capital in Telstra Purple Pty Ltd, including some of its subsidiaries (together known as Versent Group), Australia's leading Digital Transformation Solutions Provider for a consideration including earn-outs and deferred consideration amounting up to AUD 233 million (approximately ₹1,335 crore), excluding retention bonus and management incentives, subject to regulatory approvals and customary closing adjustments.
2. On March 25, 2026, Infosys Nova Holdings LLC, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Infosys Limited, entered into a definitive agreement to acquire 100% of the equity share capital of Optimum Achieve Holdings Inc., a leading healthcare digital transformation and consulting firm headquartered in USA, along with its other subsidiaries including Optimum Healthcare IT, LLC, for a consideration including earn-outs amounting up to $465 million (approximately ₹4,410 crore), excluding management incentives and retention bonus, subject to customary closing adjustments.

Update on acquisition completed after the end of the reporting period

On March 25, 2026, Infosys Nova Holdings LLC, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Infosys Limited, entered into a definitive agreement to acquire 100% of the partnership interests of Stratus Global LLC, a leading insurance technology partner serving P&C insurers and managing general agents (MGAs), headquartered in USA, for a consideration including earn-outs amounting up to $95 million (approximately ₹901 crore), excluding management incentives, and retention bonus, subject to customary closing adjustments. Subsequently in April 2026, as on the date these financial statements were authorized for issuance, Infosys Nova Holdings LLC has completed its acquisition of Stratus Global LLC. Given the recent timing of the acquisition and pending completion of the valuations for identifiable net assets acquired and liabilities assumed, at the time these financial statements were authorized for issuance, the initial accounting for the business combination is incomplete. Accordingly, all the required disclosures for the business combination have not been made.

2.2 Property, plant and equipment

Accounting policy

Property, plant and equipment are stated at cost, less accumulated depreciation and impairment, if any. Costs directly attributable to acquisition are capitalized until the property, plant and equipment are ready for use, as intended by the Management. The charge in respect of periodic depreciation is derived at after determining an estimate of an asset's expected useful life and the expected residual value at the end of its life. The Group depreciates property, plant and equipment over their estimated useful lives using the straight-line method. The estimated useful lives of assets are as follows:

Buildings[1]	22-25 years
Plant and machinery[1][2]	5 years
Office equipment	5 years
Computer equipment[1]	3-5 years
Furniture and fixtures[1]	5 years
Vehicles[1]	5 years
Leasehold improvements	Lower of useful life of the asset or lease term

[1] Based on technical evaluation, the Management believes that the useful lives as given above best represent the period over which the Management expects to use these assets. Hence, the useful lives for these assets is different from the useful lives as prescribed under Part C of Schedule II of the Companies Act 2013.

[2] Includes solar plant with a useful life of 25 years

Depreciation methods, useful lives and residual values are reviewed periodically, including at each financial year end. The useful lives are based on historical experience with similar assets as well as anticipation of future events, which may impact their life, such as changes in technology.

Advances paid towards the acquisition of property, plant and equipment outstanding at each Balance Sheet date is classified as capital advances under other non-current assets and the cost of assets not ready to use before such date are disclosed under 'Capital work-in-progress'. Subsequent expenditures relating to property, plant and equipment is capitalized only when it is probable that future economic benefits associated with these will flow to the Group and the cost of the item can be measured reliably. The cost and related accumulated depreciation are eliminated from the financial statements upon sale or retirement of the asset.

Impairment

Property, plant and equipment are evaluated for recoverability whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that their carrying amounts may not be recoverable. For the purpose of impairment testing, the recoverable amount (i.e. the higher of the fair value less cost to sell and the value-in-use) is determined on an individual asset basis unless the asset does not generate cash flows that are largely independent of those from other assets. In such cases, the recoverable amount is determined for the Cash Generating Unit (CGU) to which the asset belongs.

If such assets are considered to be impaired, the impairment to be recognized in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss is measured by the amount by which the carrying value of the assets exceeds the estimated recoverable amount of the asset. An impairment loss is reversed in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss if there has been a change in the estimates used to determine the recoverable amount. The carrying amount of the asset is increased to its revised recoverable amount, provided that this amount does not exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined (net of any accumulated depreciation) had no impairment loss been recognized for the asset in prior years.

2.4 Goodwill and other intangible assets

2.4.1 Goodwill

Accounting policy

Goodwill represents the purchase consideration in excess of the Group's interest in the net fair value of identifiable assets, liabilities and contingent liabilities of the acquired entity. When the net fair value of the identifiable assets, liabilities and contingent liabilities acquired exceeds purchase consideration, the fair value of net assets acquired is reassessed and the bargain purchase gain is recognized in capital reserve. Goodwill is measured at cost less accumulated impairment losses.

Impairment

Goodwill is tested for impairment on an annual basis and whenever there is an indication that the recoverable amount of a Cash Generating Unit (CGU) is less than its carrying amount. For the impairment test, goodwill is allocated to the CGU or groups of CGUs which benefit from the synergies of the acquisition and which represents the lowest level at which goodwill is monitored for internal management purposes. A CGU is the smallest identifiable group of assets that generates cash inflows that are largely independent of the cash inflows from other assets or group of assets. Impairment occurs when the carrying amount of a CGU including the goodwill, exceeds the estimated recoverable amount of the CGU. The recoverable amount of a CGU is the higher of its fair value less cost to sell and its value-in-use. Value-in-use is the present value of future cash flows expected to be derived from the CGU. Key assumptions in the cash flow projections are prepared based on current economic conditions and includes estimated long term growth rates, weighted average cost of capital and estimated operating margins.

(In ₹ crore)

Particulars	As at March 31,
	2026	2025
Carrying value at the beginning	10,106	7,303
Goodwill on acquisitions (Refer to Note 2.1)	444	2,593
Carrying value at the end	12,117	10,106

For the purpose of impairment testing, goodwill acquired in a business combination is allocated to the CGU or groups of CGUs, which benefit from the synergies of the acquisition. The Group internally reviews the goodwill for impairment at the operating segment level, after allocation of the goodwill to CGUs or groups of CGUs.

The allocation of goodwill to operating segments as at March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025 is as follows:

(In ₹ crore)

Segment	As at March 31,
	2026	2025
Financial services	1,842	1,510
Retail	1,123	961
Communication	813	691
Energy, Utilities, Resources and Services	1,763	1,337
Manufacturing	3,523	2,986
Life Sciences	1,155	975
	10,219	8,460
Operating segments without significant goodwill	785	650
Total	11,004	9,110

The goodwill pertaining to Panaya amounting to ₹1,113 crore and ₹996 crore as at March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025, respectively is tested for impairment at the entity level.

The recoverable amount of a CGU is the higher of its fair value less cost to sell and its value-in-use. The fair value of a CGU is determined based on the market capitalization. Value-in-use is determined based on discounted future cash flows. The key assumptions used for the calculations are as follows:

(In %)

Particulars	As at March 31,
	2026	2025
Long-term growth rate	7-10	7-10
Operating margins	19-21	19-21
Discount rate	14	13

The above discount rate is based on the Weighted Average Cost of Capital (WACC) of the Company. As at March 31, 2026, the estimated recoverable amount of the CGU exceeded its carrying amount. Reasonable sensitivities in key assumptions is unlikely to cause the carrying amount to exceed the recoverable amount of the CGUs.

2.4.2 Other intangible assets

Accounting policy

Intangible assets are stated at cost less accumulated amortization and impairment. Intangible assets are amortized over their respective individual estimated useful lives on a straight-line basis, from the date that they are available for use. The estimated useful life of an identifiable intangible asset is based on a number of factors including the effects of obsolescence, demand, competition, and other economic factors (such as the stability of the industry, and known technological advances) and the level of maintenance expenditures required to obtain the expected future cash flows from the asset. Amortization methods and useful lives are reviewed periodically including at each financial year end.

Research costs are expensed as incurred. Software product development costs are expensed as incurred unless technical and commercial feasibility of the project is demonstrated, future economic benefits are probable, the Group has an intention and ability to complete and use or sell the software and the costs can be measured reliably. The costs which can be capitalized include the cost of material, direct labor, overhead costs that are directly attributable to prepare the asset for its intended use.

Impairment

Intangible assets are evaluated for recoverability whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that their carrying amounts may not be recoverable. For the purpose of impairment testing, the recoverable amount (i.e. the higher of the fair value less cost to sell and the value-in-use) is determined on an individual asset basis unless the asset does not generate cash flows that are largely independent of those from other assets. In such cases, the recoverable amount is determined for the CGU to which the asset belongs.

If such assets are considered to be impaired, the impairment to be recognized in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss is measured by the amount by which the carrying value of the assets exceeds the estimated recoverable amount of the asset. An impairment loss is reversed in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss if there has been a change in the estimates used to determine the recoverable amount. The carrying amount of the asset is increased to its revised recoverable amount, provided that this amount does not exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined (net of any accumulated amortization) had no impairment loss been recognized for the asset in prior years.

The changes in the carrying value of acquired intangible assets for the year ended March 31, 2026 are as follows :

2.11 Financial instruments

Accounting policy

2.11.1 Initial recognition

The Group recognizes financial assets and financial liabilities when it becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument. All financial assets and liabilities are recognized at fair value on initial recognition, except for trade receivables which are initially measured at transaction price. Transaction costs that are directly attributable to the acquisition or issue of financial assets and financial liabilities, which are not at fair value through profit or loss, are added to the fair value on initial recognition. Regular way purchase and sale of financial assets are accounted for at trade date.

2.11.2 Subsequent measurement

a. Non-derivative financial instruments

(i) Financial assets carried at amortized cost

A financial asset is subsequently measured at amortized cost if it is held within a business model whose objective is to hold the asset in order to collect contractual cash flows and the contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

(ii) Financial assets carried at fair value through other comprehensive income (FVOCI)

A financial asset is subsequently measured at fair value through other comprehensive income if it is held within a business model whose objective is achieved by both collecting contractual cash flows and selling financial assets and the contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding. The Group has made an irrevocable election for certain investments which are classified as equity instruments to present the subsequent changes in fair value in other comprehensive income based on its business model.

(iii) Financial assets carried at fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL)

A financial asset which is not classified in any of the above categories is subsequently fair valued through profit or loss.

(iv) Financial liabilities

Financial liabilities are subsequently carried at amortized cost using the effective interest method, except for contingent consideration and financial liability under option arrangements recognized in a business combination which is subsequently measured at fair value through profit or loss.

b. Derivative financial instruments

The Group holds derivative financial instruments such as foreign exchange forward and option contracts to mitigate the risk of changes in exchange rates on foreign currency exposures. The counterparty for such contracts is generally a bank.

(i) Financial assets or financial liabilities, carried at fair value through profit or loss.

This category includes derivative financial assets or liabilities which are not designated as hedges.

Although the Group believes that these derivatives constitute hedges from an economic perspective, they may not qualify for hedge accounting under Ind AS 109, Financial Instruments. Any derivative that is either not designated as hedge, or is so designated but is ineffective as per Ind AS 109, is categorized as a financial asset or financial liability, at fair value through profit or loss.

Derivatives not designated as hedges are recognized initially at fair value and attributable transaction costs are recognized in net profit in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss when incurred. Subsequent to initial recognition, these derivatives are measured at fair value through profit or loss and the resulting exchange gains or losses are included in other income. Assets / liabilities in this category are presented as current assets / current liabilities if they are either held for trading or are expected to be realized within 12 months after the Balance Sheet date.

(ii) Cash flow hedge

Primarily, the Group designates certain foreign exchange forward and options contracts as cash flow hedges to mitigate the risk of foreign exchange exposure on highly probable forecast cash transactions.

When a derivative is designated as a cash flow hedging instrument, the effective portion of changes in the fair value of the derivative is recognized in other comprehensive income and accumulated in the cash flow hedge reserve. Any ineffective portion of changes in the fair value of the derivative is recognized immediately in the net profit in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss. If the hedging instrument no longer meets the criteria for hedge accounting, then hedge accounting is discontinued prospectively. If the hedging instrument expires or is sold, terminated or exercised, the cumulative gain or loss on the hedging instrument recognized in cash flow hedge reserve till the period the hedge was effective remains in cash flow hedge reserve until the forecasted transaction occurs. The cumulative gain or loss previously recognized in the cash flow hedge reserve is transferred to the net profit in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss upon the occurrence of the related forecasted transaction. If the forecasted transaction is no longer expected to occur, then the amount accumulated in cash flow hedge reserve is reclassified to net profit in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

2.11.3 Derecognition of financial instruments

The Group derecognizes a financial asset when the contractual rights to the cash flows from the financial asset expire or it transfers the financial asset and the transfer qualifies for derecognition under Ind AS 109. A financial liability (or a part of a financial liability) is derecognized from the Group's Balance Sheet when the obligation specified in the contract is discharged or cancelled or expires.

2.11.4 Fair value of financial instruments

In determining the fair value of its financial instruments, the Group uses a variety of methods and assumptions that are based on market conditions and risks existing at each reporting date. The methods used to determine fair value include discounted cash flow analysis, option pricing model, market multiples, available quoted market prices and dealer quotes. All methods of assessing fair value result in general approximation of value, and such value may never actually be realized.

Refer to table 'Financial instruments by category' below for the disclosure on carrying value and fair value of financial assets and liabilities. For financial assets and liabilities maturing within one year from the Balance Sheet date and which are not carried at fair value, the carrying amounts approximates fair value due to the short maturity of these instruments.

2.11.5 Impairment

The Group recognizes loss allowances using the Expected Credit Loss (ECL) model for the financial assets and unbilled revenue which are not fair valued through profit or loss. Loss allowance for trade receivables and unbilled revenues with no significant financing component is measured at an amount equal to lifetime ECL. For all other financial assets, ECLs are measured at an amount equal to the 12-month ECL, unless there has been a significant increase in credit risk from initial recognition in which case those are measured at lifetime ECL.

The Group determines the allowance for credit losses based on historical loss experience adjusted to reflect current and estimated future economic conditions. The Group considers current and anticipated future economic conditions relating to industries the Group deals with and the countries where it operates.

The amount of ECL (or reversal) that is required to adjust the loss allowance at the reporting date to the amount that is required to be recorded is recognized as an impairment loss or gain in Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

Financial risk management

Financial risk factors

The Group's activities expose it to a variety of financial risks: market risk, credit risk and liquidity risk. The Group's primary focus is to foresee the unpredictability of financial markets and seek to minimize potential adverse effects on its financial performance. The primary market risk to the Group is foreign exchange risk. The Group uses derivative financial instruments to mitigate foreign exchange related risk exposures. The Group's exposure to credit risk is influenced mainly by the individual characteristic of each customer and the concentration of risk from the top few customers.

Market risk

The Group operates internationally and a major portion of the business is transacted in several currencies and consequently the Group is exposed to foreign exchange risk through its sales and services in the United States and elsewhere, and purchases from overseas suppliers in various foreign currencies. The Group holds derivative financial instruments such as foreign exchange forward and option contracts to mitigate the risk of changes in exchange rates on foreign currency exposures. The Group is also exposed to foreign exchange risk arising on intercompany transaction in foreign currencies. The exchange rate between the Indian rupee and foreign currencies has changed substantially in recent years and may fluctuate substantially in the future. Consequently, the results of the Group's operations are adversely affected as the rupee appreciates/ depreciates against these currencies.

The analysis of foreign currency risk from financial assets and liabilities as at March 31, 2026 is as follows:

Derivative financial instruments

The Group primarily holds derivative financial instruments such as foreign currency forward and option contracts to mitigate the risk of changes in exchange rates on foreign currency exposures. The counterparty for these contracts is generally a bank. These derivative financial instruments are valued based on quoted prices for similar assets and liabilities in active markets or inputs that are directly or indirectly observable in the marketplace.

The foreign exchange forward and option contracts mature within 12 months. The table below analyses the derivative financial instruments into relevant maturity groupings based on the remaining period as at the Balance Sheet date:

During the year ended March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025, the Group has designated certain foreign exchange forward and option contracts as cash flow hedges to mitigate the risk of foreign exchange exposure on highly probable forecast cash transactions. The related hedge transactions for balance in cash flow hedges as of March 31, 2026 are expected to occur and will be reclassified to the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss within three months.

The Group determines the existence of an economic relationship between the hedging instrument and the hedged item based on the currency, amount and timing of its forecasted cash flows. Hedge effectiveness is determined at the inception of the hedge relationship, and through periodic prospective effectiveness assessments to ensure that an economic relationship exists between the hedged item and hedging instrument, including whether the hedging instrument is expected to offset changes in cash flows of hedged items.

If the hedge ratio for risk management purposes is no longer optimal but the risk management objective remains unchanged and the hedge continues to qualify for hedge accounting, the hedge relationship will be rebalanced by adjusting either the volume of the hedging instrument or the volume of the hedged item so that the hedge ratio aligns with the ratio used for risk management purposes. Any hedge ineffectiveness is calculated and accounted for in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss at the time of the hedge relationship rebalancing.

The reconciliation of cash flow hedge reserve for the year ended March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025 is as follows:

The fair value of the awards are estimated using the Black-Scholes Model for time and non-market performance-based options and Monte Carlo simulation model is used for TSR-based options.

The inputs to the model include the share price at date of grant, exercise price, expected volatility, expected dividends, expected term and the risk free rate of interest. Expected volatility during the expected term of the options is based on historical volatility of the observed market prices of the Company's publicly traded equity shares during a period equivalent to the expected term of the options. Expected volatility of the comparative company have been modelled based on historical movements in the market prices of their publicly traded equity shares during a period equivalent to the expected term of the options. Correlation coefficient is calculated between each peer entity and the indices as a whole or between each entity in the peer group.

The fair value of each equity-settled award is estimated on the date of grant using the following assumptions:

2.16 Provisions

Accounting policy

A provision is recognized if, as a result of a past event, the Group has a present legal or constructive obligation that is reasonably estimable, and it is probable that an outflow of economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation. Provisions are determined by discounting the expected future cash flows at a pre-tax rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the liability. The Group recognizes a reimbursement asset when, and only when, it is virtually certain that the reimbursement will be received if the Group settles the obligation.

a. Post-sales client support

The Group provides its clients with a fixed-period post-sales support on its fixed-price, fixed-timeframe contracts. Costs associated with such support services are accrued at the time related revenues are recorded and included in Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss. The Group estimates such costs based on historical experience and estimates are reviewed on a periodic basis for any material changes in assumptions and likelihood of occurrence.

b. Onerous contracts

Provisions for onerous contracts are recognized when the expected benefits to be derived by the Group from a contract are lower than the unavoidable costs of meeting the future obligations under the contract. Provisions for estimated losses, if any, on incomplete contracts are recorded in the period in which such losses become probable based on the estimated efforts or costs to complete the contract. The provision is measured at the present value of the lower of the expected cost of terminating the contract and the expected net cost of continuing with the contract. Before a provision is established the Group recognizes any impairment loss on the assets associated with that contract.

2.17 Income taxes

Accounting policy

Income tax expense comprises current and deferred income tax. Income tax expense is recognized in net profit in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss except to the extent that it relates to items recognized directly in equity, in which case it is recognized in equity or other comprehensive income. Current income tax for current and prior periods is recognized at the amount expected to be paid to or recovered from the tax authorities, using the tax rates and tax laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the Balance Sheet date. Deferred income tax assets and liabilities are recognized for all temporary differences arising between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts in the financial statements except when the deferred income tax arises from the initial recognition of goodwill or an asset or liability in a transaction that is not a business combination and affects neither accounting nor taxable profit or loss at the time of the transaction. Deferred tax assets are reviewed at each reporting date and are reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that the related tax benefit will be realized.

Deferred income tax assets and liabilities are measured using tax rates and tax laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the Balance Sheet date and are expected to apply to taxable income in the years in which those temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. The effect of changes in tax rates on deferred income tax assets and liabilities is recognized as income or expense in the period that includes the enactment or the substantive enactment date. A deferred income tax asset is recognized to the extent that it is probable that future taxable profit will be available against which the deductible temporary differences and tax losses can be utilized. Deferred income taxes are not provided on the undistributed earnings of subsidiaries and branches where it is expected that the earnings of the subsidiary or branch will not be distributed in the foreseeable future.

The Group offsets current tax assets and current tax liabilities; deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities, where it has a legally enforceable right to set off the recognized amounts and where it intends either to settle on a net basis, or to realize the asset and settle the liability simultaneously. The income tax provision for the interim period is made based on the best estimate of the annual average tax rate expected to be applicable for the full financial year. Tax benefits of deductions earned on exercise of employee share options in excess of compensation charged to income are credited to equity.

Income tax expense for the year ended March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025 includes reversal (net of provisions) of ₹877 crore and provisions (net of reversals) of ₹132 crore, respectively. These provisions and reversals pertaining to prior periods are primarily on account of adjudication of certain disputed matters, upon filing of tax return and completion of assessments, across various jurisdictions.

During the year ended March 31, 2026, the Company received orders under Section 250 and Section 254 of the Income Tax Act, 1961, from the Income Tax Authorities in India for the assessment years, 2013-14 and assessment years 2017-18 to 2021-22. Also, upon resolution of the disputes, an amount aggregating to ₹86 crore has been reduced from contingent liabilities.

During the year ended March 31, 2025, the Company received orders under Section 250 of the Income Tax Act, 1961, from the Income Tax Authorities in India for the assessment years, 2016-17 and 2019-20. The foreign tax expense is due to income taxes payable overseas principally in the United States. In India, the Group has benefited from certain tax incentives that the Government of India had provided for export of software and services from the units registered under the Special Economic Zones (SEZs) Act, 2005 in the prior years. SEZ units which began the provision of services on or after April 1, 2005 are eligible for a deduction of 100% of profits or gains derived from the export of services for the first five years from the financial year in which the unit commenced the provision of services and 50% of such profits or gains for further five years. Up to 50% of such profits or gains is also available for a further five years subject to creation of a Special Economic Zone re-Investment Reserve out of the profit of the eligible SEZ units and utilization of such reserve by the Group for acquiring new plant and machinery for the purpose of its business as per the provisions of the Income Tax Act, 1961. (Refer to Special Economic Zone Re-investment reserve under Note 2.12 Equity)

Deferred income tax for the year ended March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025 substantially relates to origination and reversal of temporary differences.

Infosys is subject to a 15% Branch Profit Tax (BPT) in the US to the extent its US branch's net profit during the year is greater than the increase in the net assets of the US branch during the year, computed in accordance with the Internal Revenue Code.

As at March 31, 2026, Infosys' US branch net assets amounted to approximately ₹7,736 crore. As at March 31, 2026, the Company has a deferred tax liability for Branch Profit Tax of ₹207 crore (net of credits), as the Company estimates that these branch profits are expected to be distributed in the foreseeable future.

Deferred income tax liabilities have not been recognized on temporary differences amounting to ₹19,270 crore and ₹16,593 crore as at March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025, respectively, associated with investments in subsidiaries and branches as the Company is able to control the timing of reversal of the temporary difference and it is probable that the temporary differences will not reverse in the foreseeable future. Deferred income tax assets have not been recognized on accumulated losses of ₹4,868 crore and ₹4,597 crore as at March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025, respectively, as it is probable that future taxable profit will not be available against which the unused tax losses can be utilized in the foreseeable future.

In assessing the realizability of deferred income tax assets, the Management considers whether some portion or all of the deferred income tax assets will not be realized. The ultimate realization of deferred income tax assets is dependent upon the generation of future taxable income during the periods in which the temporary differences become deductible. The management considers the scheduled reversals of deferred income tax liabilities, projected future taxable income, and tax planning strategies in making this assessment. Based on the level of historical taxable income and projections for future taxable income over the periods in which the deferred income tax assets are deductible, the Management believes that the Group will realize the benefits of those deductible differences. The amount of the deferred income tax assets considered realizable, however, could be reduced in the near term if estimates of future taxable income during the carry forward period are reduced.

The Company's Advanced Pricing Arrangement (APA) with the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) for US branch income tax expired in March 2021. The Company has applied for renewal of APA and currently the US taxable income is based on the Company's best estimate determined based on the expected value method.

2.18 Revenue from operations

Accounting policy

The Group derives revenues primarily from IT services comprising software development and related services, cloud and infrastructure services, maintenance, consulting and package implementation, licensing of software products and platforms across the Group's core and digital offerings (together called as "software related services") and business process management services. Contracts with customers are either on a time-and-material, unit of work, fixed-price or on a fixed-timeframe basis.

Revenues from customer contracts are considered for recognition and measurement when the contract has been approved in writing by the parties, to the contract, the parties to contract are committed to perform their respective obligations under the contract, and the contract is legally enforceable. Revenue is recognized upon transfer of control of promised products or services ("performance obligations") to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration the Group has received or expects to receive in exchange for these products or services ("transaction price"). When there is uncertainty as to collectability, revenue recognition is postponed until such uncertainty is resolved.

The Group assesses the services promised in a contract and identifies distinct performance obligations in the contract.

The Group allocates the transaction price to each distinct performance obligation based on the relative standalone selling price. The price that is regularly charged for an item when sold separately is the best evidence of its standalone selling price. In the absence of such evidence, the primary method used to estimate standalone selling price is the expected cost plus a margin, under which the Group estimates the cost of satisfying the performance obligation and then adds an appropriate margin based on similar services.

The Group's contracts may include variable consideration including rebates, volume discounts and penalties. The Group includes variable consideration as part of transaction price when there is a basis to reasonably estimate the amount of the variable consideration and when it is probable that a significant reversal of cumulative revenue recognized will not occur when the uncertainty associated with the variable consideration is resolved.

Revenue on time-and-material and unit of work-based contracts, are recognized as the related services are performed. Fixed-price maintenance revenue is recognized ratably either on a straight-line basis when services are performed through an indefinite number of repetitive acts over a specified period or ratably using a percentage-of-completion method when the pattern of benefits from the services rendered to the customer and the Group's costs to fulfill the contract is not even through the period of contract because the services are generally discrete in nature and not repetitive. Revenue from other fixed-price, fixed-timeframe contracts, where the performance obligations are satisfied over time is recognized using the percentage-of-completion method. Efforts or costs expended are used to determine progress towards completion as there is a direct relationship between input and productivity. Progress towards completion is measured as the ratio of costs or efforts incurred to date (representing work performed) to the estimated total costs or efforts. Estimates of transaction price and total costs or efforts are continuously monitored over the term of the contracts and are recognized in net profit in the period when these estimates change or when the estimates are revised. Revenues and the estimated total costs or efforts are subject to revision as the contract progresses. Provisions for estimated losses, if any, on incomplete contracts are recorded in the period in which such losses become probable based on the estimated efforts or costs to complete the contract.

The billing schedules agreed with customers include periodic performance-based billing and / or milestone-based progress billings. Revenues in excess of billing are classified as unbilled revenue while billing in excess of revenues are classified as contract liabilities (which we refer to as unearned revenues).

In arrangements for software development and related services and maintenance services, by applying the revenue recognition criteria for each distinct performance obligation, the arrangements with customers generally meet the criteria for considering software development and related services as distinct performance obligations. For allocating the transaction price, the Group measures the revenue in respect of each performance obligation of a contract at its relative standalone selling price. The price that is regularly charged for an item when sold separately is the best evidence of its standalone selling price. In cases where the Group is unable to determine the standalone selling price, the Group uses the expected cost plus margin approach in estimating the standalone selling price. For software development and related services, the performance obligations are satisfied as and when the services are rendered since the customer generally obtains control of the work as it progresses.

Certain cloud and infrastructure services contracts include multiple elements which may be subject to other specific accounting guidance, such as leasing guidance. These contracts are accounted in accordance with such specific accounting guidance. In such arrangements where the Group is able to determine that hardware and services are distinct performance obligations, it allocates the consideration to these performance obligations on a relative standalone selling price basis. In the absence of standalone selling price, the Group uses the expected cost-plus margin approach in estimating the standalone selling price. When such arrangements are considered as a single performance obligation, revenue is recognized over the period and measure of progress is determined based on promise in the contract.

Revenue from licenses where the customer obtains a "right-to-use" the licenses is recognized at the time the licenses are made available to the customer. Revenue from licenses where the customer obtains a "right-to-access" is recognized over the access period.

Arrangements to deliver software products generally have three elements: license, implementation and Annual Technical Services (ATS). When implementation services are provided in conjunction with the licensing arrangement and the license and implementation have been identified as two distinct separate performance obligations, the transaction price for such contracts are allocated to each performance obligation of the contract based on their relative standalone selling prices. In the absence of standalone selling price for implementation, the Group uses the expected cost plus margin approach in estimating the standalone selling price. Where the license is required to be substantially customized as part of the implementation service the entire arrangement fee for license and implementation is considered to be a single performance obligation and the revenue is recognized using the percentage-of-completion method as the implementation is performed. Revenue from client training, support and other services arising due to the sale of software products is recognized as the performance obligations are satisfied. ATS revenue is recognized ratably on a straight-line basis over the period in which the services are rendered.

Contracts with customers includes sub-contractor services or third-party vendor equipment or software in certain integrated services arrangements. In these types of arrangements, revenue from sales of third-party vendor products or services is recorded net of costs when the Group is acting as an agent between the customer and the vendor, and gross when the Group is the principal for the transaction. In doing so, the Group first evaluates whether it obtains control of the specified goods or services before they are transferred to the customer. The Group considers whether it is primarily responsible for fulfilling the promise to provide the specified goods or services, inventory risk, pricing discretion and other factors to determine whether it controls the specified goods or services and therefore, is acting as a principal or an agent.

A contract modification is a change in the scope or price or both of a contract that is approved by the parties to the contract. A contract modification that results in the addition of distinct performance obligations are accounted for either as a separate contract if the additional services are priced at the standalone selling price or as a termination of the existing contract and creation of a new contract if they are not priced at the standalone selling price. If the modification does not result in a distinct performance obligation, it is accounted for as part of the existing contract on a cumulative catch-up basis.

The incremental costs of obtaining a contract (i.e., costs that would not have been incurred if the contract had not been obtained) are recognized as an asset if the Group expects to recover them.

Certain eligible, non-recurring costs (e.g. set-up or transition or transformation costs) that do not represent a separate performance obligation are recognized as an asset when such costs (a) relate directly to the contract; (b) generate or enhance resources of the Group that will be used in satisfying the performance obligation in the future; and (c) are expected to be recovered.

Capitalized contract costs relating to upfront payments to customers are amortized to revenue and other capitalized costs are amortized to expenses over the respective contract life on a systematic basis consistent with the transfer of goods or services to customer to which the asset relates. Capitalized costs are monitored regularly for impairment. Impairment losses are recorded when present value of projected remaining operating cash flows is not sufficient to recover the carrying amount of the capitalized costs.

The Group presents revenues net of indirect taxes in its Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

Revenue from operations for the year ended March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025 is as follows:

(In ₹ crore)

Particulars	Year ended March 31,
	2026	2025
Revenue from software services	1,70,122	1,55,395
Revenue from products and platforms	8,528	7,595
Total revenue from operations	1,78,650	1,62,990

Products and platforms

The Group also derives revenues from the sale of products and platforms like Finacle – core banking solution, Edge Suite of products, Panaya platform, Stater digital platform and Infosys McCamish – insurance platform.

Disaggregated revenue information

Revenue disaggregation by business segments has been included in segment information (Refer to Note 2.26). The table below presents disaggregated revenues from contracts with customers by geography and contract type. The Group believes that this disaggregation best depicts how the nature, amount, timing and uncertainty of revenues and cash flows are affected by industry, market and other economic factors.

For the year ended March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025:

(In ₹ crore)

Particulars	Year ended March 31,
	2026	2025
Revenues by Geography*
North America	1,00,167	94,397
Europe	57,454	48,595
India	5,102	5,014
Rest of the World	15,927	14,984
Total	1,78,650	1,62,990

* Geographical revenue is based on the domicile of customer.

The percentage of revenue from fixed-price contracts for the year ended March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025 is 54% and 54%, respectively.

Trade receivables and contract balances

The timing of revenue recognition, billings and cash collections results in receivables, unbilled revenue, and unearned revenue on the Group's Consolidated Balance Sheet. Amounts are billed as work progresses in accordance with agreed-upon contractual terms, either at periodic intervals (e.g., monthly or quarterly) or upon achievement of contractual milestones.

The Group's receivables are rights to consideration that are unconditional. Unbilled revenues comprising revenues in excess of billings from time and material contracts and fixed-price maintenance contracts are classified as financial asset when the right to consideration is unconditional and is due only after a passage of time.

Invoicing to the clients for other fixed-price contracts is based on milestones as defined in the contract and therefore the timing of revenue recognition is different from the timing of invoicing to the customers. Therefore unbilled revenues for other fixed-price contracts (contract asset) are classified as non-financial asset because the right to consideration is dependent on completion of contractual milestones.

Invoicing in excess of earnings are classified as unearned revenue.

Trade receivables and unbilled revenues are presented net of impairment in the Consolidated Balance Sheet.

During the year ended March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025, the Company recognized revenue of ₹6,608 crore and ₹5,669 crore arising from opening unearned revenue as of April 1, 2025 and April 1, 2024, respectively.

During the year ended March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025, ₹4,839 crore and ₹4,896 crore of unbilled revenue pertaining to other fixed-price and fixed-time frame contracts as of April 1, 2025 and April 1, 2024, respectively has been reclassified to trade receivables upon billing to customers on completion of milestones.

Remaining performance obligation disclosure

The remaining performance obligation disclosure provides the aggregate amount of the transaction price yet to be recognized as at the end of the reporting period and an explanation as to when the Group expects to recognize these amounts in revenue. Applying the practical expedient as given in Ind AS 115, the Group has not disclosed the remaining performance obligation related disclosures for contracts where the revenue recognized corresponds directly with the value to the customer of the entity's performance completed to date, typically those contracts where invoicing is on time and material and unit of work based contracts. Remaining performance obligation estimates are subject to change and are affected by several factors, including terminations, changes in the scope of contracts, periodic revalidations, adjustment for revenue that has not materialized and adjustments for currency fluctuations.

The aggregate value of performance obligations that are completely or partially unsatisfied as at March 31, 2026, other than those meeting the exclusion criteria mentioned above, is ₹1,30,017 crore. Out of this, the Group expects to recognize revenue of around 49.7% within the next one year and the remaining thereafter. The aggregate value of performance obligations that are completely or partially unsatisfied as at March 31, 2025 is ₹1,04,785 crore. The contracts can generally be terminated by the customers and typically includes an enforceable termination penalty payable by them. Generally, customers have not terminated contracts without cause.

Accounting policy

Other income is comprised primarily of interest income, dividend income, gain/loss on investment and exchange gain/loss on forward and options contracts and on translation of foreign currency assets and liabilities. Interest income is recognized using the effective interest method. Dividend income is recognized when the right to receive payment is established.

Foreign currency

Accounting policy

Functional currency

The functional currency of Infosys, its Indian subsidiaries and controlled trusts is the Indian rupee. The functional currencies for foreign subsidiaries are their respective local currencies. These financial statements are presented in Indian rupees (rounded off to crore; one crore equals ten million).

Transactions and translations

Foreign-currency denominated monetary assets and liabilities are translated into the relevant functional currency at exchange rates in effect at the Balance Sheet date. The gains or losses resulting from such translations are recognized in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss and reported within exchange gains/ (losses) on translation of assets and liabilities, net, except when deferred in Other Comprehensive Income as qualifying cash flow hedges. Non-monetary assets and non-monetary liabilities denominated in a foreign currency and measured at fair value are translated at the exchange rate prevalent at the date when the fair value was determined. Non-monetary assets and non-monetary liabilities denominated in a foreign currency and measured at historical cost are translated at the exchange rate prevalent at the date of transaction. The related revenue and expense are recognized using the same exchange rate.

Transaction gains or losses realized upon settlement of foreign currency transactions are included in determining net profit for the period in which the transaction is settled. Revenue, expense and cash-flow items denominated in foreign currencies are translated into the relevant functional currencies using the exchange rate in effect on the date of the transaction.

The translation of financial statements of the foreign subsidiaries to the presentation currency is performed for assets and liabilities using the exchange rate in effect at the Balance Sheet date and for revenue, expense and cash-flow items using the average exchange rate for the respective periods. The gains or losses resulting from such translation are included in currency translation reserves under other components of equity. When a subsidiary is disposed off, in full, the relevant amount is transferred to net profit in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss. However when a change in the parent's ownership does not result in loss of control of a subsidiary, such changes are recorded through equity.

Other Comprehensive Income, net of taxes includes translation differences on non-monetary financial assets measured at fair value at the reporting date, such as equities classified as financial instruments and measured at fair value through other comprehensive income (FVOCI).

Goodwill and fair value adjustments arising on the acquisition of a foreign entity are treated as assets and liabilities of the foreign entity and translated at the exchange rate in effect at the Balance Sheet date.

Government grant

The Group recognizes government grants only when there is reasonable assurance that the conditions attached to them shall be complied with, and the grants will be received. Government grants related to assets are treated as deferred income and are recognized in net profit in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss on a systematic and rational basis over the useful life of the asset. Government grants related to revenue are recognized on a systematic basis in net profit in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss over the periods necessary to match them with the related costs which they are intended to compensate.

2.20.1 Impact of labour codes

On November 21, 2025, the Government of India notified provisions of the Code on Wages, 2019, the Industrial Relations Code, 2020, the Code on Social Security, 2020 and the Occupational Safety, Health and Working Conditions Code, 2020, ('Labour Codes') which consolidate twenty-nine existing labour laws into a unified framework governing employee benefits during employment and post-employment. The Labour Codes, amongst other things introduces changes, including a uniform definition of wages and enhanced benefits relating to leave. The Group has assessed the financial implications of these changes which has resulted in increase in gratuity liability, a defined benefit plan arising out of past service cost and increase in compensated absences by ₹1,289 crore. Considering the impact arising out of an enactment of the new legislation is an event of non-recurring nature, the Group has presented this incremental amount as "Impact of Labour Codes" under "Exceptional Item" in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss for the year ended March 31, 2026. The Group continues to monitor the developments pertaining to Labour Codes and will evaluate impact if any on the measurement of the employee benefits liability.

2.21 Leases

Accounting policy

The Group as a lessee

The Group's lease asset classes primarily consist of leases for land, buildings and computers. The Group assesses whether a contract contains a lease, at inception of a contract. A contract is, or contains, a lease if the contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset for a period of time in exchange for consideration. To assess whether a contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset, the group assesses whether: (1) the contract involves the use of an identified asset (2) the Group has substantially all of the economic benefits from use of the asset through the period of the lease and (3) the Group has the right to direct the use of the asset.

At the date of commencement of the lease, the Group recognizes a right-of-use asset ("ROU") and a corresponding lease liability for all lease arrangements in which it is a lessee, except for leases with a term of twelve months or less (short-term leases) and low value leases. For these short-term and low value leases, the Group recognizes the lease payments as an operating expense on a straight-line basis over the term of the lease.

As a lessee, the Group determines the lease term as the non-cancellable period of a lease adjusted with any option to extend or terminate the lease, if the use of such option is reasonably certain. The Group makes an assessment on the expected lease term on a lease-by-lease basis and thereby assesses whether it is reasonably certain that any options to extend or terminate the contract will be exercised. In evaluating the lease term, the Group considers factors such as any significant leasehold improvements undertaken over the lease term, costs relating to the termination of the lease and the importance of the underlying asset to Group's operations taking into account the location of the underlying asset and the availability of suitable alternatives. The lease term in future periods is reassessed to ensure that the lease term reflects the current economic circumstances.

Certain lease arrangements includes the options to extend or terminate the lease before the end of the lease term. ROU assets and lease liabilities includes these options when it is reasonably certain that they will be exercised.

The ROU assets are initially recognized at cost, which comprises the initial amount of the lease liability adjusted for any lease payments made at or prior to the commencement date of the lease plus any initial direct costs less any lease incentives. They are subsequently measured at cost less accumulated depreciation and impairment losses.

ROU assets are depreciated from the commencement date on a straight-line basis over the shorter of the lease term and useful life of the underlying asset.

ROU assets are evaluated for recoverability whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that their carrying amounts may not be recoverable. For the purpose of impairment testing, the recoverable amount (i.e. the higher of the fair value less cost to sell and the value-in-use) is determined on an individual asset basis unless the asset does not generate cash flows that are largely independent of those from other assets. In such cases, the recoverable amount is determined for the Cash Generating Unit (CGU) to which the asset belongs.

The lease liability is initially measured at amortized cost at the present value of the future lease payments. The lease payments are discounted using the interest rate implicit in the lease or, if not readily determinable, using the incremental borrowing rates in the country of domicile of these leases. Lease liabilities are remeasured with a corresponding adjustment to the related ROU asset if the Group changes its assessment if whether it will exercise an extension or a termination option.

Lease liability and ROU asset have been separately presented in the Balance Sheet and lease payments have been classified as financing cash flows.

The Group as a lessor

Leases for which the Group is a lessor is classified as a finance or operating lease. Whenever the terms of the lease transfer substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership to the lessee, the contract is classified as a finance lease. All other leases are classified as operating leases.

When the Group is an intermediate lessor, it accounts for its interests in the head lease and the sublease separately. The sublease is classified as a finance or operating lease by reference to the right-of-use asset arising from the head lease.

For finance lease, finance income is recognised over the lease term based on a pattern reflecting a constant periodic rate of return on the lessor's net investment in the lease and for operating leases, rental income is recognized on a straight-line basis over the term of the relevant lease.

2.22 Employee benefits

Accounting policy

Gratuity and pension

The Group provides for gratuity, a defined benefit retirement plan ("the Gratuity Plan") covering eligible employees majorly of Infosys and its Indian subsidiaries. The Gratuity Plan provides a lump-sum payment to vested employees at retirement, death, incapacitation or termination of employment, of an amount based on the respective employee's salary and the tenure of employment with the Group. The Company contributes Gratuity liabilities to the Infosys Limited Employees' Gratuity Fund Trust ("the Trust"). In case of Infosys BPM and EdgeVerve, contributions are made to the Infosys BPM Employees' Gratuity Fund Trust and EdgeVerve Systems Limited Employees' Gratuity Fund Trust, respectively. Trustees administer contributions made to the Trusts and contributions are invested in a scheme with the Life Insurance Corporation of India as permitted by Indian law.

The Group operates defined benefit pension plan in certain overseas jurisdictions, in accordance with the local laws. These plans are managed by third party fund managers. The plans provide for periodic payouts after retirement and/or a lumpsum payment as set out in rules of each fund and includes death and disability benefits. The defined benefit plans require contributions which are based on a percentage of salary that varies depending on the age of the respective employees.

Liabilities with regard to these defined benefit plans are determined by actuarial valuation, performed by an external actuary, at each Balance Sheet date using the projected unit credit method. These defined benefit plans expose the Group to actuarial risks, such as longevity risk, interest rate risk and market risk.

The Group recognizes the net obligation of a defined benefit plan in its Balance Sheet as an asset or liability. Gains and losses through re-measurements of the net defined benefit liability / (asset) are recognized in other comprehensive income and are not reclassified to profit or loss in subsequent periods. The actual return of the portfolio of plan assets, in excess of the yields computed by applying the discount rate used to measure the defined benefit obligation is recognized in other comprehensive income. The effect of any plan amendments is recognized in net profit in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

Provident fund

Eligible employees of Infosys receive benefits from a provident fund, which is a defined benefit plan. Both the eligible employee and the Company make monthly contributions to the provident fund plan equal to a specified percentage of the covered employee's salary. The Company contributes a portion to the Infosys Limited Employees' Provident Fund Trust. The trust invests in specific designated instruments as permitted by Indian law. The remaining portion is contributed to the government administered pension fund. The rate at which the annual interest is payable to the beneficiaries by the trust is being administered by the Government of India. The Company has an obligation to make good the shortfall, if any, between the return from the investments of the trust and the notified interest rate.

In respect of Indian subsidiaries, eligible employees receive benefits from a provident fund, which is a defined contribution plan. Both the eligible employee and the respective companies make monthly contributions to this provident fund plan equal to a specified percentage of the covered employee's salary. Amounts collected under the provident fund plan are deposited in a government administered provident fund. The Companies have no further obligation to the plan beyond its monthly contributions.

Superannuation

Certain employees of Infosys, Infosys BPM and EdgeVerve are participants in a defined contribution plan. The Group has no further obligations to the plan beyond its monthly contributions which are periodically contributed to a trust fund, the corpus of which is invested with the Life Insurance Corporation of India.

Compensated absences

The Group has a policy on compensated absences which are both accumulating and non-accumulating in nature. The expected cost of accumulating compensated absences is determined by actuarial valuation performed by an external actuary at each Balance Sheet date using projected unit credit method on the additional amount expected to be paid / availed as a result of the unused entitlement that has accumulated at the Balance Sheet date. Expense on non-accumulating compensated absences is recognized in the period in which the absences occur.

(1) For domestic defined benefit plan in India, the market for high quality corporate bonds being not developed, the yield of government bonds is considered as the discount rate. For most of our overseas defined benefit plan, given that the market for high quality corporate bonds is not developed, the Government bond rate adjusted for corporate spreads is used.

(2) The average rate of increase in compensation levels is determined by the Company, considering factors such as, the Company's past compensation revision trends, inflation in respective markets and management's estimate of future salary increases.

(3) Attrition rate considered is the Management's estimate based on the past long-term trend of employee turnover in the Company. The tenure has been considered taking into account the past long-term trend of employees' average remaining service life which reflects the average estimated term of post-employment benefit obligation.

For domestic defined benefit plan in India, assumptions regarding future mortality experience are set in accordance with the published statistics by the Life Insurance Corporation of India. For overseas defined benefit plan, the assumptions regarding future mortality experience are set with regard to the latest statistics in life expectancy, plan experience and other relevant data.

The Group assesses all of the above assumptions with its projected long-term plans of growth and prevalent industry standards.

The Company contributes all ascertained liabilities towards gratuity to the Infosys Limited Employees' Gratuity Fund Trust. In case of Infosys BPM and EdgeVerve, contributions are made to the Infosys BPM Employees' Gratuity Fund Trust and EdgeVerve Systems Limited Employees Gratuity Fund Trust, respectively. Trustees administer contributions made to the trust as at March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025, and contributions for gratuity are invested in a scheme with the Life Insurance Corporation of India as permitted by Indian law. The plan assets of the overseas defined benefit plan have been primarily invested in insurer managed funds and the asset allocation for plan assets is determined based on the investment criteria prescribed under the relevant regulations applicable to pension funds and the insurer managers. The insurers' investment are diversified and provide for guaranteed interest rates arrangements.

Actual return on assets (including remeasurements) of the gratuity plan for the year ended March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025 were ₹241 crore and ₹173 crore, respectively and for the pension plan were ₹90 crore and ₹79 crore, respectively.

The contributions for gratuity are invested in a scheme with the Life Insurance Corporation of India as permitted by Indian law.

The details of major plan assets into various categories as at March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025 are as follows:

(In %)

Particulars	Pension
	As at March 31,
	2026	2025
Equity	37	34
Bonds	21	30
Real estate/Property	23	26
Cash and cash equivalents	1	1
Other	18	9

These defined benefit plans expose the Group to actuarial risk which are set out below:

Interest rate risk: The present value of the defined benefit plan liability is generally calculated using a discount rate determined by reference to government bond yields and in certain overseas jurisdictions, it is calculated in reference to government bond yield adjusted for a corporate spread. If bond yields fall, the defined benefit obligation will tend to increase.

Life expectancy and investment risk: The pension fund offers the choice between a lifelong pension and a cash lump sum upon retirement. The pension fund has defined rates for converting the lumpsum to a pension and there is the risk that the members live longer than implied by these conversion rates and that the pension assets don't achieve the investment return implied by these conversion rates.

Asset volatility: A proportion of the pension fund is held in equities, which is expected to outperform corporate bonds in the long term but give exposure to volatility and risk in the short term. The pension fund board of insurer is responsible for the investment strategy and equity allocation is justified given the long-term investment horizon of the pension fund and the objective to provide a reasonable long-term return on members' account balances.

Sensitivity of significant assumptions used for valuation of defined benefit obligation:

(In ₹ crore)

Impact from	As at March 31, 2026
	Gratuity	Pension
	1% point increase / decrease	0.5% point increase / decrease
Discount rate	205	70
Weighted average rate of increase in compensation levels	220	12

Sensitivity to significant actuarial assumptions is computed by varying one actuarial assumption used for the valuation of the defined benefit obligation and keeping all other actuarial assumptions constant. In practice, this is not probable, and changes in some of the assumptions may be correlated.

The Group expects to contribute ₹540 crore to gratuity and ₹66 crore to pension during the fiscal 2027.

(In ₹ crore)

Particulars	Gratuity	Pension
Within 1 year	721	118
1-2 year	589	126
2-3 year	543	117
3-4 year	493	110
4-5 year	451	121
5-10 years	1,660	556

2.22.2 Provident fund

These administered rates are determined annually predominantly considering the social and economic factors. The actuary has provided a valuation for provident fund liabilities on the basis of guidance issued by the Actuarial Society of India.

The assumptions used in determining the present value obligation of the defined benefit plan under the Deterministic Approach are as follows:

(In %)

Particulars	As at March 31,
	2026	2025
Government of India (GOI) bond yield[1]	6.50	6.50
Expected rate of return on plan assets	8.25	8.00
Remaining term to maturity of portfolio	6 years	6 years
Expected guaranteed interest rate	8.25	8.25

[1] In India, the market for high quality corporate bonds being not developed, the yield of government bonds is considered as the discount rate. The tenure has been considered taking into account the past long-term trend of employees' average remaining service life which reflects the average estimated term of the post-employment benefit obligations.

The breakup of the plan assets into various categories as at March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025 are as follows:

(In %)

	2026	2025

Public sector undertakings and private sector bonds	26	28
Cash and cash equivalents	3	4
Others	8	8

The asset allocation for plan assets is determined based on the investment criteria prescribed under the relevant regulations.

The actuarial valuation of provident fund liability exposes the Group to interest rate risk. The defined benefit obligation calculated uses a discount rate based on government bonds. If bond yields fall, the defined benefit obligation will tend to increase.

As at March 31, 2026, the defined benefit obligation would be affected by approximately ₹76 crore and ₹151 crore on account of a 0.25% increase / decrease in the expected rate of return on plan assets.

The Group contributed ₹1,515 crore and ₹1,323 crore to the provident fund during the year ended March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025, respectively. The same has been recognized in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss under the head employee benefit expense.

The provident plans are applicable only to employees drawing a salary in Indian rupees.

2.23 Earnings per equity share

Accounting policy

Basic earnings per equity share is computed by dividing the net profit attributable to the equity holders of the Group by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period. Diluted earnings per equity share is computed by dividing the net profit attributable to the equity holders of the Group by the weighted average number of equity shares considered for deriving basic earnings per equity share and also the weighted average number of equity shares that could have been issued upon conversion of all dilutive potential equity shares. The dilutive potential equity shares are adjusted for the proceeds receivable had the equity shares been actually issued at fair value (i.e. the average market value of the outstanding equity shares). Dilutive potential equity shares are deemed converted as at the beginning of the period, unless issued at a later date. Dilutive potential equity shares are determined independently for each period presented.

The number of equity shares and potentially dilutive equity shares are adjusted retrospectively for all periods presented for any share splits and bonus shares issues including for changes effected prior to the approval of the financial statements by the Board of Directors.

The computation of basic earnings per equity share is as follows:

Particulars	Year ended March 31,
	2026	2025
Profit attributable to equity holders of the Company (in ₹ crore)	29,440	26,713
Basic earnings per equity share - weighted average number of equity shares outstanding [1]	411,28,14,745	414,16,11,738
Basic earnings per equity share (₹)	71.58	64.50

[1] Excludes treasury shares

The reconciliation of the equity shares used in the computation of basic and diluted earnings per equity share and computation of diluted earnings per equity share is as follows:

Particulars	Year ended March 31,
	2026	2025
Profit attributable to equity holders of the Company (in ₹ crore)	29,440	26,713
Weighted average number of equity shares outstanding used in computing in basic earnings per equity share	411,28,14,745	414,16,11,738
Effect of dilutive common equivalent shares – share options outstanding	72,93,423	1,04,39,446
Weighted average number of equity shares and common equivalent shares outstanding used in computing diluted earnings per equity share	412,01,08,168	415,20,51,184
Diluted earnings per equity share (₹)	71.46	64.34

For the years ended March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025, there were 1,235,321 and 13,931 options to purchase equity shares which had an anti-dilutive effect.

2.24 Contingent liabilities and commitments

Accounting policy

Contingent liability is a possible obligation arising from past events and whose existence will be confirmed only by the occurrence or non-occurrence of one or more uncertain future events not wholly within the control of the entity or a present obligation that arises from past events but is not recognized because it is not probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation or the amount of the obligation cannot be measured with sufficient reliability.

	2026	2025
Contingent liabilities :
Claims against the Group, not acknowledged as debts[1]	3,117	2,953

The claims against the Group primarily represent demands arising on completion of assessment proceedings under the Income Tax Act, 1961. These claims are on account of issues of disallowance of expenditure towards software being held as capital in nature, payments made to Associated Enterprises held as liable for withholding of taxes, among others. These matters are pending before various Income Tax Authorities and the Management including its tax advisors expect that its position will likely be upheld on ultimate resolution and will not have a material adverse effect on the Group's financial position and results of operations.

Amount paid to statutory authorities against the tax claims amounted to ₹2,594 crore and ₹4,199 crore as at March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025, respectively.

2.24.2 Legal proceedings

McCamish Cybersecurity incident

In November 2023, certain systems of Infosys McCamish Systems LLC ("McCamish"), a subsidiary of Infosys BPM Limited (a wholly-owned subsidiary of Infosys Limited), were encrypted by ransomware, resulting in the non-availability of certain applications and systems. McCamish initiated its incident response and engaged cybersecurity and other specialists to assist in its investigation of and response to the incident and remediation and restoration of impacted applications and systems. By December 31, 2023, McCamish, with external specialists' assistance, substantially remediated and restored the affected applications and systems. McCamish in coordination with its third-party eDiscovery vendor has identified corporate customers and individuals whose information was subject to unauthorized access and exfiltration. McCamish processes personal data on behalf of its corporate customers.

From March 6, 2024 through July 25, 2024, six actions were filed in the US District Court for the Northern District of Georgia against McCamish. The actions arise out of the cybersecurity incident at McCamish initially disclosed on November 3, 2023. All six actions have since been consolidated, and the consolidated class action complaint was filed on November 7, 2024, purportedly on behalf of all persons residing in the United States whose personally identifiable information was compromised in the incident, including all who were sent a notice of the incident.

On March 13, 2025, McCamish and the plaintiffs engaged in mediation, resulting in an in-principle agreement that sets forth the terms of a proposed settlement of the class action lawsuits against McCamish, as well as seven class action lawsuits arising out of the incident that have been filed against McCamish's customers. Under the settlement terms, McCamish agreed to pay $17.5 million (approximately ₹150 crore) into a fund to settle these matters. McCamish had accrued for the settlement amount along with the insurance reimbursement receivable during the quarter ended March 31, 2025. On December 18, 2025, the Court granted final approval of the class action lawsuit settlement. The settlement amount has since been paid. The settlement has become effective and resolves all allegations made in the class action lawsuits filed against Infosys and certain of its customers without admission of any liability.

McCamish may incur additional costs including from indemnities or damages/claims, which are indeterminable at this time.

Government Investigation

The US Department of Justice ("DOJ") is conducting an investigation regarding how the Company classified certain H-1B visa-recipient employees working for one of its clients in immigration documents filed with certain US government authorities. The Company is engaged in discussions with the DOJ regarding its ongoing investigation and continues its own inquiry regarding the matter. At this stage, the Company is unable to predict the outcome of this matter, including whether such outcome could have a material adverse effect on the Company's business and results of operations.

Others

Apart from the foregoing, the Group is subject to legal proceedings and claims which have arisen in the ordinary course of business. The Group's management reasonably expects that such ordinary course legal actions, when ultimately concluded and determined, will not have a material and adverse effect on the Group's results of operations or financial condition.

The Chief Operating Decision Maker (CODM) evaluates the Group's performance and allocates resources based on an analysis of various performance indicators by business segments. Accordingly, information has been presented along business segments. The accounting principles used in the preparation of the financial statements are consistently applied to record revenue and expenditure in individual segments, and are as set out in the accounting policies.

Business segments of the Group are primarily enterprises in Financial Services and Insurance, enterprises in Manufacturing, enterprises in Retail, Consumer Packaged Goods and Logistics, enterprises in the Energy, Utilities, Resources and Services, enterprises in Communication, Telecom OEM and Media, enterprises in Hi-Tech, enterprises in Life Sciences and Healthcare and all other segments. The Financial services reportable segments has been aggregated to include the Financial Services operating segment and Finacle operating segment because of the similarity of the economic characteristics. All other segments represent the operating segments of businesses in India, Japan, China, Infosys Public Services and identified enterprises in Public Services.

Revenue and identifiable operating expenses in relation to segments are categorized based on items that are individually identifiable to that segment. Revenue for 'all other segments' represents revenue generated by Infosys Public services and revenue generated from customers located in India, Japan and China and other enterprises in Public services. Allocated expenses of segments include expenses incurred for rendering services from the Group's offshore software development centers and on-site expenses, which are categorized in relation to the associated efforts of the segment. Certain expenses such as depreciation and amortization, which form a significant component of total expenses, are not specifically allocable to specific segments as the underlying assets are used interchangeably. The Management believes that it is not practical to provide segment disclosures relating to those costs and expenses, and accordingly these expenses are separately disclosed as "unallocated" and adjusted against the total income of the Group.

Assets and liabilities used in the Group's business are not identified to any of the reportable segments, as these are used interchangeably between segments. The Management believes that it is currently not practicable to provide segment disclosures relating to total assets and liabilities since a meaningful segregation of the available data is onerous.

Business segment revenue information is collated based on individual customers invoiced or in relation to which the revenue is otherwise recognized.

Disclosure of revenue by geographic locations is given in Note 2.18, Revenue from operations.

Explanatory Statement

Background and context for item nos. 4 and 5

Approval of the proposed amendment to the Infosys Expanded Stock Ownership Program – 2019 (such amended plan is hereinafter referred as the "Amended 2019 Plan") and grant of stock incentives to the eligible employees of the Company and its subsidiaries under the Amended 2019 Plan.

The Company has been a pioneer in India by rewarding its employees through stock ownership programs starting in 1994. This philosophy has created a culture of aligning employee and shareholder interests. The 2015 Incentive Compensation Plan ("2015 Plan") was approved by shareholders pursuant to the postal ballot dated March 31, 2016, and stock incentives continue to be granted to the eligible employees of the Company thereunder. The vesting criteria for stock incentives under the 2015 Plan are largely time-based.

The existing plan was approved by shareholders pursuant to the Annual General Meeting held on June 22, 2019. The shareholders had approved the existing plan and the grant of stock incentives to the Eligible Employees of the Company and its subsidiaries thereunder, which provided for approximately 1.15% of the equity shares of the Company then outstanding, amounting to approximately 5,00,00,000 equity shares. As on date of the Notice, 3,26,63,903 equity shares remain available for grant under the existing plan, representing the unutilized balance equity shares out of the original shareholder approved pool of 5,00,00,000 equity shares, and constituting approximately 0.8% of the outstanding equity shares of the Company as on the date of this Notice.

As on the date of this Notice, the Company has 4,44,19,917 RSUs available for grant under all ESOP Plans, representing approximately 1.1% of the outstanding equity share capital of the Company. This includes RSUs that have vested but remain unexercised, as well as RSUs that are yet to vest.

The shareholders had approved the Expanded Stock Ownership Program, 2019 ("2019 Plan") for a period of seven years, which is due to expire on June 21, 2026.

To ensure continuity of the Company's performance-based stock incentive plan and in line with its philosophy of aligning employee interests with long-term shareholder value creation, the Board has approved the amendments to ensure:

- Continuity of performance-based stock incentive program across an expanded employee base
- Ability to attract, retain and incentivize key talent in an increasingly competitive and evolving market
- Sustained alignment of employee interests with long-term shareholder value creation

The summary of the proposed amendments is as under:

1. Extension of the 2019 Plan tenure:

   Extension of 2019 Plan for a further period of seven (7) years from the date of shareholder approval. The grants made under the 2019 Plan shall be made over seven (7) years, and the 2019 Plan shall be valid for a period of ten (10) years from the date of receipt of approval of shareholders.

2. Strengthening alignment with Long-Term Shareholder Value creation and rationalization of Operational Metrics based on the inputs received from investors:
   - In line with the feedback received from shareholders to align the Management compensation with long-term interests of shareholders, the introduction of a three-year rolling Relative Total Shareholder Return (TSR) as a vesting parameter for strengthening alignment with sustained shareholder value creation and reinforcing long-term market performance.
   - Rationalization of the Operating metrics to ensure continued focus on the core financial metrics of revenue and margin, ensuring consistency and comparability over time. Given the rapid evolution of technology and business models, sub-segment metrics (like digital revenue growth) may become transient and less comparable.

3. The proposed extension of the 2019 Plan does not involve any increase in the share pool of 5,00,00,000 equity shares that was initially approved. The Company will continue to operate within the existing approved pool, and accordingly, there will be no further dilution of the equity share capital. The shareholders had approved the existing plan and the grant of stock incentives to the Eligible Employees of the Company and its subsidiaries thereunder, which provided for approximately 1.15% of the equity shares of the Company then outstanding, amounting to approximately 5,00,00,000 equity shares. As on date of this Notice, 3,26,63,903 equity shares remain available for grant under the existing plan, representing the unutilized balance equity shares out of the original shareholder approved pool of 5,00,00,000 equity shares, and constituting approximately 0.8% of the equity share capital of the Company as on the date of this Notice.

4. Other amendments for clarity, consistency and to bring the 2019 Plan in line with the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Share Based Employee Benefits and Sweat Equity) Regulations, 2021.

The proposed extension to the 2019 Plan is continuity-driven and aimed at further strengthening alignment between employee interest and long-term shareholder value creation. The 2019 Plan continues to support the Company's ability to attract, retain and incentivize key talent, while reinforcing a culture of ownership and performance. The enhancements to vesting parameters with long-term TSR further strengthens linkage to shareholder value creation. The proposal will not result in further dilution of equity share capital.

For determining the grant of RSUs under the Amended 2019 Plan, the appraisal process set forth in paragraph 8 below shall be considered.

4. Requirements of vesting and period of vesting

The RSUs granted under the Amended 2019 Plan shall vest as based on the following three performance parameters, the relative weightage of which shall be determined by the NRC provided that each parameter shall have a weightage of at least 25% and no single parameter will have a weightage of more than 50% :

i) Long-term Relative Total Shareholder Return ("Relative TSR") for rolling 3 years TSR against a peer comparator group of not less than 8 comparators, which will be identified by the Administrator from a basket of the following 10 industry peers, including Indian and global companies such as Accenture, DXC Technologies, Wipro, TCS, Cognizant, IBM, Capgemini, Tech Mahindra, Atos, and HCL.

In case of delisting of any of the above-mentioned peer group companies during the performance measurement period, the NRC is entitled to include an additional peer set company to the comparator group.

The Company will implement a phased transition to a three-year rolling relative TSR parameter, measured against a peer comparator group, with vesting based on one-year TSR in Year 1, two-year TSR in Year 2, and a full three-year TSR measure from Year 3 onwards.

ii) Annual TSR:

A: Relative TSR against a peer comparator group not less than 8 comparators, which will be identified by the Administrator from a basket of the following 10 industry peers, including Indian and global companies such as Accenture, DXC Technologies, Wipro, TCS, Cognizant, IBM, Capgemini, Tech Mahindra, Atos, and HCL.

In case of delisting of any of the above-mentioned peer group companies during the performance measurement period, the NRC is entitled to include an additional peer set company to the comparator group.

B: Relative TSR against broader market domestic and global Indices comprising of MSCI, S&P 500 & Nifty 50 to be determined by the Administrator.

iii) Annual operating performance metrics of the Company, which are used to derive shareholder value, measured by

a. Total revenue growth; and

b. Operating margin.

The performance targets against these metrics shall be determined by the Administrator.

Each of the above three performance parameters will be distinct for the purposes of calculation of quantity of shares to vest based on performance.

Shares will vest based on the Company's performance on Relative TSR in (i) and (ii) above as follows:

- If it ranks in the 75th percentile and above, then a maximum of 100% of the RSUs due for vesting will vest.
- If it ranks in the 50th to 75th percentile, then the RSUs due for vesting will vest proportionately on a linear scale between 60% to 100%, and the balance will lapse.
- If it ranks below the 50th percentile, then no RSUs due for vesting will vest.

Shares will vest based on the Company's operating performance metrics of the Company (iii) above as follows:

- If performance achievement is at the minimum (threshold) level, 75% of the Restricted Stock Units due for vesting shall vest. If the performance achievement is below the minimum (threshold) level, no Restricted Stock Units due for vesting shall vest, it will lapse.
- If the performance achievement is at target level, 100% of the Restricted Stock Units due for vesting shall vest.
- If the performance achievement is at stretch target level, 125% of the Restricted Stock Units due for vesting shall vest.
- If the performance achievement is greater than the threshold level and less than target level, then the Restricted Stock Units due for vesting shall vest proportionately on a linear scale between 75% to 100%, and the balance will lapse.
- If the performance achievement is greater than the target level and less than the stretch target level, then the Restricted Stock Units due for vesting shall vest proportionately on a linear scale between 100% to 125%.

While individual performance outcome may result in achievement levels above 100%, aggregate vesting under operating performance parameter shall not exceed 100% of the shares due for vesting under such parameter.

The increased dilution of the equity share capital, if any and / or cost of secondary acquisition of equity shares, if any, is expected to be offset by growth in shareholder value and increased returns to the shareholders.

All RSUs granted shall vest as per the schedule determined by the Administrator from the date of the grant.

Any RSUs which lapse or are forfeited shall be available for future grants.
